In England, this week the laboring people dominated the elections. There is enough laboring men in every country to do the same thing. The only reason why they don't dominate the elections of the United States is because they are not properly organized to do so. However, with the tendency of the times, such as they are, a point will be reached when the laboring class will be forced to take steps to undo the things which they have been instrumental in affecting. With the nation's wealth rapidly accumulating in the hands of a few big business men, the destiny of the working man can easily be appreciated. Soon, the poorer class will find they have placed the power into the hands of a few who are now squeezing the life blood from them. When that time comes, they will resent it and start a reaction. The only hope is, that when that time comes, there will be a leader in charge who will bring about the reformation in a peaceful way.

Better still, it would be a splendid idea for the common people of the nation to awaken before it is too late and assert themselves—study the political conditions, the social conditions and the industrial conditions and start a reaction, now, before it requires such drastic action. The huge combinations are powerful, they are overwhelming in their influence. They can control men by their money and sway government officials and defeat justice and the cause of the common people is left unnoticed. There is a time coming, and not far off, when the people of the nation will begin to wonder what was the matter with them a few years prior. The utilities are controlled by powerful companies whose principal incentive is the earning of dividends. They are gradually eliminating competition. The chain store is eating the heart out of the privately owned business and leaving otherwise prosperous communities gasping for breath. They have removed from the community its life blood, the money which should have been kept there to build with.

We hope that the people of the United States, supposed to be the most enlightened of all nations will awaken to the dangers which are ahead of them before it is too late to ward off its coming, and save posterity from a crisis which should be unnecessary.

Last week end the eastern part of the United States sweltered in the heat and many people died. Still we find those in this valley who kick just because their winter heavies still feel comfortable. Perhaps their trouble is, they have purchased some of those new fangled masculine combination suits and have not had an opportunity to try them on yet.

A man in Omaha died of the shock when he came home and found that his wife had absconded with the family savings and left with another man. In a case of that kind he should have felt as though it was worth the money to lose the woman.

Daily, men are tortured to death in the vicinity of Chicago. Crimes which are both gruesome and savage are being perpetrated right in the heart of our nation which would make a south sea savage shudder, and the government turns not a hand. Yet they still maintain a division of fighting men in Nicaragua to protect the American interests, there. It's about time for an expeditionary force to be sent to Chicago.

THE JOKERS CORNER

Blessed Ignorance

The archbishop had preached a splendid sermon on the beauties and joys of married life. Two old bridgets waddled slowly out at the close of the service.

"Ah, 'twas a fine sermon his riverince was after tellin' us."

An Inducement

"Golf, golf, golf," wailed the wife of a business man one day last week as her husband picked up his golf clubs and started out. "It is nothing but golf. I really believe if you spent an evening at home, I should die of the shock."

"Now, it's no use talking like that my dear," calmly replied the patient husband. "You can't bribe me."

And Preferably Soft

Ella: "What do you think of those two boys?"

Bella: "They'd make a fine omelet."

Ella: "What do you mean?"

Bella: "They're both good eggs."

Medford, Oregon

Extra Trouble

The raw recruit was thirty seconds late on the morning of his first dress parade and later on had to report to the orderly room.

"I am exceedingly sorry, sir," he apologized, "but I woke rather late, and there were only ten minutes for me to dress."

"Ten minutes!" roared the angry officer. "Why, I can dress comfortably in less than ten minutes!"

The recruit shifted his weight from one leg to the other.

"Yes, sir," he said innocently but I had to wash, sir."

Beautiful But Dumb

She—This paper says that a new star of hitherto unheard of density has been discovered.

He—Must be the one I saw last night in the moving picture.

All Provided For

Tom Connally, new senator from Texas, recently met a colored woman he had not seen since the days when he was county attorney.

"Auntie," remarked the senator, "I hope your man doesn't abuse you the way he used to."

"Deed he doesn't, Mister Tom; deed he doesn't, suh."

"Well, I'm mighty glad to hear that. After all, I guess his heart is in the right place."

"It sho is, Mister Tom," Auntie chuckled; "and the rest of his body also is. He's in jail."

In Ye Olde Days

Liza and Fanny were discussing their Sunday night dates.

"Yes, ma'am, I done had me a neckin' party last night."

"Neckin' party? Lawd chile, don't you know them is out of style? They had them four thousand years ago."

How do you know they had them four thousand years ago?"

"Cause my mammy done tole me that the Bible says that King Solomon took Queen of Sheba into the banquet hall and he fed her wine and nectar."
