CUBA'S DELIVERANCE.

American methods and rule have done already one excellent thing for Cuba. Up to the time the United States took control Cuba was a nest of yellow fever and other diseases. From Cuban ports the disease was brought to the United States, and particularly were there yellow fever epidemics in the south of Cuban origin. This year there has been very little yellow fever in Cuba, and that under perfect control, thanks to the good sense and management of General Wood, who is in charge there.

At the present time Havana is almost as healthy a city as any in this country and conditions are improving all the time under Wood's administration. Havana is not subject to consumption or pneumonia, as is the case in the big cities of this country, and under proper regulation Havana promises to become a great health resort for those who are threatened by these diseases. American methods will accomplish still more for Cuba and the people of the island and from such deliverance a desire may come for annexation, and the star of Cuba take its place among those of the great sisterhood of American states.

THE RICH EVADE TAXES.

A few days ago, in Washington City, Secretary of State Hay declared on the witness stand that he never paid taxes in Washington on his stocks, bonds or other credits, and that few, if any, of the rich men, who live there, pay personal taxes. The testimony of the secretary was brought out by ex-Attorney General Monnett, of Ohio, in a case involving $100,000 in taxes which, it is alleged, W. J. Boardman, of Cleveland, evaded by claiming a residence in Washington. Monnett thought if he could show that Boardman paid no personal taxes in Washington it would be proof that he lived in Cleveland and should pay taxes there.

Secretary Hay further testified that he and Boardman were neighbors in Cleveland, and that Boardman asked him one day what kind of a place Washington was for a man who wanted to avoid his taxes. Hay replied that he did not know from actual experience, but he had been told by W. W. Corcoran, the famous art collector, that it was the best city on earth, because no inquiry was made regarding a man's personal property. Boardman then decided to locate in Washington instead of New York. Mr. Hay remarked that the tax system of assessing personal property in the district was a great inducement for rich men to locate in Washington, and thereby evade their portion of the burden of government, from which they receive more than their share of protection and benefit.

In the light of such testimony, as herein quoted, it would seem as if the farmers, merchants, stockmen and other producers and workers would insist upon a taxation system, under which they would be relieved, as well as the rich men, from paying taxes on personal property. So long as the rich men are enabled to escape their share of the tax burden it is simply robbery to tax others on their personal holdings. Taxes are only just when they are equal. But the truth is, the iniquities and injustice of the present system of taxation will continue, to the profiting of the rich, until the people declare for a simple and more direct system, which will fall upon all in proportion that they receive benefit.

Henry George proposed the only plan of taxation that will bring about equality in taxation, and that system is known as the single tax, a tax upon the value of land, regardless of improvements, a value not created by the labor of man but by the presence of ALL the people upon the land; and since ALL the people create this value, why should not so much as is needed for the purposes of government be taken annually for the benefit of all the people? If this were done, the rich would not profit from evading their holdings for the purpose of evading their just share of taxes as is now the case. And in conclusion, if the system known as the single tax is not less favorable to the rich and the privileged than the present system, why are not these classes in favor of it, and why do they rise up against it whenever and wherever it is proposed? The single tax would strike down the money devil and the trust evil, and well posted rich men know it, and do it so successfully that excessive capitalization would be impossible under it. While doing this, the single tax would give back to workers and producers what is being taken away from them under the present system, by guaranteeing equality of opportunity to every man, and destroying privileges, which find their support in a taxation system which falls upon industry and enterprise.

ANTI-IMPERIALISM.

At this moment the political issue that chiefly engages public attention is that of anti-imperialism in its varied forms. It finds expression in the bitter opposition to the effort of the McKinley administration to deny to the Puerto Ricans the safeguards of the United States constitution; in the growing impatience with the lagging war in the Philippines and increasing doubt of the material worth of that Asiatic archipelago; in the widespread popular indignation over the alliance of our federal administration with imperial Britain and its ill-concealed hostility toward the republics of South Africa; in the rising national wrath over the revelations of militarism in the Coeur d'Alene, and the increasing public conviction that an administration which denies the rights of citizenship to the people of other lands will in time end by invading the rights of citizens here at home.

