the hands of the Chinese or be shot by their own comrades. With one accord "they begged him pitiously" to shoot them. So a squad of the very best shots in the little force was selected, and "while the tears coursed down the cheeks of the men, they killed their own comrades to save them from a worse fate." This indeed was a terrible story, and the only fault to be found with it is that it is not true. Admiral Seymour brought away all of his wounded. They were placed in day-cars and taken to the coast.

Great Britain is getting things red hot in all sorts of forms this year—a famine in India, war in South Africa, insurrection in China, troubles on the Afghan border, and now the heat has been so intense in London that sunstrokes have been sending people to the hospitals at the rate of half a dozen a day.

"A Bright Little Boy" would be sure of a welcome in almost any home. But what a welcome he would have in a home where the hope of children had been extinguished. What a welcome this particular "bright little boy" did have in such a home, may be judged by the closing paragraph of his mother's letter, which follows:

"I cannot tell half that Dr. Fiero's medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. T. A. Ragan, of North Waukegan, Ill. "It will do all that is claimed for it—prevent miscarriages and render childbirth easy. It has given me a bright little boy, and I would not have had him had it not been for your wonderful medicine. I cannot say too much in praise of it. I think it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God for my little, and Dr. Fiero for my health."

"Pleasant Pellets" clear the complexion.

The coyote challenge sounded close to the Chimney-pot Ranch after the sundown. A dozen dogs roared with the usual clamor. But only the bull-dog barked away toward the place whence the coyotes had called for the reason that he only was lost. But his chase was fruitless and he came back growling. Twenty minutes later there was another coyote yell close at hand. Away dashed the terror as before. In a minute his excited yapping told that he had sighted his game, and was in full chase. Away he went, furiously barking, until his voice was lost afar and never more was heard. In the morning the men read in the snow the tale of the night. The first cry of the coyote was to find out if all the dogs were loosed then, having found that only one was free, they laid a plan. Five coyotes hid along the side of the trail, one went forward and called till he had decoyed the rash terror, and then led him right into the ambush. What chance had he with six? They saw him limbo from limb and devoured him, too, at the very same time, and he had worried Coyotillo. And next morning, when the men came, they saw signs that the whole thing had been planned and that the leader whose cunning had made it a success was a little obstinate coyote.

The men were angry and Lincoln was furious, but Jake remarked, "Well, I got even that bob-tail came back and got even with that terror."—From "Tito, the Story of the Coyote That Learned How," by Ernest Setton-Thompson, in the Fiction Number of Scribner's.

TOM JOHNSON FOR CHAIRMAN.

If the democracy has the wisdom of its needs, it will put at the head of campaign management the Hon. Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, Ohio. He has no superior for brains, force, initiative and political insight. He knows the country and the people. Peculiarly, he knows the people of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and New York, where this battle is to be fought and won. He is a manufacturer who never had a strike. He is a millionaire who can give an honest account of every dollar he ever possessed. He pillaged no one, crushed no one, ground no flesh and blood in the mills of his avarice. He is the only man who ever defeated Hanna. He has met Hanna in business and beaten him. He has met him in politics and defeated him out like a field of tripe. Johnson is the one man Hanna fears. They are from the same city. Johnson knows Hanna as none other does. And Hanna can't bully him, or cheat him, nor steal from him, nor set any bribed trap of politics he won't discover and destroy. Johnson has a genius for control. He can formulate a plan; foresee and meet the needs of a campaign. He knows the candidates. He is past master of the issues. He can even out-catch and give it, or receive it and execute it. He is, or receives as time, and as tireless. He will conduct such a war as the democracy has not seen since the Gorman-managed days of 1884. Wherefore the Verdict is: elect Bryan and those in party command to call Johnson to the campaign bridge at once. We want victory. Therefore, we want Johnson.—The Verdict.

SENSE AND NONSENSE.

The government surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, amounted to $81,229,776—and this was made possible by a war tax which brings to the general government a greater income than all "customs duties" by more than $90,000,000.

The Georgia man who chained up his daughter because she married in opposition to his wishes merely demonstrated that she was wise in marrying anyone who would take her away from him.

Shanghai, China, is estimated to have 380,000 inhabitants, of whom 370,000 are liars and nearly 1000 are deaf mutes. This is why the reports from Shanghai are received with caution. In Shanghai the chickens crow for day at 1:30 a. m.
