

Winter CCC Camps Allotted to Northwest

Thirty-nine winter CCC camps have been authorized for Oregon, and forty-two for Washington, by Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work, according to announcement by C. J. Buck, regional forester, Portland, Oregon. This marks the close of the first six months period of the emergency conservation work, where 121 camps were operated in the two states. The results of this first six months have been highly successful, according to those closely in touch with the work.

The reduction in numbers of camps for the winter period is made necessary by the fact that many of the high mountain camps, and those east of the Cascades, are being abandoned for the winter. New winter camps have been established in many lower west side locations, where working conditions and work to be done made these camps advisable, according to Mr. Buck.

For the state of Oregon, 23 winter camps will be in national forests; 8 on Oregon-California land grant land; one in a state forest, two in state parks, and five on private land.

In Washington, 17 camps will be in national forests; 1 on a naval reservation; 3 on state forests; 8 on state parks; and 13 on private land.

Summer camps which will be occupied this winter will have the necessary alterations made to make them suitable for cold weather. Twenty-four new camps will have to be built. All winter camps will be equipped with electric lighting systems, according to the announcement, and other improvements added to contribute to the comfort and welfare of the men. The camp construction and improvement work will be handled by the Army, Mr. Buck said.

Ancient History FROM OUR FILES 26 Years Ago

From The Gold Hill News of October 11, 1907.

Operations will again be resumed at the Tin Pan mine, on Galls creek after a delay of several months. O. C. Banard, of Denver, Colorado, arrived in Gold Hill last Saturday to take charge of the affairs at the mine. The company will at once dismantle the mill that is now on the property and will install a new ten-stamp mill.

The dago section men were a little hilarious Wednesday evening, and amused themselves by shooting holes through the roof of their section house.

The Bowden mine, in the Blackwell district will become the scene of activity once more. Geo. H. McDonough has recently purchased this property and will soon commence development work on the same.

Mrs. G. E. Boumann has sold her stock of millinery, in this city, to Mrs. Waughtel, of Grants Pass, who will soon re-open the store with a first class stock of goods.

Messrs. Turner and Peterson, of North Dakota, and Roy Cameron, were up at the head of Sardine creek last week, after big game. Mr. Peterson succeeded in getting one nice deer.

The brick layers have completed their work on the J. W. Merritt building on Main street and the building will soon be in the hands of the finishers.

The actual construction of A. N. Hulbert's new brick was commenced Wednesday morning. It is to be a two story structure, 25x50 feet and will make a great difference in the appearance of the eastern end of Main street. On the lot facing C street, Mr. Hulbert has just finished clearing the lot and moving the old barn that stood in the corner, preparatory to erecting a residence thereon for himself.

OREGON STATE GRIDIRON MEN OFF TO COLLEGE

Corvallis, Oct. 12—Oregon State's football team left for San Francisco Thursday morning where it will meet University of San Francisco Saturday. This trip is the first and only southern jaunt for the Orangemen this season.

Practice this week was spent mainly in polishing the Orange offense and developing the goal-line drive which the team lacked against Gonzaga last week. With some of the rough edges smoothed over, the Beavers looked much smarter and finished than they did a week ago in Portland. Lon Stiner, coach, who has not been satisfied with the Orangemen's progress, worked the team overtime in order to strengthen several weak points.

Although the Beaver offense has lacked power and variety at times this season, the defense apparently is not causing a lot of worry. In four games this season no team has crossed the Orange goal. The Gonzaga Bulldogs, who were by far Oregon State's toughest opponents never once had possession of the ball inside the Orange 35-yard marker. Coach Stiner, however, hopes to develop more charge in his tackles and guards, feeling that this will strengthen the Beaver defense even more.

The ALL ELECTRIC
Dining Room

Soft, medium and hard boiled eggs in the egg-cooker for the children . . . crisp, brown waffles right from the iron, with sausages and butter, for Father and Johnnie . . . toast, hot and crisp, for everybody, with perfect coffee, just right from the percolator . . . while Mother manages them all at the table. An electric fan in summer and an electric heater in winter add healthful comfort while an electric chime clock gets each member of the family away on time.

Whether it's an early morning breakfast, or a special formal dinner, electric servants are particularly efficient in the "All Electric Dining Room."
