

'SEEBEES' CHOSEN NAME FOR CONSTRUCTION REGIMENTS

'Seebees' is the new name chosen to designate the new Naval Construction Regiment, the Navy Department announced today. With the name an insignia has been adopted—a flying bee, fighting mad. On its head is sports a sailor hat. In its forehead or leg it clutches a spitting 'Tommy Gun', in its amidship hand, a wrench, and in its aft hand, a carpenter's hammer.

In consecutive order the bee's sleeves bear the Naval rating badges of gunner's mate, machinists mate, and carpenter's mate, each indicative of the tool in the respective hands. The background of the insignia is sea-blue and a hawser encircling the whole thing indicates the connection with the Navy. On each wrist is the corps device of the Civil Engineer Corps of the United States Navy denoting the relationship of the Construction Regiments to the Bureau of Yards and Docks of the Navy Department.

The word "Seebees" originates from the phonetic pronunciation of the letters 'CB', and abbreviation for Construction Battalions. The pseudonym connotes the nautical phase of the work to be undertaken coupled with the industry of the bee. Construction Regiments have been organized to supplement or replace contractors and civilians employed beyond the continental limits of the United States.

Feeling that a distinctive insignia and an informal name would boost the esprit de corps of the new unit officers of the Naval Air Station at Quonset Point, Rhode Island solicited suggestions from enlisted men of the first battalion on duty there, but none seemed to be adequate, and the name was devised by those conducting the contest.

Mr. Frank Lafrate, a civilian employee of the Works Division, conceived and drew the insignia in collaboration with them and Mr. Vernon Dockett on the Design Division Bureau of Yards and Docks, redrew the insignia in its final form.

It is anticipated that the Construction Regiment will engage in offensive combat and will be prepared and trained to give a good account of themselves.

Gus Larson, a former foreman at the Zacher quarry that was in operation several years ago west of Gold Hill, writes of his freshest adventures. He is now on his way to Iran in Asia and when he arrives at his destination to be superintendent of a large quarry that will furnish rock for 3000 miles of railroad 3000 miles of highway and 900 miles of pipeline. The roads will extend from the Persian gulf to the Russian border. Mr. Larsen took 1000 men with him and one of them is a former resident of Sardine Creek, young George Briggs. It took them 75 days to cross the Atlantic ocean and to go around Africa to their destination. Mr. Larsen stated that all mail would be censored resealed and forwarded on to them at their destination.

Harry Arbuckle of Sacramento is now at the A. A. Walker home. Mrs. Arbuckle will join him shortly.

Jim Martin returned to Gold Hill recently and has been employed at Camp White. He had been employed in the shipyards at Portland before returning to his home here.

Miss Katherine Hayes left for Portland Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker and children of Medford, and Mr. and Mrs. Baker Sr., Etna Calif. They returned to Gold Hill and Medford bringing with them Mrs. Elsie Sargent and children, who had been north for some time. Mrs. Sargent is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baker Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Governor and Mrs. Lloyd Governor left last week to go to camp Roberts to visit Lloyd Governor who is stationed there.

Mrs. Robert Mitchell of Portland is visiting with her daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Noel Kellogg.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Gorham and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson went to Portland last Friday and returned Sunday. While there Mr. Gorham attended to business in Vancouver. As they returned home they visited relatives and friends in Hillsboro, Salem, Corvallis and Eugene.

Art Gorham left Tuesday evening to report in Salt Lake City for military duty that City, where he will be stationed several weeks. He is a first lieutenant.
