University of Oregon Dinner December 1

Every person interested in the University of Oregon is invited to attend the big dinner meeting scheduled by the Portland unit of the University Dads for Friday, December 1, in the Masonic Temple in Portland.

It is not necessary to be a University Dad or Mother to attend the dinner, according to Dean Vincent, president of the local organization. Price of admission is only 50 cents—half the customary tax. Tickets are available at the university office in the Oregon building and at Vincent's office, 315 S. W.

Fourth avenue. The largest delegation of faculty members ever present at an off-campus affair will be on hand, Vincent reports. Included will be Chancellor Frederick M. Hunter, President Donald M. Erb, Vice President Bert Brown Barker, the various deans, the employment secretary, Tex Oliver, head football coach, and Howard Hobson, head basketball coach.

Popular Greyhound Trips To Be Continued

So popular have been Greyhound's circle bus trips around America that they will be continued until October 31, 1940, it has been announced by W. E. Travis, president of Pacific Greyhound Lines. Many thousands of people have taken these remarkable tours during the two World's Fairs. "Never before," said Mr. Travis, "has the traveling public been offered such a bargain. For only $69.95, the traveler can leave his home, visit San Francisco, travel over a choice of many scenic routes to New York, and then back home over an entirely different route, making a complete circle trip of the United States if he chooses. Or he can make the trip eastward, going to New York first."

The possibilities of this trip are unlimited. The traveler can visit Southern California, the colorful Southwest, the beautiful Northwest and Evergreen Playground, the Rockies, Midwestern Cities, the old South, Florida, the Eastern Seaboard and of course, gay Manhattan which will be at its best for the next few months. Inexpensive side trips can be taken to many National Parks. In fact, Greyhound is showing America to Americans for the low price of $69.95.

ARMISTICE DAY (By Bill Force)

Armistice day is the day when people stop to think what the Armistice meant when it was signed in 1918. Did it mean that it was then the time to suppress the German race, a time to push it within such small borders, and a time to place upon it such harsh restrictions that it must inevitably swell and burst? No, I am not pleading a cause for the Germans; I am only saying in part that I hope the next Armistice will be one in which the German people will be freed from the rule of a tyrant, not punished for something which they did not have foresight enough to stop. So quick did the genie of the maniacs come into power, the intelligent minds of Germany were moulded in to fiendish ways before they had a chance to catch a glimpse of the disaster into which they were falling.

Any regime whose leader says, "We want soldiers, not intellectuals," whose only hope of existence is based upon the power of hate and intrigue cannot long stand. Thousands of years of written history have already proven that. So on this anniversary of Armistice day let us hope that the next one will be much different in meaning from the last one.

Red Cross Nurse Reserve at Peak

Disaster Service, Home Nursing, Health Education, Keep Thousands Busy

Washington.—The Red Cross reserve of registered nurses qualified for immediate duty is stronger than ever before, Miss Mary Beard, director of the American Red Cross nursing services, announced.

"We now have a first reserve of 15,000 unmarried nurses under 40 years of age available for duty with the Army, Navy or government nursing services and subject to call by the Red Cross for disaster work," she said. "This is 700 more than any previous first reserve registration."

Miss Beard pointed out that the increase has been gradual and that only registered nurses meeting rigid requirements of training and physical fitness are enrolled. All classes of nurse reservists, including nurses now employed by the Red Cross, bring the reserve corps total to 44,283. During the World War of 1914-18 the American Red Cross mustered nearly 20,000 nurses for duty with Army, Navy and Red Cross hospitals, at home and overseas.

"Maintenance of the Nurses Reserve is provided by our charter and is in line with Red Cross policies of prevention and preparedness, but the peacetime work of our nurses is equally important," Miss Beard said.

The director explained that more than 2,000 nurses, chiefly home hygiene and care of the sick instructors, were regularly engaged in visiting the sick, aiding physicians in examining school children, conducting inoculation programs to stamp out contagious illness, launching trial nursing services in out-of-the-way communities, and carrying on important health education work to qualify family groups to care for sickness at home.

All nurses who are needed for Red Cross nursing activities are drawn from the Red Cross reserve of qualified nurses, Miss Beard said.

Last year Red Cross public health nurses made more than one million visits on behalf of the sick and gave skilled care to 272,729 persons.

Last year, in schools and clinics, nurses cooperated with physicians in examining 595,575 children, and aided in the task of correcting defects. Children examined were enrolled for the most part in rural schools where this type of preventive service is rare. There are 655 Red Cross nurses engaged in this work in 477 communities. In the field of health education, Red Cross nurses have instructed more than 1,000,000 family members since 1914 in how to care for the sick at home and have set new standards of hygiene for the family. Last year the Nursing Service held 4,505 classes in home hygiene and care of the sick and awarded certificates to 61,296 persons who passed examinations on the subjects taught.

"Because the nucleus of all Red Cross nursing activity is our nurses' reserve, it is a source of great satisfaction that each month the list of applicants increases," Miss Beard said.

This service to the public is supported by the men and women who join as members of the Red Cross, through their local chapters, during the Roll Call, November 11 to 30.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"MORTALS and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 12. The Golden Text was, "Henceforth know we no man after the flesh" (II Cor. 5:16).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands. For in him we live, and move, and have our being" (Acts 17:24, 28).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Immortal man was and is God's image or idea, even the infinite expression of infinite Mind, and immortal man is coexistent and coeternal with that Mind. Immortal man is not and never was material, but always spiritual and eternal" (p. 336).

state department of agriculture division of animal industry.

Despite the fact that the law plainly states that the hide must accompany the carcass, there is a growing laxity in the handling of farm dressed and quartered carcasses.

Butchers who buy farm dressed cattle must insist that the hide accompany the carcass, the department warns. Also, the buyer must check on accuracy of the brand and ear marks on the orange colored sheriff's tag for each animal.

INSPECTION IS OUT ON HOLLY AS GIFT

Home owners who wish to send cut holly to friends or relatives for the holiday season do not need to worry about inspection, dipping or certification, for all such requirements have been lifted, reminds the state department of agriculture.

Only rooted holly plants or trees need be inspected before mailing or shipping. However, all shipments of cut holly made by licensed nurserymen or dealers must be cleared and certified by the department's bureau of nursery service.
