There have been placed upon the market several cheap reprints of an obsolete edition of Webster's Dictionary. They are being offered under various names at a low price.

Announcements of these comparatively worthless reprints are very misleading. For instance, they are advertised to be the substantial equivalent of a higher-priced book, when in reality, so far as we know and believe they are all from A to Z.

Reprint Dictionaries, photographic copies of a book of over fifty years ago, which in its day was sold for about 75 cents, and which was much superior in paper, print, and binding to these imitations, being a work of some merit instead of one.

Long Since Obsolete.

The supplement of 10,000 so-called "new words," which some of these books are advertised to contain, was compiled by a gentleman who died over forty years ago, and was published before his death. Other minor additions are probably of more or less value.

The Webster's Unabridged Dictionary published by our house is the only authoritative one of that name familiar to this generation. It contains over 2000 pages, with illustrations on nearly every page, and bears our imprint on the title page. It is protected by copyright from cheap imitations.

As valuable as this work is, we have at vast expense published a thoroughly revised edition, known through the world as Webster's International Dictionary. As a dictionary lasts a lifetime you should

MARCH ON PEKIN BEGINS

A Battle Already in Which 1200 Allies Are Killed or Wounded.

ANTI-FOREIGN STRENGTH UPPERMOST

Allies Reported to Be Making Slow Progress in Their Advance Upon the Chinese Capital—Desperate Fighting.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The following dispatch was received at the navy department: "The Foo—There are reports of an engagement at Peit Sang Sunday morning, the allies' loss in killed and wounded being 1200, chiefly Russians and Japanese. The Chinese are retreating."

"The Foo—The official report is believed to be reliable. About 16,000 allies heavily engaged the Chinese at Peit Sang."

Peit Sang is about six miles north-west of Tien Tsin, en route to Pekin.

Situation More Serious.

Paris, Aug. 6.—The French consul at Chung King telegraphs the situation is becoming more serious on the upper Yang Tse Kiang. The English consul has left and the French consul intends to leave with his Japanese colleague.

Generals Do Not Agree.

London, Aug. 6.—The anti-foreign power again has the upper hand at Pekin.

Li Hung Chang claims that his representations to Yang Tse viceroys and Taotai Sheng will be denounced by Li Hung Hong because they are friendly to the foreigners.

The correspondents at Tien Tsin are unable to get any fresh news, though a dispatch from Shanghai avers that the allies are making slow progress toward Pekin on account of a difference of opinion among the generals in command. The Americans, British and Japanese commanders favor one plan, the dispatch affirms, and the Russian, French and German favor another.

On the Road to Pekin.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Interest in the Chinese situation was intensified this morning by the receipt of two dispatches from naval officers at Che Foo, repeating unofficial, but apparently reliable, reports of active and extensive hostilities between the allied forces and the Chinese between Tien Tsin and Pekin. The dispatches indicate unmistakably that the relief column has started in earnest and that it is meeting with determined opposition. Although neither of the dispatches mentions the presence of the American troops in the reported engagement it is assumed at the war department that at least a part of General Chaffee's small army took an aggressive part in the affair. According to information in the possession of the war department the loss of Peit Sang is beyond doubt, and 12,000 allies, beyond Tien Tsin. From the fact that the engagement lasted seven and a-half hours, it is argued that either the Chinese must have been heavily entrenched or that there was an immense horde of them to so stubbornly resist the advance of the relief column.

The position of the United States diplomatically remains unchanged. The government will not consent to the recall of the ministers and foreigners from Pekin until there is free communication by the powers with their ministers. There seems to be no doubt about the safety of the ministers at Pekin for the present and they will not be induced to accept any offer from the Chinese government to escort them to Tien Tsin until they have had communication with their respective governments.

TORTURING BRESSEI.

The Assassin of Italy's King Suffering the Tortures of the Damned.

