THE WESTON NEIGHBORHOOD.

The illness of L. E. Griffith at Salem:

Wheat Corn and Other Crop Notes.

Weston, Or., July 16.—Mrs. George A. Peables, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Lois Peables, left Sunday afternoon for Salem, called thither by a telegram announcing the serious condition of her father, L. C. Griffith.

The old gentleman, who met with a severe fall one day last week, resides 10 miles east of Salem, and his relatives there considered his condition so critical that his children were summoned to the bedside. Prof. G. A. Peables had gone to Salem some time ago, but is expected in Weston within a month. Mrs. Peables and Miss Peables will remain there until fall.

William Blair has harvested some of his little patch of wheat corn, and the yield was at the rate of between 60 and 70 bushels per acre. Mr. Blair is of the opinion, from his experiment with this new grain, that it will have a marked effect on the hog raising industry. It has a kernel just like wheat, only larger, while ordinarily it is like corn, thus being an excellent feed for porkers, while the immense yield per acre makes it cheap.

J. M. O'Hara has finished threshing 70 acres of wheat for Ambrose Winn, north of Claude Steen's. It was thinned and went 34 bushels to the acre.

Joe Coffman's 85 acres of red chaff went 44 bushels to the acres. Two years ago, the same field produced 56 bushels per acre. Robert Coppock got 35 bushels per acre from his field.

J. H. Price stated today that he would commence harvesting this afternoon, and expected 30 bushels per acre.

Henry Stamper is getting 30 to 35 bushels per acre.

The three children of William Beath, sick with scarlet fever, are nicely along on the way toward recovery. Quarantine will be maintained for some time longer, however.

A Sad Home Coming.

Athens, Or., July 16.—Mildred Kelly returned this afternoon from a trip to Montana. Upon his arrival here he was informed of the death of his brother Isaac Kelly, which event occurred three weeks ago at Spokane. What made the news all the sadder for him was the fact that Mr. Kelly went to Montana by way of Spokane, and did not know that his brother was there on his death bed at the time he passed through that city.

Cold Steel or Death.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvelous power of Electric Bitters to cure Liver and Stomach troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.

DOINGS AT LEHMAN SPRINGS.

Waters Beneficial to Invalids and Weather Agreeable for Everyone.

Lehman Springs, July 14.—The place is very lively at present. About 150 guests are here. The weather during the day is beautiful, blankets being an absolute necessity at night. There have been extensive improvements made here this season. The hotel has been enlarged to just twice its former size. Numbers of extra cottages have been built.

As the writer looks out from his cabin and sees the beauty with which he is surrounded, he wonders why everyone is not here in this veritable paradise, where the sickly add the rosy hue of health to their cheeks the rheumatic individual throws away his crutch or cane, the old feel young and sprightly again. On every side may be seen tents of all sizes and descriptions, and smoke rolling out of the chimneys of the rustic log cabins, the occupants busy preparing the noon day meal; groups of women congregated together relating to each other the news of the day, men wrestling for supremacy in a game of nine pins at the bowling alley near the hotel; children in twos and threes going up the mountain with baskets in search of huckleberries and wild gooseberries, both of which are plentiful this season.

Your correspondent received an agreeable surprise the other morning from Attorney J. T. Hinkle in the form of a fine mess of mountain trout, which tends to show that trout fishing is one of the favorite sports in this vicinity.

Means of Diversion.

A musical shooting gallery, operated by John Hager, of Heppner, one of the many attractions this season. Eugene Basey, a Heppnerite, is busy erecting a merry-go-round. There are 30 cabins, which are about all occupied.

A pleasing feature of amusement eagerly entered into by many is the game of croquet.

The smiling face of Lee Cantwell, of Heppner, can be seen behind the refreshment and confectionery stand located in the dance hall.

An improvement this year is the regular mail service. Mail is distributed here three times a week. John Endeccott is the postmaster.

For the accommodation of his guests, Manager H. E. Warren has added a long distance telephone.

New roads have just been cut to the springs from Pendleton, thereby shortening the distance.

W. J. Furnish is erecting a handsome one-story cottage containing four large rooms and a bath-room, with hot and cold spring water. It is his intention to make it his summer residence. It will take 250 feet of piping from the reservoir to his residence. The piping is being laid now.

Game is Plentiful.

Game of all descriptions plentiful this summer. A young deer crossed the main road a few days ago not more than 200 yards from the hotel. Glenn Bushee, of Pendleton, who is here at present, informs the writer that he has seen three and four deer in a group, also in another direction saw a large bear and cougar, and a more than a week ago, which will be of interest to sportsmen.

Each day, all seek the refreshing water of the swimming pool to recruit themselves for the dance which takes place each evening.

The tonorial artist, H. Matthews, of Heppner, is kept busy at his shop, getting from one "scrape into another."

Dr. D. J. McFall, of Heppner, is expected to arrive at the Springs on the 15th of this month. He will remain until the end of the season.

Mr. Boynton, of Ukiah, has opened a butcher shop, opposite the hotel and is ready to administer to wants of his patrons.

Thomas Brewster, who owns a large ranch here, is supplying his customers with fresh butter and milk.

Guests at Lehman.