* * *

It is noteworthy that the endeavor to cloak imperialism behind the shield of "expansion" has been abandoned. McKinley expansion is only the imperialism of a conquering Caesar. When the dominant party in congress repudiated the doctrine that where the flag goes the constitution goes as well, the last pretense that expansion was being effected in accordance with the fixed principle of American constitutional liberty—as it was when we took Louisiana, Texas, California and Alaska—was demolished. We have substituted for the principles of the makers of the constitution the views of colonial government enunciated by George III. and Lord North. The people are asked to declare the American revolution founded upon mistaken political doctrines, and to hold the Tories of 1776 better patriots than the soldiers who starved and shivered at Valley Forge. The first lesson of imperialism is that our children must unlearn their United States history, and that the code of national political ethics must be unwritten from models supplied by Great Britain.

* * *

Upon the practical side, the people are asking of imperialism: "Does it pay?" They see the war in the Philippines dragging along at heavy cost despite the weekly assurances of Gen. Otis that the "insurrection" is quelled. Within a week has come a demand for more troops to go to the malarial islands that have devoured more than 2000 of our young men since "peace" was declared. If we are indifferent to the price paid in blood—which God forbid—let those "commercial classes" which dominate our government consider the cost in cash. Up to a month ago military expenditures alone on account of the war in the Philippines exceeded $100,000,000. Naval expenditures were almost as much more. For this we have got what? The hatred of the 7,500,000 people resident in the islands. The distrust of every European power having colonies in the east, except England, which expects us to do her bidding there. The valuable opportunity to sell our manufactures to natives whose wants are infinitesimal and whose labor is at the most paid 6 cents a day.

* * *

And the people are coming more and more to understand that the gross injustices done to foreign peoples inevitably react upon us at home. Imperialism means heavy taxes for armies, navies, "commissions," transports and the like. Are the people so rich now that they are ready to be plundered for maintenance of a greatly multiplied official class? Imperialism means participation in the quarrels of colonizing powers. Are the people ready for a foreign war? Are our foreign-born citizens who came hither to escape compulsory military service prepared to take the first step toward the establishment of that system for robbing youth of its opportunity here? Working men know what part federal troops have taken in labor troubles—what influence great employing corporations have at the war department. Do they wish to see the army multiplied by ten and the whole country turned into a Coeur d'Alene? These questions spring irresistibly out of any discussion of imperialism.

* * *

None can say now that imperialism will be the one predominant, overshadowing issue of the campaign of 1900. But it is the issue of this moment. It is a practical issue, a moral issue, a sentimental issue if you will—all three. It affects the pockets, appeals to the reason and touches the hearts of all men. It will not down, for in it are involved the fundamental principles of American liberty and the existence of the republic itself.—Willis J. Abbott.

POLITICAL COMMENT.

Weston Leader: The organs of republicanism are fond of villifying Bryan in a manner that no reputable democratic newspaper would ever adopt toward McKinley. "Demagogue," "charlatan," "mountebank," "windbag," etc., are a few of the favorite adjectives. The fact is that Bryan is worrying the republican leaders not a little. He is close to the people, closer than ever. No man who was never president of the United States ever attained such national popularity. Bryan's campaign against the trusts—which if given rope will eventually convert this nation into a plutocracy and its working classes into industrial slaves—is that of a fearless champion against a threatening monster. It exemplifies St. George and the dragon, and the people will admire their champion, let the wolves of monopoly snarl as they will. Senseless venom, sneering adjectives, cannot kill Bryan's popularity. He represents the people against the plutocrats, and will be a winner in the next presidential fight unless the republican party renounces its allegiance to corporate influence and endeavors to promote the greatest good for the greatest number.

New York Journal: If you have an income of ten million dollars a year you do not have to pay the government a cent in taxes upon it. But if you have no millions to depend upon, and you get a life insurance policy for five thousand dollars to protect your family in case of your death, you have to pay four dollars for revenue stamps. And then you have to pay two cents more for the stamp on the check with which you settle your premium.

You do all this for the alleged purpose of meeting the cost of a war that was over a year and a half ago, and that has already been fully paid for. You also pay a tax for the same purpose every time you send a package by express, or a telegram, or buy a bottle of patent medicine, or a cake of toilet soap, or a packet of court plaster, or a bottle of toothpowder, or a box of chewing gum. You pay every time you give a mortgage or sign a lease.

