PEOPLE WHO ARE HERE FOR A DAY.

Miss Bowlin, daughter of J. B. Bowlin, whose name has become familiar to everyone hereabouts, was a visitor on Tuesday. Miss Bowlin was at her home the night of the attempted arrest of her father, and she took part in the resistance against the three officers. It is related by Miss Bowlin that, as the affair was at the point of highest interest and it seemed likely that the officers would secure her father, she seized the coat tails of the principal one of the three, held firmly to them, and retarded the officer's movements sufficiently to prevent him from getting hold of Mr. Bowlin, who had vanished into the darkness of the night. It is also intimated that the coat of the officer needed much to receive the attentions of the tailor, when Miss Bowlin loosened her hold, after she saw that her father had effected an escape.

Mr. Williams has resided for the past year or so in Southern California but did not find that country to his liking. He prefers Baker county and his many friends here are glad of his decision.

Dalles Chronicle: Sheriff Wm. Frazier, of Multnomah county, was in this city Saturday evening returning from the interior where he had been buying cavalry and artillery horses for the government. He shipped one car load from here and sent 80 head across the mountains from Crook county. A PAIR OF FIRES.

Both Caused the Usual Excitement, and Little Damage. A fire alarm at 5:15 Tuesday evening attracted the department and a large crowd to the hillside north of the residences of C. B. Wade and Judge S. A. Lowell, on Nob Hill. Dry grass on the south side of the Byers millrace became ignited by sparks from a passing locomotive on the O. R. & N. Co.'s railroad, and threatened danger to residences. The fire quickly spent itself and water from a garden hose removed the last vestige of danger. Shortly after 11 o'clock last night another fire alarm attracted a crowd to the vicinity of Hotel Pendleton, and the fire was quickly located in a large pile of firewood in the yard to the rear of that popular hostelry. The fire was extinguished in its incipency, although when first discovered it was making a strong bid to become troublesome. The damage in both the fires was scarcely sufficient to establish in dollars and cents, but the possibilities of damage, particularly in the latter case, were very great, as the wind was blowing from the northwest and the entire block was in imminent danger.

TO NAVIGATE THE COLUMBIA.

Steamer Billings About to Commence Running Regularly.

Regular steamer transportation is about to be introduced on the upper Columbia by the Central Navigation and Construction company, and the steamer Billings will ply between Lewiston, Idaho, and Celilo, Oregon. This steamer will be used in connection with the portage railroad to Celilo, and it is claimed that the service will cause considerable of a change in transportation matters. The steamer Billings, however, met with a mishap the first trip out, which will delay the inauguration of the service for several days, and perhaps longer. She has just been rebuilt at Pasco, being supplied with new hull and boiler making her a model river craft. She is 200 feet long, 36.9 feet beam, six feet hold, with engines 20x36 inches, and carries electric light apparatus.

Billings went on the Rocks.

Captain H. C. Coe will have charge of the vessel, and he was at the wheel when the vessel ran onto the rocks at Quinn's, below Umatilla, and stuck there. This will delay the construction of the portage railroad, for the Billings was to have been used in bringing the rolling stock therefrom from Pasco to Columbia.

Captain Coe is referred to as one of the few remaining pilots who formerly ran on the upper river, and as being familiar with every mile of the river from Lewiston, Idaho, to Celilo, Oregon.

Captain Whitcomb, port captain for the company, is of the opinion that the Billings will be gotten safely off the rocks within a few days and quickly repaired.

IS IT RIGHT

For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

(From Sylvan Valley News, Hayward, N. C.)

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventative of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack such suffering might be avoided and in many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by Tallman & Co., druggists.
