STATE WOMEN'S CLUB AID GIRLS IN GETTING NEEDED EDUCATION

Sixty-five girls are being assisted in obtaining an education in Oregon schools this year through the scholarship loan fund maintained by the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs. Since its establishment in 1908, 1324 girls have been helped by the fund which totals this year well over $40,000. The report on this project including these interesting figures, which will be given by Mrs. Walter L. Hembree of Portland, chairman of the fund, will come in for a major share of consideration at the biennial convention of the Federation to be held May 7 to 10 at Roseburg, as will other principal activities in which the Federation is interested. These include, among others, its $20,000 pledge to the Doernbecher memorial hospital in Portland; the endowment fund and its monthly magazine, the Oregon Clubwoman.

Beneficiaries of the loan fund this year, Mrs. Hembree's report will state, are enrolled as follows: Oregon State college, 19; Monmouth normal school, 10; University of Oregon, 10; Eastern Oregon normal school at LaGrande, 7; Pacific University, 5; Willamette University, 3; Southern Oregon normal school at Ashland, 2; and one each at a business college in Portland; Capitol Business college, Salem; Albany college, Maryhurst normal, Pacific college at Newberg. University of Washington, Linfield college, University of Oregon health nursing service and University of Oregon extension division.

Total contributions of $14,339 have been made to the federation's pledge to the Doernbecher hospital since 1925 when the obligation was assumed, according to the convention report to be submitted by Mrs. A. R. Starbuck of Dallas, chairman for the fund. Since the Portland biennial in 1932, 73 clubs in the Federation have given money in addition to numerous individual gifts from clubwomen.

MUSICAL SHOWS BETTER TODAY; IDEAS IMPROVE

By heeding the slogan "keep up to the times," musical-comedy is a much smarter style of entertainment now than it was five years ago, according to Jack Haley, Broadway comedian, featured in Paramount's "Sitting Pretty," coming Sunday to the Roxy Theatre.

"Not only does the producer have to keep up-to-date but so must the actor," says Haley, who is featured with Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers, Thelma Todd, Gregory Ratoff and Lew Cody in this Charles R. Rogers production, directed by Harry Joe. Brown.

In the United States income taxes are paid by the federal government employees, including the president.

The world's most populated territory is the island of Java, a part of the Dutch West Indies, which has an area about that of the State of Louisiana, and contains more than 36,000,000 men, women and children.
