The Holiday Estate Question-Chinese New Year-Sues for $100,000 Damages-Fallen Flat.

PORTLAND, Jan. 30.—The Holiday estate matter has flopped again, and now the purchasers of the property claim to be on top. It is stated that Ladd has changed his mind, and will not let Weidler and Holliday have the $400,000. The party who is managing the business for Messrs. Bennett and Larabee seems to be a thoroughbred, and a hard one to down. It is not known what "influence" was brought to bear on brother Ladd, but it seems to have been effective. Joe Holliday's interest in the matter ceased at noon to-day, and he is everlastingly knocked out. Weidler has till next Friday at noon to raise the money in, but if Ladd has gone back on him, his chances are decidedly slim. There is no doubt but the best all around thing that can happen for Portland is for the property to remain in the hands of the present owners.

Chinese New Year began at 12 o'clock last night. All day yesterday the Chinese shops and provision stores were crowded, and nearly every Chinaman met was carrying a parcel. Last evening every building occupied by Chinese was lighted up with lanterns, firecrackers were booming, and Chinatown presented an animated appearance. The celebration is still in progress to-day.

"Curley" Brown will sue the city of Portland for $23,000 damages for false imprisonment. He does not deny the fact that he is a professional gambler, but claims to be a good, law-abiding citizen just the same, and proposes to have justice. He says he was thrown into jail with a lot of low-lived scum, and told that his case was an unbuildable one.

The roadway across the railway bridge is completed, but will not be thrown open to the public till the street car track is laid.

Prof. Heine, the famous blind musician of London, will give a performance at the New Park to-night.

J. A. Remarque, the tinhorn who assaulted City Attorney Adams on the street a few days ago, had a jury trial to-day. He was convicted and fined forty-five dollars.

The spasmodic hurrah raised by the police over the arrest of a lot of scoundrels who have been run down and charged with being the murderers of one Cunningham, who was found dead some time ago, has fallen flat. No one believes the parties under arrest know anything about the cause of Cunningham's death. It's a picnic for the Evening Telegram, however, and our friend Otto Greenwood dishes up a column a day in regard to it, just as regularly as the day comes.

M. M. Barnett, the late editor of the Siftings, convicted recently of criminal libel, was this morning sentenced to pay a fine of $300.

FOREIGN NEWS.

INCENSED HUNGARIANS.

They are Greatly Excited Over the Passage of an Army Bill.

PESTH, Jan. 30.—A portion of the populace is still greatly incensed at the passage of the army bill. A great crowd gathered outside the parliament buildings to-day and endeavored to prevent the deputies from entering the chamber. The hussars were compelled to charge upon the crowd. Several people were hurt, including some women and children.

THE PARLIAMENTARY BUILDING GUARDED.

PESTH, Jan. 30.—A strong military guard is posted around the parliamentary building, and no one is allowed to pass into the chamber except upon convincing proof as to their identity. The boulevards in the city are patrolled by hussars. Members of the opposition in the lower House protested against the presence of troops, as preventing a free debate and demanded that the chamber adjourn, which was acceded to. Upon the resumption of the sitting the House adopted a resolution offered by the President, empowering him to act in concert with the authorities to secure access to the building and secure public tranquility.

The Bornemann Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—The trial of the Bornemann embezzlement case was resumed in the United States court to-day before Judges Sawyer and Hoffman. The interest in the proceedings continues unabated, and is likely to be very lively at the end of the week, at which time it is hoped the evidence in the case will be all in, and the argument completed.

EASTERN NEWS.

CONGRESS.

Senator Dolph Gives His Views on the Samoan Question.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Mitchell offered a resolution, which was agreed to calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for a statement of the amounts in the sinking fund to the credit of the Union and Central Pacific railroads on the 1st of February, 1889, under the Thurman act, with the amount of each invested in bonds, the market value of such bonds, and the amount which would have been in the sinking fund if no investments in bonds had been made.

The Senate then resumed the consideration of bills, the question being on the amendments affecting the Samoan islands.

Dolph said the question was one of special and local importance to the people of the Pacific coast; that, whatever might be thought as to the propriety of a general discussion of American rights and interests in the Samoan islands and of the relations of the government of the United States to the German government, the discussion had proceeded so far as to render further discussion desirable. The views which he would express would be his own individual views, and should neither compromise the government nor receive undue attention elsewhere. After a general description of the islands, the products, inhabitants and commercial importance, Dolph reviewed the history of affairs since the United States government first took an interest in the islands, and the recent occurrences, which he said had involved the United States in some controversy with the German government.

In the course of his review Senator Dolph came to the point where the United States consul, Greenbaum, raised the American flag over the Samoan flag in the harbor of Apia, an act which has been, he said, promptly repudiated by Bayard, and the repudiation was made known to the German and English governments with suggestion as to a protectorate.

