NEW CRATERIAN THEATRE TO OPEN NEXT SUNDAY

The most talked about event of Medford theatrical history will take place Sunday with the opening of the New Craterian Theatre.

The shutting down of the Craterian Theatre over a month ago marked the first closing of the house since it was opened over twelve years ago. Since that time many improvements have been made in theatre decoration. New ideas have been formed and perfected for adding to the beauty and luxury of modern day theatres. The culmination of these ideas will be found in the New Craterian Theatre when it is opened Sunday afternoon.

The B. F. Shearer Company of Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles, specialists in this type of work, were given the contract for the "re-newing" of the Craterian.

"After the Thin Man" starring William Powell and Myrna Loy, will be the opening feature.

CHRISTMAS POEMS

Fifth grade pupils of the Gold Hill school wrote Christmas poems as part of their observance of the season and the two below were selected for publication by their teacher, Mrs Marjorie Pena.

IN BETHLEHEM
(Leona Holderness)

I wish I were in Bethlehem
Where Jesus Christ was born
He lay beneath the bright gold hay,
He had no quilts to keep him warm.

I wish I were in Bethlehem
Where they watched the star
And Shepherds came from all around
To see the Babe afar.

But I was not in Bethlehem
I wish I had been there
To kiss His dainty little hand
And to feel his bright gold hair.

A MINER'S CHRISTMAS
(By Wayne Mouser)

My daddy is a miner
And we're camped right on the creek
Where he runs his pump and engine
About six days a week.

There's wood to cut and carry
And water to get in.
There's dishes to be washed and dried
But I grit my teeth and grin.

We have a nice pet chicken
And if you want to see some fun
You ought to see her peck the cats
And keep them on the run.

Mother is a good cook
Making candy cake or pies
She doesn't make them often
'Cause she thinks it isn't wise.

Christmas day is coming soon
And I'm very much afraid
If Dad don't find some pay dirt
We'll think Old Santa has strayed.

NEWS OF PICTURES & PLAYERS

Extras employed occasionally at the moving picture studios do not average over ten dollars a week. The hope always exists that some day they will make the regular list.

Dick Powell before entering the pictures earned his living as an insurance salesman.

Ricardo Cortez, as a youth, worked in a New York brokerage office. He is rated as one of the shrewdest business minds in the Hollywood acting ranks.

Ruby Keeler is an especially fine golfer and could become a professional if she cared to.

Glenda Farrell could excel in the real estate business. She has been unusually successful in buying and selling land in the San Fernando Valley where she lives.

Margaret Lindsay could make good as a commercial sculptress. Work in this line that she has done as a hobby has won high praise.

Kay Francis was once a social secretary. She is an expert stenographer. Her flair for fashions would make her valuable in a smart dress shop.

Since their establishment in Oregon and Washington, CCC tree troopers have planted young trees on more than 8,000 acres of national forest land. Plantations in the fall of 1936 consisted of 2-year old Douglas firs, used to reclaim burned over or logged off areas.