When these taxes were proposed it was said that they were only temporary, and would be dispensed with as soon as the war was over. They serve no purpose now but to tempt subsidy grabbers to raid the treasury.

Abolish the stamp taxes.

Oregon State Journal: Bryan seems to be the only man of national reputation who has the ability and the courage to defend the declaration of independence, the constitution and the government as it has existed under Washington, Lincoln and the great men who founded and guided the great republic for a century. He is the only man available for president who seems to have the ability and courage to resist the moneyed aristocracy who seized the government of the United States in 1896 by taking advantage of the odium of Cleveland's goldbugism and the eclat of little Billy McKinley's "tariff for popularity only." Whether money can rule in a republic, as it has done in monarchies through countless ages, the battle at the polls this year will decide. Four years more of Hannaism will end the republic as it has heretofore existed, and will found on its ruins a despotism ruled by the "cohesive power of public plunder"—by money, officeholders and a great standing army.

Throat Troubles

"Bardwell, Ky., where I live, is in the extreme western part of the State and only a few miles from Cairo, Ill., where the Ohio empties into the Mississippi River. It may be that throat troubles are common here because of location, but, whatever the reason, I find it wise to constantly keepa supply of Acker's English Remedy for Consumption on hand. It is the best thing I ever came across for coughs, colds and throat troubles, and I have used it in my family for years. No druggist here can be depended upon to have it always, so I am writing this letter to W. H. Hooker & Co., 220 Broadway, N. Y., to order a dozen bottles at a time. My wife is bothered lately with sore throat and difficult breathing, but just as soon as the dozen bottles get here, I will give her a few doses, and she will certainly be well again. I expect to write another letter in a short time saying my wife is cured, for I feel absolutely sure it is what she needs." (Signed) T. A. White.

Sold at 25c., 50c. and $1 a bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; and in England, at 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., 4s. 6d. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist, and get your money back.

We authorize the above guarantee.

In The Summer

Of life a woman may find herself fading and failing. She doesn't understand it. She goes to doctors, who treat her for this or for that, but she gets no better. She grows frail and pale. She can just "drag about the house," but has no pleasure in life. Many such women have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, and have been restored by Dr. Pierce's treatment to perfect health. There is no more wonderful medicine for women than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Its action upon the womanly organs is at once apparent in the decrease of pain and the increase of strength. It cures female weakness and such diseases as take away the strength and beauty of women.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Before I commenced to use your medicine I was in a bad condition (for eight years) and four doctors treated me," writes Mrs. Bettie Askew, of Garysburg, Northampton Co., N. C. "They, of course, gave me at the time some relief, but it did not last long. I was some days in my bed and some days I dragged about the house. I have used five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and five of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of the 'Pellets.' Now I feel like a new woman, and I want the world to know it."

The action of the "Favorite Prescription" is assisted by the use of "Pleasant Pellets" when the bowels are irregular.

The New York World, Thrice-a-Week Edition

ALMOST A DAILY—AT THE PRICE OF A WEEKLY.

The most widely circulated "weekly" newspaper in America is the Thrice-a-Week edition of The New York World, and with the presidential campaign now at hand you cannot do without it. Here are some of the reasons why it is easily the leader in dollar a year journalism.

It is issued every other day, and is to all purposes a daily.

Every week each subscriber receives 18 pages and often during the "busy" season 24 pages each week.

The price is only $1 per year.

It is virtually a daily at the price of a weekly.

Its news covers every known part of the world. No weekly newspaper could stand alone and furnish such service.

The Thrice-a-Week World has at its disposal all of the resources of the greatest newspaper in existence—the wonder of modern journalism—"America's Greatest Newspaper," as it has been justly termed—The New York World.

Its political news is absolutely impartial. This fact will be of especial value in the presidential campaign coming on.

The best of current fiction is found in its columns.

These are only some of the reasons; there are others. Read it and see them all.

We offer this unequaled newspaper and the weekly East Oregonian together one year for $2. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

The Tri-Weekly World and the Semi-Weekly East Oregonian one year for $2.50.