Morgan stated that Bayard had never committed the United States government to the position that there should be either a separate or joint protectorate over the island, not believing a protectorate entirely consistent to autonomy.

Coming down to the conference at Washington in July, 1887, Dolph spoke of the agreement, and that pending that conference the statu quo should be observed, and Morgan asked him for his authority for the statement that the German government agreed to observe the statu quo. Dolph replied that there may have been no such special agreement, but the observance of statu quo was necessarily implied.

IN EXECUTIVE SESSION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The Senate has gone into executive session, and is presumably considering the British extradition treaty.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

Hon. John M. Clayton of Arkansas, Assassinated by an Unknown Man.

PEEMERSVILLE, Ark., Jan. 30.—The assassination of Hon. John M. Clayton occurred at 9 o'clock last night at his boarding house. THE TERRITORIES.

Republican Senators Hold a Caucus-No Action on the House Bill Taken.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A slimly attended caucus of Republican senators was held this morning to discuss the course to be followed in the treatment of the application of Territories for admission in the limited time for discussion. It was made clearly apparent that there has been little or no change in the position taken by the Republican senators on the subject of the last session. A disposition was shown to report the House omnibus bill to the Senate with amendments, excluding New Mexico, and letting in North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington. No formal action was taken.

United States Senators.

CHESTER, W. Va., Jan. 30.—The House in session balloted twice for the United States Senator without result.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 30.—The Legislature in joint session re-elected J. K. Berry United States Senator.

Rescued from Dr. whing.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—This afternoon some seamen on the revenue cutter lying in Oakland harbor saw an object clinging to a beam under the wharf, which, upon investigation, proved to be a girl nearly drowned.

TROUBLE IS FEARED.

The New York Strikers Committing Acts of Violence.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The street car tie-up continues. This morning the strikers overturned a wagon on the grand street track. A portion of the police reserve was called out to disperse the mob. Trouble is feared. A car on the Sixth avenue line started at 9 o'clock, guarded by three policemen. At Blucher and Carmine streets they were overpowered by the mob and the car overturned. The police headquarters has been asked to send assistance.

BLOODSHED THREATENED.

A large crowd of strikers and sympathizers began to gather early at the stables of the Belt line. Additional police arrived and cleared the sidewalks. The excitement was at fever heat, and it was said that if the cars were started there would be bloodshed, because the strikers were growing desperate. Twenty-five hundred police are now on duty.

The Broadway line will start at noon. At 11 o'clock the strikers gathered at Bedford and Carmine streets and overturned half a dozen wagons with their loads on the tracks. Milk cans having stones in them were scattered along the entire block. Policemen on duty were roughly handled till a relief squad arrived and dispersed the crowd.

At noon a Belt line car left the stables, escorted by 150 policemen. At Fifty-ninth street the tracks were found to be obstructed and the car was returned to the barn. No more will be sent out.

TRACK TORN UP.

The strikers this afternoon obstructed the Broadway track, tore up the rails at Forty-fifth street and escaped before the police arrived. The tracks on Forty-eighth street and Sixth avenue were also obstructed. The State board of arbitration met, but no action was taken. The State railroad commissioners are hearing the grievances of the strikers.

HORSE-SHOERS CALLED OUT.

Forty trips have been made on the Grand street line. The cars were followed by jeers, yells, and sometimes a shower of stones. Many strikers were drunk and declare the cars must be stopped, even if lives are lost in doing it. Serious trouble is feared. It is rumored that the horse-shoers on the Sixth avenue line have been called out.

SITUATION IN BROOKLYN.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 30.—The street car tie-up continues. Minor assaults frequent but no serious trouble.

A FATAL QUARREL.

One Man Kills Another in a Fight, and Claims It was in Self Defense.

HUBON, Cal., Jan. 29.—A quarrel took place yesterday near here between Antonio Mendosa and Manuel Cordosa, in which the former was stabbed several times, dying in twenty minutes. Cordosa claims that the deceased rushed at him with a sleep book and struck him twice on the head and face, but before he struck him the third time, he stabbed Mendosa. Cordosa is now in the Fresno county jail.

MISKAPOLES, Jan. 30.—The report that Senator-elect Washburne is dangerously ill is untrue.

Representative Hermans has secured the passage in the House of the bill pensioning Colonel James Waters, of Douglas county, Oregon, the amount of pension being $40 per month. Colonel Waters is over 92 years of age, and one of the few survivors of the war of 1812. During the Indian wars in Oregon he rendered valuable assistance in the then Territory as colonel of a volunteer regiment.

Mrs. Maggie Fischer, wife of Milton Fischer, living at Dearham, a village six miles from Sedalia, Mo., was strangled to death Friday night, and her husband and sister, Miss Securing, with whom Fischer is said to have been on too intimate terms, have been arrested, and charged with her murder.
