Rancher Fined For Row
Over Litter of Pigs

C. E. Lendenwood of Sams Valley was fined $25 and costs in Judge Glenn O. Taylor's court in Medford last Thursday on a charge of assault and battery filed against him by Dave Davis. The trouble rose over division of a sow and seven pigs that Davis was keeping for Lendenwood.

According to the original agreement between the two ranchers, Davis was to keep the seven pigs for a period of one month, and was to get one of the pigs for his trouble. Lendenwood, however, according to the story told the court, left the pigs there for nearly three months, and Davis demanded more than one pig for his trouble. After it was decided to leave three of the young pigs there, Davis said, Lendenwood became angry and hit him over the head with a two-by-four which cut a deep gash in his scalp, necessitating several stitches.

Lendenwood, however, told the court that in course of the argument someone mentioned getting a gun, and he didn't want to see any shooting start, thus the two-by-four. The court advised both men to keep peace in their otherwise peaceful neighborhood.

Communication In Daily
News Raps Mystery House

The following communication appeared in the Tuesday issue of the Medford Daily News. Evidently the writer is peeved because he could not get any gold:

To the Editor of the Daily News:

"May I ask the use of your columns to draw attention of the Better Business bureau or your similar local organization to the advertising that is being given out by the people who are running the House of Mystery at Gold Hill. They claim to give free gold dust to all visitors, and have big sign boards to that effect. Such advertising is too obviously misleading and also must have a bad effect on the district, because people passing through think gold can be picked up or else it could not be given away. This cheapens the Rogue River valley in this way, besides being misleading advertising. We have enough trouble here now, without leading strangers to believe that we give gold away here and I hope you will print this to put an end to such methods of doing business and misrepresenting the true state of affairs. No one can afford to give gold away and anyone knows that, so why mislead the public. I am surprised that the State Police don't do something about it, for it is certainly in their line of work to see that only those people do business in the state who are not deceiving the public.

"Yours very truly,
"R. Thompson, Central Point."

In another column of the Gold Hill News is a story about the House of Mystery which would tend to show that the Central Point man was a little hasty in his remarks.

Poultrymen Will Hold
State Meet August 11-12

After omitting one annual statewide meeting last year, the poultrymen of Oregon will gather again this year for a convention August 11 and 12 on the campus of Oregon State college, the gathering being sponsored by the college and open to every poultryman of the state.

A comprehensive program is being prepared which will include discussions of much of the experimental work that has been carried on at the college poultry plant in the last two years. This will include feeding experiments, to be reported on by A. G. Lunn, head of the department, and F. E. Fox, associate professor; disease control work by Dr. W. T. Johnson; marketing by E. J. Dixon, manager of the Pacific Cooperative Poultry producers; and poultry building construction by F. E. Price, agricultural engineer. A number of other speakers are listed. The annual meeting of the Oregon Poultrymen's association will be held in connection with the convention in the afternoon of the first day's session, with a final session at the close of the second day.
