THE HUNT ROAD.

There is not enough activity in raising the Hunt subsidy. Instead of having about 135,000 subscribed there should be at least $50,000. The Hunt road is necespary to l'endleton, no matter if the Northern and Union have entered into an arrangement whereby they are to have equal use of the O. R. & N. lines from the interior to Portland. Pendleton cannot afford to do without the Hunt system, under any circumstances. To be connected by rail with the extensive wheat country north of town is a great advantage to the business interests here and cannot and should not be overlooked. Leaving the Puget Sound connection out of the question, it is worth the amount of the subsidy for the town to be connected with the country tributary to the Hunt road between here and Wallula. It is necessary for the people of Pendleton to know, particularly the property owners, that Pendleton must be wide awake or she will lose her grip on the first position among the towns of Eastern Oregon. If the citizens sit still and allow Pendleton to grow on her own accord, she will be found in the rear end of the procession in a few years. At present Pendleton has bright prospects, but no matter how bright these are, they will not build up the town alone. Towns, like individuals, must take advantage of their opportunities. We must not fail in raising the subsidy and securing Hunt's road, thereby putting an end to the impression existing away from home that Pendleton has lost her customary enterprising spirit and gone into a state of "inocuous desuctude." On March 15 the answer must be wired to Mr. Hunt whether we are to accept his proposition or not. We must answer in the affirmative or negative, and it remains with the property-owners and business men of l'endleton to say which it shall be. In our opinion there should be no other answer but "yes," yet we are willing to abide by the decision of the majority, and rise or fall with it.

If necessary let the croakers and pessimists go to the rear; they are the maggots and vermin of society, hence are to be borne with as an hindrance and drawback to progress and nothing more. Let's work for the good and future of Pendleton, and one step in that direction is securing Hunt's road.

Let's take it.

A TWENTY-DOLLAR SENATOR.

Senator Watts, of Yambill, accepted twenty dollars as payment for his induence in getting the claim of Mrs. McPhearaon through the Legislature. At the end of the session the charge was made against the Senator, and he denotinced it as an infernal lie, but Mrs. McPhearson mildly stated, in a womanly way, that she did promise the (dis) home orable "Fog Horn" twenty dollars for his services. Did anyone ever hear of such baseness in a Senator before? Senator Watts' term has expired and with it his usefulness to the people of Yanthill. He pretends to be a minister, is a temperance advocate, a lover of high moral ideas; and a member of the grand old party, yet he is found selling himself for twenty dollars and accepting that from a widow in needy circumstances. This is the man who wants to be United States marshal under President Harrison's administration.
Will he be, is the question.

THE Yakima Herald is being paid liberally by the prosperous owners of that town to advertise its resources and advantages. This is as it should be.

Tun supreme court meets in Pendleton in May.

Subsidy raising may be in itself wrong, but it has to be borne with in order to accomplish progress and make growth where there would be none without it. We are living in a chaotic age. The burdens of life do not fall equally or justly. There is one great existing error which is the parent of those smaller ones which we wrestle with and contend againt. Our trials are similar to the man who has made a meal of green apples. He soon finds that he has a very painful attack of the stomach-ache, which is an error, but to alleviate it he must submit to another error and he does so at once. He takes a dose of castor oil, and the relief it brings is not complete. He has to gradually grow out of the feeble condition that one meal of green apples (the larger error) put him in, and the taking of the smaller error (the oil) brought only partial relief. Nature did the rest-gradually restored him to health and strength. So it is with our social life; the smaller erors have to he borne to gradually correct the larger ones which cannot be done away with at once. When the effects of the larger error are nearly overcome and we see our position clearly, we will do away with many of our burdens, such as unjust laws, unjust things, erroneous systems and the like, and find relief, prosperity, and happiness. We will be then truly a nation of brothers, prosperous, happy and contented, at peace with all the world. We will then have discovered that all men were created equal, endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, and feel the great, deep and glorious truth of these words more than a century old. It is the coming of the New Religion and the New Democracy. All men will share the benefits and all men should give, at least, a fair hearing to the great truths.

MR. TERNER'S IDEA.

J. H. Turner, Esq., says he will be one of the twenty or more citizens to subscribe $5000 to advertise Pendleton. It is thought that this amount would be ample to employ a competent person to travel in the East and scatter literature favorable to the town and county. Mr. Turner is the first subscriber. Who will be the second? It is undoubtedly possible that subscriptions aggregating $450 a month for twelve months could be se-cured and the work carried on. The idea Unaries Rohmann appears to be a most practical one, and if it is carried out will do much to build up Pendleton and improve the condition The Pendleton Koller Mills. of her property owners. It is an investment which promises handsome returns to them. Then, why should there be delay in carrying it into execution?

Wno is to be the resident clerk of the s"preme court in Pendleton? That's the
