ADDRESS OF EX-JUDGE FEE. Made Tuesday Evening at the Commercial Association Rooms.

After the installation of officers the Commercial Association Tnesday evening President James A. Fee de-livered an address to the members, as follows: Gentlemen :-- I congratulate you upon Gentlemen :--I congratulate you upon the evidences of renewed interest manifested by the members of this association in its affairs. Yet I wish to impress upon each the necessity of earnestness in the work to which he may be assigned; for upon your devo-tion to duty must depend, in a large measure, the future destiny of the as-sociation, whether it shall become a sociation, whether it shall become a useful and permanent factor in developterial welfare of the community in which we live, or whether it shall die "unwept, unhonored and unsung," form to that desire, by devising ways and means to stimulate the growth of our city, county and state, to develop our commercial interests, to bring ourselves into closer communion with those who reside beyond our borders, to further facilitate the transportation the commodities we produce, and possible to lessen the cost of transwriation, to assist in securing retrenchment in public affairs, to encourage en-terprise and industry, and promote the highest degree of prosperity among our people. If we achieve success, even in a moderate degree in the objects and purposes at which we aim, well may the community in which we reside, say "Well done, thou good and faithful servants." But in your efforts for the oublic weal you should ever remember, "A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country." Hence, you nust expect but little credit outside of the Association, for what you accom-plish within it; for at home, public benefactors and prophets are homored

Origin, Growth and Development. It would be a useless consumption of time to dwell upon the origin, growth and development of this organ-ization, for you are all equally as familiar with its history as myself; nor do I deem it best to devote too much time to review of its work. Yet, this is a subject not to be dismissed lightly and I hope that I may say a great many of those who have been city of Pendleton is greatly indebted engaged in sheepraising at Ukiah the past few years have disposed of their flocks and are going into cattle raising healthful and prosperous appearance.

would amount to something over ten thousand four hundred dollars, or a healthful and prosperous appearance. Dr. Vincent, your mayor, was one of our charter members, and I think it is safe to assert that within these walls he first conceived a liking for munic-ipal interests and public affairs. It will be remembered that years ago he addressed this body on the Pendleton water supply. He has ever since worked faithfully upon that subject, and finally, through your suffrage, has cure from some source the means to enlarge it so as to meet the growing and finally, through your suffrage, has been placed in a position where he has consummated his ideas upon practical-ly the same plan as then outlined—the result being that by an investment of

Upon these same hills in former times, a wealth of rich and luxuriant bunch grass grew. It should be the aim of our oars, but should endeavor to make greater progress, if possible, in the this association to experiment with this association to experiment with grasses until some grass or plant is found that will thrive well, that will endure the heat and drought of sumi-mer, and the frosts and snows of winter in this region. If it is possi-ble to find a grass of this character, herds and flocks will be roaming where now the country is bare; our popula-tion will increase, and business will increase correspondingly. This organization has ever been non-sectarian and non-partizan. Upon the There are many fields in which the sociation can become both beneficial and useful to the county, city and state. We have here what is known as the Pendleton academy, an institution that for years has been struggling withut sufficient aid and encouragement; that has already made its influence felt among the rising generation; an institution that is deserving of success, and that has been constantly growing since the present principal has had charge of its affairs, until today it has two hundred and eight pupils in ectarian and non-partizan. Upon the list of its membership may be found representatives of every branch of inrepresentatives of every branch of in-dustry in our community, who in the past have labored zealously for its success, and it is to be boyed that no factional strife or petty and contempt-ible jealousies will be permitted to influence any of its members, that each may assist in building up the organiza-tion, that others may be induced to unite with us in our efforts for the public good and the public benefit.
