With three hose teams now in Pendleton, all composed of enthusiastic spirits, the prospect for intense rivalry in the future is evident. If there is no quarreling, it will be a good thing for Pendleton and its Fire Department. Competition develops superiority. Let the best team win.

The picked hose team that won in the Walla Walla race has been organized into a separate company, and will hereafter practice together in racing. Having done so well in one week's practice, with proper training their future career will be one of conquest.

There is a dark rumor in railroad circles to the effect that various prominent official heads of the O. R. & N. Co. will be decapitated, and new ones substituted. The truth of the report will be ascertained in time.

Ed. Frazier, a brother of the Frazier boys of Pendleton, has returned from California, where he has been residing for some time. He improved his absence by securing a bride.

Loll Frazier, who was prevented from taking his usual active part in the celebration by an attack of sickness, is recovering.

WILLIAM KIE AND HIS DOGS.

A Chinaman's Dogs Bite a Boy, Cause a Row, and Then Their Master Goes to Jail.

Wm. Kie, the Chinese laundryman, who is becoming quite noted for the frequency of his troubles, was up to-day before Recorder Crews on two charges, and thereby hangs a tale. Three dogs belong at his laundry, all of them of no very a-ni-able disposition. Yesterday evening, just as the firemen's procession passed up the street, a little son of Mr. Nolin, aged eight years, was walking in front of the laundry. He was set upon by one of the three dogs, and bitten in three places, not dangerously, however. His cries brought his father out from his shooting gallery a few paces distant, with a gun in his hand, and threatening death and destruction to all Chinese dogs. Meanwhile the frightened Chinaman were frantic in their endeavors to kick, hustle and drag the dogs into the laundry, safe out of harm's way. But the outcry had raised quite a disturbance, and Marshal French arrived upon the scene. Having seen the lad and heard the particulars, he at once entered the building, and began shooting dogs right and left, promptly and without ceremony. William Kie naturally objected to seeing his canine pets massacred in this promiscuous manner, and retaliated by resisting the officer, finally grabbing him by the throat. He was immediately arrested and thrown in jail, being released on the production of $50 bonds. He was brought before the recorder at eleven o'clock this morning, and the case was dismissed until 1:30 p. m. He was charged with allowing vicious dogs to run in the street without a license, and also with resisting an officer. The latter charge was dismissed, and he luckily got out of his difficulty with the light sentence of $10 and costs on the former complaint.

Honor to the Victors.

Yesterday evening the Fire Department in full uniform, headed by the two Pendleton bands, marched to the depot to the strains of inspiring music. The occasion was a glorious one—to welcome home those whom Pendleton will in future delight to honor, the boys of her adoption, who had gone away without the slightest encouragement and had come home crowned with the laurels of unexpected victory. The train finally arrived and its appearance was greeted by the music of the band and the cheers of the red-shirted firemen. When the hose-team got off the train, arrayed in racing uniform, they were received with great enthusiasm. J. B. Eddy was called upon for a speech and responded gracefully, making an extemporaneous address, with ready tact, from a horse-cart, which was received with applause. The bands, firemen and victorious hose-team then formed in line of march and proceeded down the street from the depot, in the presence of a large number of spectators. It was quite an imposing procession, and the honor was worthy of the victory. Arrived at the engine house the procession broke ranks, and its members departed their several ways, feeling no doubt the spirit of the occasion that called them together. The hose-team had won a royal victory, and they were royally welcomed home.

Another Contest.

Yesterday evening, when Jake Robbins entered the court house, he was astonished and chagrined beyond measure to find the door of the treasurer's office locked and a threatening notice tacked upon it, signed by George Hamilton. It was cuttlingly brief in its terms, warned him not to trespass, said that he had not properly qualified, and that Geo. V. Hamilton was treasurer and held possession of the office. Consternation reigned in his bosom, and it is said that he consulted friends and lawyers in regard to the matter. However, when he arrived in the court house this morning, and found the door open and everything gloriously serene, it is hoped that he dropped upon and appreciated the little joke of his defeated opponent, who had to do something, you know, to "get even."

The Petition Presented.

Representative Hermann presented a number of petitions to the postoffice department, says a dispatch from Washington dated the 5th, from citizens of the towns of Pendleton, Centerville, Milton, Adams and Weston, requesting a special mail car and messenger be placed on the mail route between Pendleton, in Oregon, and Walla Walla, in Washington Territory, via the towns above mentioned. The petition states that the mail is carried past intermediate points to the terminal point of the route, a distance of 50 miles, and after a delay of 12 to 14 hours it is then distributed and returned to the way stations, occasioning great inconvenience and often damage to commercial interests.

THEY WERE WELL TREATED.

The Victorious Hose Team are Lead in Their Praise of Walla Walla and her People.

The people of Walla Walla are open-hearted and generous to a fault. In behalf of the Pendleton hose team the EAST OREGONIAN wishes to express its thanks to the fire boys and citizens of the Garden City. They made it a continual round of pleasure and gaiety for the firemen and visitors from Pendleton who attended the tournament. When they won in the races, they were greeted heartily with the applause they deserved, and praise and encouragement was showered upon them. When they desired refreshments of any kind, a meal, or a cigar, it was furnished them, and on attempting to pay for it, a signal was made, showing that everything was settled. In short, the entire city was thrown open to their tender mercy and disposal, and a wish expressed was a wish granted. They were taken in backs to the garrison, to the penitentiary, to every point of interest in the city, and shown the beauties of Walla Walla. At the penitentiary they were royally entertained by Mr. John Justice and others. To be brief, Walla Walla people showed themselves not only lavish, but overflowing with hospitality, and that it was appreciated is evidenced by the loud praises of Pendleton's boys on their return home. It can only be said that should ever Walla Walla's sons and daughters come to Pendleton, the gratitude of the latter's people will be proven by actions.

