

Oregonian Branch Office.
The office of the EAST OREGONIAN has been moved to the second floor, under the name of the Oregonian branch office, and the residents of Pendleton, and other towns in the county, are invited to visit when in Portland. He will render them any service in his power.

PROVETTES.
Salmon, beer 5 cents a glass. *
The specialist, left for Baker Monday morning.
Z. Mitchell, the well-known fisherman, is in town.
A band is used to great advantage in capturing thieves.
A. Walker, Main street, near the depot, one of the EAST OREGONIAN's, is at Weston today, visiting his family.
A party spent yesterday in the mountains angling for trout. He had a fine success.
J. Burdette to-morrow evening from home. Burdette is a humorist.
A copy of the Tillamook Head-lander for $12 when the paper was five days since.
Mrs. Haskell proposes to expose the city of Portland. Brother Haskell is unless sensational.
The Sentinel, Phoenix like, is from the ashes and appears regularly. The building is rebuilding fast.
A. Foster, an old EAST OREGONIAN, is on his way to Portland.
The only one straight Republican in Multnomah precinct, and he has 40 votes cast. Simon received 40 votes.

The EAST OREGONIAN must have a paper expenses. Every paper deserves them, so do they.
The EAST OREGONIAN and the World from now until after the November elections for only $1.00. This office.
The store opens his store again to-day. He will close out his entire stock at a price that is no catch trade notice. Call and get bargains.
The money has all been paid and the work of building is done at once.
The person who borrowed a wheel from Fred Kemper's premises has returned the same and pay the advertisement.

The price for the DAILY EAST OREGONIAN is 15 cents a week, and help to the number to 300; then you will get a daily paper which you will be glad to have.
The Miller, brother of W. A. Miller, of Eugene, came up from Eugene City last night and took his brother by surprise. He will spend some time visiting.

The Sewell: About two million dollars will be shipped from this port today. At 10 cents this will amount to $200,000 in our country—quite a sum.
All who know themselves in Despain & Howard, for more days are requested to settle their accounts with us before we close our books.
The Cochran is in town with three horses, Durham, Holstein and a cow, which can be seen at the livery stable on Alta street. He will spend some time visiting.

The Hensford & Co. say in an advertisement in today's EAST OREGONIAN, that they must have money and those who owe them must come forward and settle, saving further trouble and expense.
The national convention of the O. R. & N. Co. July 1st to 15th. Tickets for the round trip.

Little Weybright, Joseph Keeney, W. P. Caviness and wife, of Astoria, and Pendletonians, were in town yesterday, having come up to visit their friends and witness the game of the Stars and the Arlington boys, played by the Arlington and Pendleton teams.
The Dalles cast 935 votes and the election was cast. In Pendleton only 710 votes were cast. This shows that Pendleton is becoming the metropolis of Oregon.

The Oregonian gives great publicity to the "Eastern Oregon" and is considerably ahead from the other papers. If the Oregonian would post notice before it "shoots off its tongue" it would be a great benefit to the people of Oregon during the past week.
The Times Mountain: A very serious and almost fatal accident happened Tuesday to a little girl residing on "Cookie" street. A little girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Davinell, while playing with other children, held a slate in her mouth, and the pencil accidentally broke off in one of her tonsils. The child was called, and with the aid of Dr. Deane, extracted the pencil, and the child is in a fair way to recover.

The Wall Statesman: The Daily Oregonian of Pendleton has been losing $2,000 a month. It is stated, and that if the people of Oregon want a daily paper for them they must subscribe to 300, otherwise the paper will suspend. The Daily Oregonian is a live newspaper, and the people of Pendleton will best serve themselves by giving it proper support.

Frank Duprat has the contract to build the stone foundations for the Pendleton hotel. He has employed on this job eight stone masons, eighteen laborers and three teams. To this force he pays $94.50 per day, or an aggregate of $2,565 per month. All this remains in Pendleton. This company of stone masons is certainly a valuable factor to Pendleton's prosperity.

Lewis Huffman, a county charge afflicted with consumption, was allowed about a week ago to go to Case's ranch on the John Day, where he expected to be benefited by the waters of a hot spring at that place. The news has come that he died a day or two after arriving there. He has a piece of land north of town which will be taken in charge by the county.

