CAVALCADE OF RAILROADS.

All the Big Western Lines Represented in Pendleton.

By some sort of a coincidence, a whole lot of traveling freight and passenger agents assembled in Pendleton today, and registered, some at the Hotel Pendleton and others at the St. George hotel. Among them was "Big" Wilson, an old-time traveler who formerly made this territory but who for several months has not been coming here. Mr. Wilson represents the Burlington line, and will hereafter come here regularly. Mr. Wilson is one of the most popular railroaders on the coast, and knows all the ships and stockmen from the Mississippi river on the east, to the Philippine islands on the west. If America get a slice of the Chinese empire, in the event of the dismemberment of that country by the powers, so the railroad follows all day, "Bob" will probably know every owner of a rice plantation and manufacturer of silk from the shores of the Pacific to the capital of the Russian empire, Bob's friends welcome him again to this territory.

Then there was the redoubtable Col. Frank Savage, now of the Northern Pacific company, and absolutely irrefragable as a freight solicitor.

A. J. Leland, of the Northwestern, was one of the procession that marched up from the station to secure freight shipments, and just behind him was F. A. Monzie, of the C. R. I. & P., the interpretation of which letters is made thus by the jokers along the line: "Conductors Rob Innocent Passengers."

W. T. Kelley, of the Union Pacific, came into town at 5:30, and at 5:45 claimed that he had secured 45 cars of freight since arriving, or three cars a minute.

J. C. Mackinnon, of Jim Hill's O. R. & N., was in the line of march, and declared that he had secured 45 cars of freight since arriving, or three cars a minute.

C. J. Mills, livestock agent of the O. R. & N., was one of the seven railroaders, and Mr. Mills talked about shipments of sheep. "Growers and buyers are somewhat apart as to prices just now," said he, "hence shipments are rather light on all roads. I look for the heaviest shipments this fall that have ever gone out from Oregon. Sheep, both mutton and stock, will be sold in enormous numbers, unless I miss my guess, and to cattle shipments, and in dry summer and consequent shortage of the range can cause heavy sending out of beef stuff. Cattlemen are rather independent in their finances and therefore are inclined to hold. At prevailing prices, shipments of cattle to the east are precluded. All the beef stuff is likely to go to the coast markets."

W. H. Catherman, of Echo, is a guest at the Golden Rule hotel.

Miss Grace Beagle went today to Portland for a visit with friends.

Mrs. H. F. Folsom, of Sumpter, is registered at the Hotel Pendleton.

H. J. Schaeffer, a Seattle special insurance agent, is a Hotel Pendleton guest.

Robert Wakefield, a well known contractor on the railroad, is a Hotel Pendleton guest.

Spokesman-Review: Miss June Miller of this city is visiting relatives in Pendleton.

J. B. Perry, C. C. Hendricks and M. Morehead are appointed appraisers of the estate of Maria A. McClure, deceased.

Frank Harmon and Annie Harrington were married at Milton on June 24 by Rev. John Evans, at the home of Mr. Harrington.

Charles J. Freese, circulation manager of the Spokesman-Review is spending the day in Pendleton, a guest at the Hotel Pendleton.

Nathan S. Orton, administrator of the estate of John N. Orton, deceased, has sold to J. E. Ringle for $2500 the sq. sec. 8, tp. 3, n. r. 33 e.

Charles McClure, a resident of the Athena country, is here today. Like all other farmers, he says crop is everywhere the finest he ever saw in the country.

Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Cole came home this morning from Portland, having visited there for a week. Dr. Cole attending the meeting of the State Medical Society.

Robert Kennedy, manager of the Pacific Coast Elevator company, arrived in Pendleton Thursday and remained here until today, stopping at the Hotel Pendleton.

At Miller, of Pilot Rock, is in town today. He came in to arrange for and file his bond as road supervisor of Alta precinct, having been elected to that office on the fourth of June.

J. W. Larkin, of Granite, one of the principal owners of the Congar mine, one of the richest mines on the Pacific coast, is registered at the Hotel Pendleton. He was formerly a resident of this town.

William Scherer, of the Pendleton police force, leaves tomorrow morning on the O. R. & N. train, accompanying the Oregon democratic delegation to the Kansas City national convention. He will visit also near Kansas City.

H. H. Capp left today for a visit in Missouri, expecting to return in two months. He has been here for a year settling up the estate of his brother, John Capp, and intends to return to purchase property in Pendleton and make his home here permanently.

The Dallas Chronicle: Pete Nickelson has been promoted to the appointment of telegraph operator at Pendleton and will leave for his new field of labor in the near future. Pete is a very worthy young man, and will carry with him the best wishes of a host of Dallas friends.

