Transvaal Loss of Life.

Moralists are discussing the terrible loss of life brought about by the Transvaal war. Yet here life is sacrificed for a purpose—for an honest principle. It were better to preach against the needless sacrifice of life. Thousands of people succumb to ailments which might easily have been checked in the beginning. Dyspepsia carries off more people than are killed in war. The use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters would save many lives. Constipation may seem a little thing, but it invariably develops into something worse, and the longer it is allowed to run, the harder it is to cure. The Bitters cures indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia and biliousness, naturally and permanently, without shocking the system. It is good for everybody.

The census enumeration of Thurston county, Wash., has brought to light the fact that probably the oldest man on the coast is a resident of the county in the person of Samuel French, whose age is 108 years. Mr. French was born in April, 1792.

What never before was known probably, occurred Sunday at the Bingham Springs, when there were two dozen men and only about half a dozen ladies. Summer resorts usually have about ten ladies to one man, and this strange condition that existed on Sunday is regarded as the only thing of its kind in all the world. But, in a few days, when the summer guests register with Manager Avery, things will be different.

Peter Carlin, a native of Ireland, died in a Coos county road a few days ago from a hemorrhage. He had been picking berries and was unable to reach home.

Most universities nowadays have laboratories, but Cornell's department of geology, under Professor Harris, is unusual in having a traveling laboratory, says the New York Press. It is a steam launch of the torpedo-boat type, 520 feet in dimensions, propelled by a six-horse power engine. It is built to hold 18 persons, who in it may pursue their geological investigations at any spot from Cornell to New Orleans at which the professor desires. The first trip will take his class to Lake Champlain. He has named his rapid transit laboratory the Orthoceras.