The "houses" across the street from the EAST OREGONIAN office are not what they should be. The marshal's attention is called to the doors in the "perfectly tight fence." They should be nailed up. The ordinances of the town are violated in this instance and there is going to be a louder howl unless the laws are enforced.

Mr. Farrell, nephew of John Camman, arrived from New York this morning. He reports that a large number of emigrants from New York are coming to this county and Portland during the present summer, a result of the judicious advertising of this country now being carried on in the East.

Mrs. Nancy Keener, sister-in-law of Mrs. Matthew Neaves, and her two sons, David and Robert Keener, arrived on the train last evening from Pennsylvania to make their home here. Mr. Harry Keener, another son, who has been in the county for the past two months, met them here.

W. M. Scott, having purchased the Midway Hot Springs, eight miles southeast of Alba, is making the necessary improvements preparatory to opening the Springs for the reception of guests on and after July 1st. Read the advertisement of the Springs under "New To-day."

Mr. and Mrs. Fried and daughter, of Portland, who have spent the last two months in the East, returned over the Short Line this morning and are spending a few days with their daughter, Mrs. Mose Baruh.

"Jack" Skelton ran for commissioner, and Percy Napton, both well known here, for the Legislature in Malheur county at the recent election, but, as yet, it has not been learned whether they were elected or not.

Jacksonville Times: Judge Lord was badly beaten in this county. Judge Burnett running ahead of his ticket in nearly every precinct. This scratching was done by the friends of Capt. Kelly.

Quite a large number of ladies and gentlemen came up from Arlington with the Arlington nine on yesterday morning's train to witness the game of ball between them and the Pendleton nine.

Jackson county went solidly Democratic, as usual, at the late election, the majorities ranging from 25 to 319. The Prohibition ticket only got 62 votes in the county.

Herbert, sheriff, was the only Democrat elected in Wasco county. His majority was 184, while the Republican majorities ranged from 160 to 600.

THE HOME TEAM VICTORIOUS.
A Game of Base Ball Between the Stars of Pendleton and the Arlington Nine.

Last Sunday was quite an eventful day in Pendleton for lovers of that most manly of all games—base ball—the national game of America. It marked a spirited, though one-sided contest between Pendleton's brilliant "Stars" and a jolly visiting club from Arlington. Arlington's boys arrived at 12 o'clock Saturday night, and were right royally entertained—as they deserved to be—until the time set for the game, 2 P. M., the following day. It was a most auspicious looking afternoon, the heavens having cleared up after a refreshing shower, and the sun was shining brightly. Both clubs made their appearance in full uniform, and looked the very picture of suppleness and grace. Betting at the start was in favor of Arlington, although backers of the "Stars" expressed no hesitation, and side-bets in large and small amounts to the tune of several hundred dollars were "put up" quietly but determinedly. The Arlingtons were first at the bat, and the opening of the ball looked decidedly blue for the Stars. Stillman's delivery in this inning was from the start batted unmercifully, and terrific flyers were sent to all parts of the field. A continuous line of forms seemed flying from third to home plate, and eight runs were scored in less time than it takes to tell. It seemed as though the Arlingtons had the finest walk-over picnic imaginable, and they were all confident and jubilant, while their opponents were correspondingly depressed. The home nine finally went to the bat, and felt somewhat encouraged when they gained five unearned runs off the loose fielding of the visitors. The second inning saw no change in their favor, and at the end the score stood eleven to six in favor of Arlington. But from this time forward the Stars got down to work, rolling up eighteen tallies in four innings, while their opponents batted some fine, large goose-eggs. During this time the weather changed with the luck, and the players and spectators were assailed by wind, rain and dust, but no one flinched, and the game still went on. The visitors finally retaliated by bunching some heavy hits and securing eight runs in the seventh inning, but it was then everlastingly too late. Luck was against them and they could not catch their opponents, although scaring them out of their feeling of security, and causing them to also make eight runs. In the last two innings the Arlingtons were compelled to put two more goose-eggs in their little bucket, while our boys had everything their own way. At the end of the game the usual hearty cheering was indulged in, and the boys from Arlington were voted as fine a lot of fellows as ever stepped inside a diamond. For a final wind-up, both nines arranged themselves in a pleasing group, and had their "pictures taken."

