DUDE CHICK TASTES DEFEAT AT HANDS OF ERNIE PILUSO

Before a well-filled house of hilarious holiday celebrants, Cowboy Dude Chick of Cheyenne, Wyoming was defeated two out of three falls by Ernie Piluso, in the Medford Armory Monday night. It was a very clean and scientific bout and both wrestlers seemed to take the laurels at about an even tempo throughout the match. Piluso took the first fall after some seventeen minutes of wrestling, with a press, following several Sonnenburgs. Chick evened the score a short time later with a body scissors. In the last heat Chick had Piluso hoisted to his shoulders for his famous lariat spin but Piluso grabbed the ropes and when he was forced to release them by Referee Earl Yoakley, both grapplers went down in a pile, and it so happened that Piluso was on top and the Cowboy was counted out.

The middle event was a hair-raising affair, seeing Jesse James pitted against Bulldog Jackson with James winning two out of three falls. In the opener Billie Rayburn of Atlanta, Georgia took two out of three falls from Wildcat George Wilson to win the match.
