WASHING WOOLEN BLANKETS

The theory now is, that blankets must be washed instead of dry cleaned to be healthy. To have your blankets as soft as new, make a sopping sud in half a tub of warm water by using one-half cup of and soak a blanket in it for half an hour; then simply move it around and rub the soiled spots; rinse in warm water of the same temperature; then in which you wash it, hang up in a warm place or sun-dry on a line and see what a soft, white blanket you will have.

The above is taken from our free booklet "WASHING WOOLEN BLANKETS". Send free on request to THE S. S. FRISKAMP COMPANY, Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Boston.

SCHOOL DISTRICT'S EXPENSIVE SUIT.

A Taxpayer Asserts that Nine Mills is the Cost of Directors' Dispute.

"School district No. 69, north from Pendleton, has paid a total of nine mills of taxation, as the expense of conducting a law suit which involves the right of one of two men to hold office as director of the district," said one of the taxpayers this morning.

The case of Christ Breeding against James Williams, which in substance has the whole issue turned up in it, has been appealed to the supreme court, the transcript having been filed with Lee Moorhouse, deputy clerk of the supreme court.

The quoted statement with which this began was followed with a protest, in which the taxpayer said: "This is very unprofitable business, it seems to me. I am of the opinion that the persons who are parties to the suit themselves should pay the expenses of litigation. Certainly, the property owners generally are not interested in the point at issue sufficient to warrant such a rate of taxation for conducting the suit."

The transcript sets forth the facts as alleged by the appellant, Christ Breeding, which are that six voters at the election of the district voted for Breeding, and that eight others would have voted, but were illegally prevented from doing so, by the judges of the election, thus preventing Mr. Breeding's election.

MOORHOUSE'S PICTURES.

They Are Used for Decorative Purposes by a Dallas Man.

Martin Hummel has one of his shop windows decorated with a lot of Indian pictures that have made the artist, Lee Moorhouse, of Pendleton, famous, says the Dallas Times-Mountaineer. To those on exhibition for some time have been added a picture of Chief Red Jacket, the chief of the Iroquois, and Paul Showaway, an educated high-nick-a-muck of the same tribe, both of whom are now in Washington on some land matters, the guests of General Miles. The artist is an ex-Indian agent of the Umatillas and now clerk of the supreme court. He is an amateur photographer and claims to have a thousand Indian negatives. His famous "Cayuse Twins" have brought him enough to build a $5000 house. Some time ago the proprietors of Mellin's Food offered him $1000 for the copyright of his "twins." The Wanamaker department store of Philadelphia lately ordered 10,000 copies of the pictures, 5000 of each. Mr. Moorhouse has made a little fortune out of his amateur photography. Mr. Donnelly claims to have sold here between 500 and 600 copies of the "twins" alone.

SCAB IS NOT PRESENT.

And Increase of Lambs is Above 100 Per Cent.

Stock Inspector Charles Myers has been down on the Columbia river looking over the bands of sheep. He found practically no scab, although the maggots are ready for this spring. In fact says Mr. Myers, the maggot is more numerous this year than in any year previously, according to his observation.

Mr. Myers says, too, the increase of lambs is very large. He thinks it will be no less than from 108 to 110 per cent of ewes. He had noted the record of one band, owned by C. B. Wade, which is that 3158 ewes gave birth to 3544 lambs, which is 112 per cent. Mr. Wade also has a small band of registered thoroughbred ewes of which the increase was 130 per cent.

The Best in the World.

We believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. A few weeks ago we suffered with a severe cold and troublesome cough, and having read their advertisements in our own and other papers we purchased a bottle to see how it would affect us. It cured us before the bottle was more than half used. It is the best medicine out for colds and coughs.

Refused the Nomination.

Herbert B. Cranston, republican nominee for the office of clerk of Union county, has forwarded his declination to the chairman of the county central committee which will supply the vacancy on the ticket by appointment. Mr. Cranston is a farmer and stock-grower on lower Powder river whose business interests are so extensive and require his personal attention that notwithstanding he fully appreciates the honor conferred upon him his declination was a matter of necessity. The nomination came to Mr. Cranston in the nature of a surprise for it was unsolicited by him and he regrets that business interests compel him to decline the nomination.

BRYAN IN ARIZONA.

A Dying Woman's Invocation for the Democratic Leader.

A Phoenix, Arizona, dispatch to the New York World: "May the Lord be gracious to you may your estate on earth be the highest the people can give; may God preserve you to be of the greatest service to your country."

This was the invocation under which William Jennings Bryan bowed his head while in Phoenix and under the stimulus of which he made one of the strongest speeches ever heard from him.

The blessing came from a woman who knew she was near the grave. She is a Catholic of exceptional devoutness.

"It was as though word had come from on high to one whom God had destined for the highest service, and I think it was so accepted by Col. Bryan," said one who witnessed the scene.

Mrs. Thomas E. Dalton, wife of a leading Democrat, is of middle age and was once prominent in society, a woman of a remarkably attractive presence and of strong mind and influence.

A year ago she was told that she was incurably affected by an internal cancer. During the past few weeks she has fallen rapidly ill she is now little more than a shadow.

She has taken the keenest interest in the campaigns and travels of the democratic leader, and to him, when he came to Phoenix, she sent word, requesting a visit. The request came while Mr. Bryan's apartments were throughout, but he promptly responded.

When he entered the room where the sufferer lay she met him with a long and puzzled look, and with the exclamation: "Why, Mr. Bryan, you look very much like McKinley."

The answer was quick: "Madam, I assure you the resemblance is entirely external."

Mrs. Dalton described her pleasure in meeting one she deemed so noble in purpose and so high in character and whom she had so admired for the steadfastness of his aim. The visitor responded briefly and with tender feeling and then came the blessing, while every head was bowed.

"I will never see you again," said she, "and I wish you to know you have given me one of the last pleasures I shall know. God bless you and your work."

Bryan accepted from his stricken hostess a bouquet, from which he selected a single flower, to hand back to the donor. Then, with tear-dimmed eyes, he bade her adieu.