The game was by no means a scientific one, some grievous errors being made, but it was nevertheless intensely interesting. It was characterized by phenomenal batting and bunching of hits in several innings, the Stars scoring eleven in the sixth. It was here that Ed Strahon stepped lightly to the bat, the bases being full, and sent a scorching liner to the right field, bringing three men home besides himself.

In battery work the Stars were manifestly superior to their opponents. This fielding on either side was nothing extraordinary, although some very pretty fly catches were made.

Joe Keeney, well known here, was catcher for the Arlingtons, and did some excellent playing. Lel Frazier distinguished himself for the absolute certainty with which he "nabbed" every ball that came within reach of first base.

Following is THE SCORE:
Pendleton, 18; Arlington, 11.
Stillman, 6; Bacon, 8; Keeney, 2; Frazier, 1; Ankeo, 1; Culp, 1; Strahon, 5; Coffey, 1; Bean, 2; Waffle, 1.
Total, 31.
Arlington, 11; Keeney, 1; Frazier, 1; Ankeo, 1; Culp, 1; Strahon, 5; Coffey, 1; Bean, 2; Waffle, 1.
Total, 19.

SCORE BY INNINGS:
Pendleton: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Arlington: 0 1 2 0 0 0 0 0 0
Home run—Ed Strahon.
Three-base hit—Fred Waffle.

CHILDREN'S DAY.
A Good Work Being Performed by the Children.
Yesterday was celebrated in the M. E. church as Children's Day, and a very pleasing program was rendered by the little folks. Notwithstanding the match game of ball which was going on at the same time, the building was packed full. The church was decorated with flowers and evergreens tastefully arranged, while several canaries made music during the whole time of the exercises. After several hymns and chant, had been sung, Mr. B. Coon, superintendent of the Sunday school, made an address in which he stated that Children's Day had been set apart as a day in which offerings were to be made in all the churches towards a fund for educating men for the ministry. That 200 ministers and 30 missionaries were already in the field who had been educated from this fund, although it was yet a young institution.

Next came a recitation by Geraldine Despain, in which that little lady acquitted herself admirably.

The baptismal service followed, the candidates being Robbie and Agnes Fletcher, four children of Mrs. Beck and a little girl named Wells. Four children of Frank Zeigler were baptized privately after the service.

The recitation "Two Glasses," a temperance poem, was well rendered by two little girls. Nine little boys and the same number of girls next came upon the platform, each bearing a piece of card-board on which was printed a letter. After each had recited a verse from the Bible they held the cards above their heads, when the words, "Christian Education" were formed.

The exercises closed with an address from a little girl illustrating the necessity of liberal offerings to aid in their work, and the taking of the collection.

The crop of peaches from Delaware and New Jersey is about ten days later than usual, owing to bad weather.

A YEAR TO REPENT.
King Whisky Sends Another Man to the Penitentiary.

Last Monday night when whisky was free as water and everybody feeling happy as the result of the election was not then known, two men, who had imbibed their full share of the devilish fluid, got into a fight, and in the mad struggle that followed the nose of one was entirely bitten off by the other. Their names were William O'Neil and John Brassfield. They were both arrested and the next morning brought before Recorder Crews and fined $10 each, and as Brassfield did not make any complaint soon afterwards on a warrant to be tried for the crime of mayhem, and his trial occurred to-day. J. H. Canon appearing for the defense. The case was only argued a short time and given to the jury. They returned in about ten minutes with a verdict of guilty. As the prisoner waived the time allowed by law he was sentenced before leaving the court room to one year in the penitentiary. He made a few remarks when no one could understand, being spoken in a very low tone of voice. Judge Shattuck made a very feeling speech in passing the sentence, stating why the sentence was made as short as the law would allow.

O'Neil is only twenty-eight years of age and a native of Scotland. He did not look particularly vicious, and will probably shorten his sentence by good behavior.

Brassfield is the worst sufferer of the two. A man was heard to remark that he would rather serve two years in jail than have his nose bitten off.

The Alert's First Effort.
Saturday evening at 7:30 the Alert Hose Company left their house, running to the fire plug on the corner of Main and Court streets, and in ninety seconds from the start they had water through the nozzle. This is remarkably good time, all things considered. The "Alerts" are to be commended for their diligence, and the town will no doubt thoroughly appreciate their value in case of a fire.
