GENERAL NEWS.

CHINESE MOVE SOUTHWARD

As They Go Along in Great Bodies They Murder All Christians.

WAR IS DECLARED AGAINST CHINA

Russia, England, Germany and France Take the Step; It is China Against the Civilized World.

New York, July 19.—A dispatch to the World from London says: Great bodies of Boxers and of Chinese troops are marching southward from Peking, murdering all Christians they find. It is feared some of the viceroys are warring and with the governors of several provinces are going over to the rebels. Many people regard Li Hung Chang with suspicion and urge that he be detained at Shanghai.

Declare War on China. New York, July 19.—A dispatch to the Journal and Advertiser from London says: The Chinese invasion of Amoy province is equivalent to a declaration of war against Russia, which country has handed the Chinese envoy at St. Petersburg his passports. This action virtually releases the Czar from obligations to foreign powers to act in concert with them. The British and German governments have decided to remain neutral, thus placing themselves in line with Russia and France.

China Against Civilized World. London, July 19.—Steps in the direction of treating China as a state engaged in war was supplemented this morning by the official announcement from St. Petersburg that certain portions of Amur territory had been declared in a state of war since July 11. Russia's announcement is regarded in London as foreshadowing a speedy unconditional recognition of the fact that a condition of war exists between China and the civilized world.

It is announced officially that the foreign women and children have been requested to leave the ports along the Amur river. Serious rioting has occurred at Poyang lake, near Kien Kiang. Several missionaries have been killed.

A Shanghai dispatch reports that Russia has Amur territory had been declared in a state of war since July 11. Russia's announcement is regarded in London as foreshadowing a speedy unconditional recognition of the fact that a condition of war exists between China and the civilized world.

MAN DROWNED AT MEACHAM. Colored Man, While Swimming & Race, Goes to the Bottom.

Henry Miller, a colored waiter in the Log Cabin eating house of the O. R. & N. at Meacham, was drowned in the Koptitke pond Wednesday evening near the station at Meacham.

Miller was with two other colored men from the eating house, employed by the manager, Mrs. Munra, went bathing in the Koptitke pond after eating a hearty meal. Miller had been drinking, and probably was considerably under the influence of liquor. He had not been on duty during the forenoon.

The three men agreed to swim a race across the pond, where it is about two hundred feet from side to side. Two were ahead, and one of them said to the other that Miller was not to be seen. The other man supposed it was a race to get him to cease his exertions and lose the race, so the two kept on until they reached the bank, when, upon looking back, they could see nothing of Miller.

Returning to the spot whence they had started, they tried to find the body by diving for it, but could not locate it. Help was procured, and the body was found in ten feet of water, in a position indicating that Miller must have sunk without a struggle.

Dr. Cole inclined to the belief that Miller suffered heart failure and was therefore unable to make exertions to save himself.

Miller was from St. Louis, and has only one relative living, a sister whose residence is on Walnut street in St. Louis.

Garfield county, public buildings and fixtures, $4750; insurance unknown. A. L. Bush, building, $100; no insurance.

E. M. Ranch, implements, $25,000; insurance unknown. Foster & Robertson, building, $1000.

Minor losses will foot up the aggregate to $65,000.

The blaze caught from a gasoline light generator in Rice's saloon in the middle of the block between Third and Fourth streets on the south side of Main street. All those buildings are wooden shacks except at each end of the block stood brick buildings, on the east occupied by the Pomeroy Mercantile company and that on the west by Brady & Elsensohn, general merchandisers. The fire spread with inconceivable rapidity, licking up the wooden buildings like they were paper.

At 5 p. m., after burning everything within reach in the two blocks mentioned the blaze died out.

The heartiest co-operation was shown the fire department by the spectators, but all was ineffectual.

A number of heavy prostrations were recorded but none fatal.