The Delegates Gone.

The Misses Bertha Hexter, Essie Rit- ner, Emma Anthony and Hattie Wood- ruff started yesterday evening for San Francisco as a delegation to the school teachers' convention at that place. It is hoped and believed that the young ladies will enjoy themselves thoroughly in the City of the Golden Gate, and will come back bristling with knowledge, and satisfied with pleasure. The good wishes of the people of Pendleton, whom they repre- sent, go with them, and all hope they will acquire on their trip both wisdom and happiness.

A Bolt in Rhode Island.

The Journal believes that upon this question [the tariff issue] the Democratic policy and platform are right and the Republican policy and platform are wrong. It had hoped that the party in conven- tion would declare for a reasonable reduc- tion of the tariff in the line of a reduc- tion in the cost of the necessities of life, the relief of manufacturers, a more open market and a practical revival of our commerce. It has not done so. The Democratic party has. It is a question of national policy overshadowing all others. The Journal is not blind to the short-com- ings of the administration of President Cleveland. * * * But it must take things as it finds them, choosing what it believes to be the right side of the main is- sue, preferring principle to party, practical wisdom to local popularity, and standing for what it believes to be the best welfare of the whole country.

ALTA PARAGRAPHS.

From the Brilliant Pen of Genial John P. Irish.

The old Kaiser William and his son, Kaiser Frederick, both died on Friday. More luck. The Socialists and Anarchists of Illinois have decided to oppose the Democratic ticket.

The Atlantic Constitution says that one Mormon missionary has carried off 250 women converts to Utah from Georgia.

The Republican platform declares that free wool and blankets will ruin the country, while free whisky and tobacco will enrich it.

How suddenly all interest in Mr. Blaine has ceased. He may be coaching with Carnegie or beating tan bark in Maine; nobody cares.

"Hallison and Protection!" is the Chinese war cry. China is the oldest protection country on earth. It is the father of that policy.

The State of New York has a larger population than Canada, but its debt is only $7,000,000 while Canada owes $240,000,000.

The Republicans are making a cam- paign for "blood and bullion," on a platform calling for free whisky and free trade in Chinese cheap labor.

The miners may paste upon their pick- handles that Ben Harrison, in 1882, voted in the Senate to admit Chinese miners free of the Restriction Act.

Sir John Rose of the English bank of Morton & Rose, set 'em up when he heard from Chicago. "Me bartner is nominated for the Vice-Presidency, you know!"

Oh! de snow, Depewtiful snow! it fell on the Gresham boom, laying it low, like the kick of a steer, or the trip-hammer blow of a mule, playing free in Depewtiful snow.

The Gatling gun plant and franchise has been sold to England for $250,000. It is an American invention, but we can invent a better one when we need it.

To Mr. Blaine's other titles the Chicago Convention added "Uncrowned King." Let us see, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown; ergo, an uncrowned king lies easy. There seems to be some reason in the new title, after all.

Sir John Rose, partner of Mr. Morton, Republican candidate for the Vice-Pres- idency, is a British baronet. The Lon- don banking house of Morton & Rose is a very exclusive institution, and the nomi- nation of one of the partners gives it a boom.

Levi P. Morton was promised the Secre- taryship of the Treasury by Garfield on condition that he would raise money to buy the doubtful vote of New York. Morton did his part, but Garfield broke his promise and sent Morton as Minister to France.

The Labor Vote Against Him.

From the Indiana Labor Signal. "The men who made up the Chicago convention appear to have had but little regard for the wishes of organized labor. The nomination of Mr. Harrison was a genuine surprise to the organized work- ingmen of this State, because their atti- tude towards that gentleman is well un- der stood, and it did not seem possible that a convention of same men would invite conflict with a large number of voters in an extremely doubtful State by naming a candidate so obnoxious.

"The readers of this paper will remem- ber the opposition Mr. Harrison's candi- dacy for the Senate aroused two years ago among the labor organizations. It found expression in scores of resolutions adopted by assemblies and unions, many of which were published in the Signal at the time.

"This paper opposed Mr. Harrison's election to the Senate for two reasons that would prevent it from supporting him now. His public record, in our judgment, has not been such as to com- mend him to the favorable consideration of the people this paper represents. Hundreds of letters received from repre- sentative workmen in this and other States, indorsing the Signal's position and breathing intense enmity to Mr. Harrison, is convincing proof that our position is correct, at least from the labor standpoint.

"Organized labor will decide the Presi- dential contest this year, and it is almost solidly arrayed against Gen. Harrison. In our judgment Mr. Harrison's defeat is a foregone conclusion.

"A second source of weakness to the Chicago ticket is Levi P. Morton, the Wall Street banker. It looks as if Sena- tor Ingalls's advice to the Kansas delega- tion had been carried out to the letter.
