9 Winter Camps Announced
For Local CCC Area

Major Clare H. Armstrong, commander of the CCC camps in this district, announced Monday morning that nine winter camps have already been announced for the Medford district, and that it is possible one of the remaining group will be stationed at Camp Sebastian. However, no definite action has been taken on the latter.

The camps are being transferred from the summer sites to the winter sites at the present time, Major Armstrong stated, and will be as follows: Agness camp to Port Orford; Pistol river camp to the mouth of Pistol river; Kerby camp to remain at present location; Mt. Reuben camp to Rand ranger station; Applegate camp to remain at present location; Elk creek camp to remain at present location.

Moon Prairie camp is being transferred to the forks of Evans creek, near Beagle; Lake of the Woods camp to Owen-Oregon camp No. 2. If Cape Sebastian is accepted as a site, Government Camp P-1 will go there. Clift Springs camp, now at Silver Lake, is being located on Carberry creek in the Applegate section.

Major Armstrong said Monday that if authorization is received, enlistments will be received on October 15 to bring the totals up to the required number.

Allen Bequest Valued At
$337,271—Not 3 Million

Albert C. Allen, Jr., of Central Point is heir to approximately $337,271 and not three million as was reported last spring in the daily papers, upon the death of Miss Margaret Keith, eccentric recluse of Beverly Hills, California, who killed herself in April.

An appraisal was filed in court in Los Angeles last week and the report lists stock in a Utah silver mine as the largest item of her estate. This stock is said to be worth around $100,000. Her Beverly Hills mansion was valued at $92,500 and her house in Palos Verdes at $36,000.

Contest of the will was filed by other relatives and is still pending.

Young Allen is a farmer near Central Point.

O. S. C. And Gonzaga Grid
Teams Clash Saturday

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 4.—Oregon State college will meet the Gonzaga university football team Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock on the Multnomah field in Portland.

The Orangemen have won three games already this season, defeating southern Oregon Normal, Willamette university and University of Montana by almost identical scores, but he game with Gonzaga is expected to be much tougher than any of the others. Gonzaga already has shown its power against Washington and Oregon, both rated as top-notchers among Pacific coast teams, holding them to two touchdowns apiece. Last year Oregon State barely squeezed out a victory against the Gonzaga Bulldogs in the last two minutes of play, finally winning 19 to 16.

Oregon State showed plenty of class in winning from University of Montana last Saturday. The Orangemen opened up with an effective aerial attack which was responsible for one touchdown and displayed plenty of line power in pushing across another.

Lon Stiner, coach, has developed two dependable place-kickers in Hal Joslin and Hal Pangle. In the double-header against Southern Oregon Normal and Willamette, Joslin booted across four out of six tries for point, while against Montana Pangle got two out of three.
