And Now He Knows.
 From the Portland Oregonian.

Agent B. Coffey has had a hard time of it at Umatilla. The three inspectors who looked into his affairs originally pronounced him correct in all respects and serving well in the capacity of Indian agent. Another inspector, comes primed with fresh complaints and with orders to put him through. He removes Coffey without a whisper of what it is done for. Coffey had a good business and was prosperous, contented and happy when he took office in 1885, and has only earned for himself lots of trouble and a supply of hot water. He had far better stayed where he was, but the glory of office dazzled his eyes. He wanted to know how it felt to be a servant instead of a sovereign—and now he knows.

What Makes Men.
 From the Tacoma Globe.

Starvation wages tend to make dishonest men, and from this one fact—of course there are other reasons—the responsibility of a criminal act does not rest wholly upon him who commits it. This is to say that crime is often committed under extenuating circumstances. Perhaps it is not always best to condone such offenses, but some times simple justice compels the sympathy which is generally withheld from the ordinary criminal.

Coffman, Walker, Dickell and Granberry, Democratic Representatives of Pulaski county, Arkansas, in which nine ballot-boxes, containing a large Republican majority were stolen from the office of the county clerk last September, have resigned their seats. The committee on elections submitted a report in favor of seating the four contestants, G. W. Thompson, Col. R. H. Moreheart, J. Owens, and A. J. Rice, Republicans, who immediately took the oath of office and the seats of the four retiring members.

The electric light association is in session in Chicago. The address of the president states, among other things, that during the past year there has been an increase of 750,000 in the number of incandescent lights in use in this country, and they now number over two and a half millions.
