

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

The Legislature to Adjourn Friday Night at Ten o'Clock.

The defeat of the Portland water bill was due to Representative Hahn of Clatsop county. He had voted for the bill previously, but owing to the passage of the pilot bill, which Astoria people were opposed to, enough influence was brought to bear by them to change Hahn, and defeat the passage of the bill over the Governor's veto by one vote.

Governor Penoyer vetoed Dawson's railroad commission bill, and the Senate passed it over his veto by a vote of 22 to 8.

Wager moved in the Senate that 1000 copies of the Governor's veto of Dawson's railroad commission bill be printed for the use of the Senate, but the motion was overwhelmingly lost, although Raley, Veatch and one or two other members spoke in favor of it. The Republicans thought it was a move for political purposes, and that settled it.

Carson's bill to appropriate $50,000 for the establishment of a State Board of Education was defeated in the Senate Tuesday.

The assessment and taxation bill came up in the Senate Tuesday, but action on it was postponed. Tongue protested against the passage of the bill, as he had found many valid objections to it. He moved to refer the bill to a committee of hold-over Senators, of which Senator Raley should be chairman, with instructions to report at the next session of the Legislature, but the motion was lost. Then Raley proposed another amendment requiring stocks of all incorporated banks to be assessed like those of national banks. It was rejected.

Chandler offered an amendment to exempt all county and municipal bonds from taxation, and Tongue another exempting school district bonds and credits. Both were rejected.

Senator Veatch's bill, making newspapers sent to persons who do not order them, free gifts, passed.

Mackay's bill allowing certain companies to issue mortgages in more than one county has passed.

Senator Barin's bill relating to elections and ballot paper has passed.

The bill to relocate the county seat of Union county to be submitted to the people has passed the third reading in the Senate.

Nearly every member of the Legislature is in favor of calling a constitutional convention, and Myers of Linn offered a bill in the House providing for one. It was read twice, and will probably be passed. All agree that the present constitution of the State is antiquated and inadequate to the needs of this great and growing commonwealth. To amend it by piecemeal would take too long, and it is believed the proposed convention would meet with favor in all parts of the State.

Chandler's bill appropriating $10,000 to aid Malheur county to build a wagon bridge over the Owyhee river, barely passed the Senate. The principal objection to it was that it called for the building of a bridge. Stanley's bill appropriating $10,000 for a wagon road from Medford to Jacksonville fared a little better, having three votes to spare.

Senate resolution authorizing the governor to represent the State, either in person or by proxy, at the centennial anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington at New York, was adopted.

Raley moved to suspend the rules to allow the Union and Willowa Senators to report on the bill to relocate the county seat of Union county. The motion was lost, as it failed to receive a two-thirds vote.

Veatch's bill making newspapers sent without orders, gifts, and providing that no debt shall accrue against the receiver of the same, passed the Senate.

Gray's bill authorizing armories in towns of over 5000 inhabitants, passed the Senate.

The following House bills were passed by the Senate Monday:

Gilbert's bill amending the Portland charter.

Kirk's bill incorporating Athena, Umatilla county.

Layman's bill incorporating Woodburn.

Powell's bill incorporating Independence.

Hunter's bill incorporating Enterprise.

Napton's bill incorporating Vale, Malheur county.
