Some few Pendleton members of the American Building & Loan Association of Minneapolis express themselves as some-what dissatisfied with stock certificates received and with the general methods of the association. In this connection the oft-quoted remark that it is better to patronize or belong to a home institution, doubtless finds its verification. A thorough examination and comparison proves the superiority of the local organization, the Oregon Building & Loan Association, over one the interests of which are elsewhere.

The East Oregonian, or rather its reporter, seems to have a happy faculty of treading on somebody's toes nearly every issue. The latest freak was an item describing a religious meeting at Pilot Rock, which (the item) has unwittingly stirred up a hornet's nest. The writer apologizes therefor and begs that the people who have taken the scorpion into their bosoms, or the item onto them-selves, may regard it as it was intended to be regarded—in the light of a harm-less joke, originated by parties from their Ed Long, who is down from Milton, says that the flouring mill at that place was shut down Saturday for lack of wheat, and will probably remain inactive for a week or so. Wheat is now so high in that neighborhood that grinding it into flour is found unprofitable. The mill heretofore has been running steadily, and has been grinding regularly 125 barrels per day. The two Pendleton mills are in full blast, although wheat is quite hard to obtain at the fancy price of seventy-five cents per bushel.

Louis Bergendahl's snow plow was fastened to a locomotive recently and transferred from The Dalles to LaGrande, where it will probably be put to good advantage. It is indeed a wonderful invention, and attracted the attention it merited along the line of its travels. Too bad that Mr. Bergendahl has been deprived of the immediate fruits of his inventive genius.

Mr. Charles Hopkins, and Mr. Jones, of the Pauley Jail Company, passed through town on last evening's train, going to Portland. Mr. Hopkins informed the E. O. Evangelist Moody left Walla Walla for Portland Saturday night. He will hold meetings in the metropolis ten days and will go from there to San Francisco, where he will remain a month, and then make a circuit of the smaller towns of California and Oregon. Pendleton may be among the number.

M. L. Weston and Elbert Redd left for their sheep camp, twenty miles from town, yesterday to take a hand in brand-ing their sheep of which they have fifteen hundred. They are Democratic sheep owners who believe that the tariff has aothing to do with the price of wool.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Merrill passed through town Saturday on their way to Walla Walla, where the champion bi-cyclist will give another Robertine car-nival. He met with first-class success in Baker City, La Grande and Union, the halls being scarcely able to contain the merry masquers who attended.

Saturday, a dog on the inside of Falck & Cohen's store made a break for the plate glass window, shattering it to pieces. On reaching the sidewalk outside, the animel gazed unconcernedly for awhile at the damage it had wrought, then trotted away uninjured.

HOW TO RAISE REVENUE.

Mr. S. Rothchild Answers the Questions. To the Editor of the East Oregonian. 1. How can a full and fair assessment be secured? By enforcing the laws against perjury and the acceptance of bribes. 2. What sorts of property should be the subjects of taxation? All that is capable of producing revenue to the owner, the revenue obtained, and articles of luxury. The furniture, bedding and food necessary for the com-fort and health of a family, based on the ordinary needs of laboring men, should be exempt.

3. Are you in favor of a State Board of Equalization? If so, wherein will it work a benefit?

Yes; they could establish uniform valuation for most kinds of property, in-cluding land, if it was graded by the as-

4. Are you in favor of precinct, instead Boyd. of county, assessors?

5. Are you in favor of a graduated in-come tax: and if so, how can it be as-sessed and collected?

No; it would be a tax favoring nonproductive luxuries and idle property, as against utilized and productive property. 6. What are your views upon the "single-tax" theory, or the placing of taxation upon land values only? It might do for town and city property, but on agricultural lands it would only be an additional burden upon the farmer without corresponding benefit, and in years of failure of crops would be grievously oppressive.

7. Do you think the bill prepared by the tax commission of 1886 an improve-ment upon our present law? In what respects would you recommend a change in

Yes; when the creditor gives in his assessments the amount should be credited to the debtor. Each county assessor (or county court) would have to place himself in correspondence with every other assessor in the Newtonian other assessor in the State, and debtors would in many instances compel creditors to report their claims.

The answer to the last question just occurred to me while writing. I have not given it enough thought to say whether it would really be practicable or not. S. Rornenn.b.

Dedicated to Brother Maye. Brother Mays, of the Pomeroy Independent, breakfasted in Pendleton this morning while en route from Portland. After an introduction to an East Orego-NIAN representative, he pleasantly and politely remarked that he would like to own the East Oregonian's plant, press, material, etc., and that if possessed of them he would grind out a much better paper than the E. O. could ever hope to paper than the E. O. could ever hope to be, or words to that effect. The esteemed brother is notified that by dint of hard work, perseverance and rustling the East Oregonian's well-appointed office was obtained, and if the office of the Pomeroy Independent is not its equal, the fault does not lie outside its manage ment. However, seeing that Brother Mays has made such a bright and shining success of his own journal, it is probable that the East Oregonian would compass rapid strides of improvement over its rapid strides of improvement over its present condition under the guidance of his powerful, vigorous mind. Its present manager can only protest in his poor weak way that he has done the best he could under the circumstances.
