The Silence of the Grave.

London, July 14,—Hopes still strug-gle against the conclusion that the silence at Pekin is the silence of the grave. Unofficial admissions in the United States and Europe, that the diplomatists have adopted pessimistic views held by the consuls at Shanghai, have almost silenced those attempting to reason against the circumstantial to reason against the circumstantial evidence which is becoming so cogent. The Chinese assurances and ediets appear to be merely a part of a plan to cautiously break the news of the tragedy and delude foreigners with a tale of imperial guiltlessness. The situation at Tien Tsin appears to be slowly growing worse. The allied forces are experiencing the greatest difficulty in sending the reinforcements, as the in sending the reinforcements, as the Chinese have rendered the navigation of the river most difficult, by divert-ing the waters.

The Cause of a Strike.

The telephone company at Seattle paid the girls at "central" 64½ cents a day for 9 hours work. By strict economy the girls found they could live on 62 cents a day, but all luxuries and some of the necessities of life had to be eliminated. After a time the girls asked for better pay and they were soon placed in a position where they had to strike to maintain their self respect.