W. J. Reilly, formerly a clerk for Alexander & Hexter and for the Boston store, are remembered by all Pendleton people as manager of the local baseball team when Pendleton had a team composed of all star players, is a guest at the Hotel Pendleton. He arrived Thursday from Okanogan, Wash., and leaves tomorrow for Portland.

Robert Starkweather brought in two cars of sheep this morning, and leaves tonight with them for Tacoma, the sheep being consigned to L. E. West at that point. They are fat, mature. Mr. Starkweather will remain in town for a week or two, spending the fourth at Everett, where a number of Pendleton horses are to go in the races on that day.

Dr. Mgoier, of Tekon, one of the delegates from the state of Washington to the democratic national convention at Kansas City, arrived here Thursday evening at the Hendricks Hall, and went east on the main line of the O. R. & N. to the convention city. William Murphy, of Walla Walla, another delegate, went from his home via the Northern Pacific road to Kansas City.

A CHARMING RECITAL.

Pupils of Mrs. J. A. Marston Pleasantly Entertain Their Friends.

The pupils of Mrs. J. A. Marston gave their first piano and song recital on Thursday evening at the Hendricks Hall, a number of friends being invited. It was certainly a marked success, and all the guests so pronounced it. The recitations evidenced painstaking on the part of the teacher, and diligence on the part of those who are taking vocal and instrumental instruction from Mrs. Marston. The members on the program were by pupils in all stages of advancement, some being beginners, and others finished musicians. All who heard the Thursday evening program will have pleasurable recollections of the next recital to be given.

The program was carried out as previously arranged, excepting that Miss Crawford and Miss Dennis were unable to take part. Sixteen numbers were rendered, the selections being: Piano solo, Vera Marston, "Dollie's Dream," by Oyster.

Vocal solo, by Miss Warner, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

Vocal solo, "Answer," by Robyn, Miss Walker.

Piano solo, "Faust Fantasie," Leybach, by Miss Faye Beagle.

Piano solo, "Spinning Song," Kullok, by Miss Eleanor Hollerman.

Vocal solo, "Day Dreams," Streleski, by Miss Jones.

Piano solo, "In the May," Beltr, by Miss Frankie Weber.

Vocal solo, "Good Bye," Tosti, and "Down the Shadowed Land She Goes," Osgood, by Miss M. Fraker.

Piano solo, "Minnet," Padurewski, by Carrie Shenerman.

Vocal solo, "Dreams," Streleski, and "Ein Schaterlied," Harris, by Mrs. William Roesch.

Piano solo, "Les Joyeux Papillons," Grogg, by Ethel Forbes.

Vocal solo, "Only a Pair of Blue Eyes," Shagan, by Mrs. C. H. Carter.

Piano solo, "Second Mazurka," Godard, by Miss Alexander.

Vocal solo, "My Little Love," Hawley, by Mrs. J. A. Borie.

Vocal solo, "My Queen," Blumenthal, by Mrs. Marston.

HARVEST AFTER THE FOURTH.

Farmers Will Come Here to Celebrate Their Commence Cutting Wheat.

A very large number of farmers are coming to Pendleton to celebrate the year, so say those who have made inquiries among them. But, Unmatilla county's great wheat harvest will be in almost full blast on the day after the fourth of July. That has been the date set most generally for the marketing to be started in good earnest. In a few localities cutting has been in progress for two weeks, but this has been only where the grain always ripens earlier than is common in this county. And in a few sections the grain will not be quite ready on July 3. But as a rule, the cutting will begin on that day.

From the most reliable farmers it is learned that, while the yield in total will be very large, the yield per acre will not likely be so great as has been all along looked for. Increased acreage has led to the increase over last year's production, as the heads are so large, the number of grains in each bush being less than in years when phenomenal crops have been harvested. But the increased acreage will more than make up for what would be the loss from smaller bushes, so that the crop of Unmatilla county will surely be not less than 3,000,000 bushels. As to quality, it is bound to be superb. There are thousands of acres that will go number one, and as a matter of fact, little comparatively will grade below number one.

This is the consensus of opinion at this stage of the crop production, and a large number of farmers having been interviewed on the crop situation.

CIRCUIT COURT BUSINESS.

Replies Filed in the Hamilton & Rourke Cases.

In the circuit court this morning, replies were filed in two of the cases involving the Hamilton & Rourke system, vs. Hamilton & Rourke company, Charles Hamilton, T. F. Rourke and D. W. Bailey; and in the case of William S. Silson and Peter Kerr, partners as Silson & Kerr, vs. Hamilton & Rourke company, Hamilton & Rourke Warehouse system, Charles Hamilton, T. F. Rourke, W. J. Farnish and Charles W. Brownfield.

Other entries in the record are: Jackson vs. Bradley, motion overruled and judgment on the verdict. West vs. Eley, same order.

Butler vs. Butler, default, evidence in open court and decree of divorce.