Some of the guests noticed are the following:

City Recorder J. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rea, Attorney G. W. Rea and daughter, Mrs. Cohn, H. Matthews, Mrs. J. Shipley, Ed Hale, Frank Roberts, Lee Cantwell, Eugene Basey, Mr. Kilcup, John Hager, Walter Brundage, of Heppner.

John Watson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Furnish, C. Fraker, Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzgerald, Gurney Hayes, C. C. Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Selling, J. T. Hinkle and family, Glenn Bushee, Bill Lane, Joe Nolf, Frank Pinson, Winn S. Brown, Frank Downey and family, Harry Thompson, Dr. Al Beatie, Frank Mitchell, Levi Eldridge, Conductor Roach, of the W. & C. R. R., John Bowman, Chas. Goodale and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Shtrum and family, Mrs. A. M. Kiley, Mrs. Ed Eben, Carl Grenawald, Pendleton.

Messrs. Sam and George Miller, of Milton, Or., are here for the season.

Treasurer Daniel Sullivan, of the California Oil company, arrived Monday, a guest of Attorney G. W. Rea.

Bob Lindsay, formerly of Pendleton, but now of Walla Walla, is registered at the hotel.

Ed Galpy, of Pendleton, arrived today on horse-back, making the trip in eight hours.

DR. CARTER'S ALASKA EXPERIENCE.

C. B. Carter Visits His Nephew at Vancouver, Who Underwent Hardship in the Glenn Military Expedition.

Charles H. Carter tells to the East Oregonian the story related to him by his nephew, Dr. Henry R. Carter, who has just returned from Alaska, whither he went as a member of the Capt. E. F. Glenn military expedition last year ago. Dr. Carter visited in Pendleton en route to Seattle to join the expedition.

"We left Seattle early last summer," said Dr. Carter, "outfitted thoroughly for exploration in the interior of Alaska. Proceeding to the Cook's Inlet country, we prepared for travel inland, the expedition dividing, and six of us, two privates, two packers, and myself, under command of Lieut. Herron, going in the direction of the head waters of the Tanana river. The Tanana river flows across the several ranges of mountains to the north from Cook's Inlet, and flows north into the Yukon river. It is hundreds of miles from the sources to the mouth of the Tanana, the immense scope of country being devoid of mark of civilization, and inhabited only by a few tribes of Indians.

"It was a stray Indian out hunting who saved us from starving and freezing. We had gone quite a distance on our way, and had come into great distress. Our horses were all dead. Our provisions were nearly exhausted. We had worn out our clothing, and that which we had was inadequate to protect us from the rigors of the late November weather which we encountered. Not one of the six had a stitch of clothing designed for winter, and we used the saddle blankets of the dead horses to construct rude garments and sleeping robes. We wore on what soldiers call starvation rations, a bit of hardtack and a strip of bacon each day.

"Then we came one day upon a lone Indian, who was hunting. He guided us to the camp of his people, twenty miles back in the direction from which we had come. There we were fed and clothed by the Indians, receiving moccasins to replace the one pair of shoes each one had of which only a remnant remained.

"For a week or ten days we remained with these friendly Indians, and when finally recuperated and again provided with food, we induced a party of the Indians to go on with us to Fort Gibbon. It was 250 miles from the Indian's camp 'as the crow flies,' the distance being made entirely on foot.

Wrecked Their Raft.

"Once we built a raft, and rode for a short distance down the swift waters of the Tanana, but wrecked it on a mass of driftwood lodged in the river.

"Upon arriving at Fort Gibbon, we took a long rest, and regained the strength and vitality which had been wasted through the hardships and deprivations. And then the Indians were rewarded for their services. They were turned loose in the commissary of the fort, and told to take what they wanted. This they did, in a literal manner. For, when they took the back trail, they were loaded down with everything they could carry. They had the best food the fort possessed, and rifles and great stores of ammunition, and, in fact, whatever they saw among the fort's stores that caught their fancy.

"This last act, giving the Indians rich rewards for their kindness to the American soldiers, will insure the assistance hereafter, to any Americans, civil or military, who may get out from the beaten paths in the vast Tanana country."

The commander of Vancouver Barracks, whence the expedition was sent, had given up the party for lost. But some months ago, word came from Fort Gibbon intimating that American soldiers had arrived there from the Tanana country, accompanied by friendly Indians, and it was then believed that this was the Lieut. Herron party, of which Dr. Carter was a member.

He returns in the best of health, notwithstanding the suffering and hardships undergone in the journey across the mountains of Alaska, having had time to recuperate and regain his strength.

Vesuvius Has Lost Its Cone.

This fiery crater, now suddenly silent, was explored by scientific men who discovered that the cone had disappeared. Several theories are propounded as to why the eruption ceased, also regarding the disappearance of the cone. The general belief is that it was due to subsidence, and which is looked upon as providential. It was as unexpected as are the stomach disorders with which people suddenly find themselves afflicted. Slight symptoms are neglected, until dyspepsia is chronic. The remedy to take is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This valuable medicine is unequalled in all cases of constipation, indigestion, biliousness, or malaria, fever and ague. It brings about a healthy condition of the bowels, and improves the appetite. Be sure to give it a trial.