Milan, Aug. 6.—Bressi is confined in an iron straitjacket and he is tightly handcuffed, day and night.

These methods of torture are wholly within the Italian criminal law, which allows extraordinary measures in extracting confessions from criminals.

COCKRAN FOR BRYAN.

Famous New York Lawyer Declares for the Nebraskan.

New York, Aug. 6.—Bonnie Cockran will vote for Bryan and Stevenson. He will also take the stamp for the Kansas City ticket.

This statement is made on the authority of a friend who has talked with Mr. Cockran and knows how he feels. When asked if he would support Bryan and Stevenson Mr. Cockran replied: "I may give my views on the issue before the people in a few days. When I arrive at a decision I generally give the reasons for my action."

"Then you have decided how you will vote?" he was asked.

"I decided that on July 5," was the reply.

The democratic platform was adopted on that date and this remark of Mr. Cockran is rather significant. Imperialism was made the paramount issue, and Mr. Cockran has opposed by voice and pen the imperialistic policy of the McKinley administration.

Since Mr. Cockran's return from Europe he has talked with his close personal and political friends concerning the national candidates and issues. They are all convinced that he will declare in a day or two his determination to support Bryan for president.

Four years ago Mr. Cockran opposed Bryan and the Chicago platform. He was the chief speaker at the Palmer and Buckner mass meeting held at Madison Square Garden. He afterward stumped the Western and Middle States in the interest of the Indianapolis ticket.

MEANING OF PEO-PU-MOX-MOX.

Properly Interpreted It Signifies "Yellow Bird."

Law Moorhouse, speaking of the name of Peo-pu-mox-mox, the honors of the chief of the Walla Walla tribe, states to the East Oregonian that, in every reference to the name and its interpretation current historians make the common error of ascribing this as the meaning, "Yellow Serpent," whereas, it really means, "Yellow Bird." He thus gives the manner in which the mistake was originally made and the explanation.

"If it be essential that history be just, and this will not be questioned by anyone, then there should be a correction of a mistake made in every historical annual I have seen relating to the events of this region during the early days. It is the interpretation of the name, 'Peo-pu-mox-mox,' who was the chief of the Walla Walla tribe of Indians, now on the Umatilla reservation and a man who deserves the highest honors the white people can pay. The error reflects upon the character of Peo-pu-mox-mox, intimating that, among his people, he was known as the 'Yellow Serpent,' this being, according to their custom of naming so as to fit the character of the individual, not at all complimentary to the old chief. As a matter of fact, he was known as 'Yellow Bird.' 'Peo-pu-mox-mox' meaning that in the Indian language,

Interpreter was Hostile to Him.

"The way I understand it is this, learned from the old Indians and others who are familiar with the lore of the tribes and the happenings of the pioneer days: When Governor Stevenson made the treaty with the Walla Walla, Cayuse and Umatilla tribes, all of the chiefs and headmen signed it in ratification of the provisions therein contained. The interpreter was a French half-breed who did not like Peo-pu-mox-mox. When Peo-pu-mox-mox asked his name to the document he was told, in French, of course, as Peo-pu-mox-mox, but as the names were written down, each one was interpreted for the governor by the French half-breed. When he came to Peo-pu-mox-mox, he informed Governor Stephens that it meant 'Yellow Serpent' or 'Yellow Snake.' "Correction of this error will but do justice to one who was a faithful friend to the settlers. Peo-pu-mox-mox was a mighty chieftain. He ruled with a rod of iron, and brooked no questioning of his authority. He refused to take part in the Whitman massacre, advised against it, and was anxious to avert the bloody deed, and when one of his young men came to his lodge after the massacre, with the information that he had killed part of the Whitman company, Peo-pu-mox-mox ordered the brave hung instantly. His order was obeyed, and the man a moment later swung from a limb of a stout cottonwood nearby.

"Peo-pu-mox-mox was the personification of sternness, but also was good and true and just, an example of high virtue among savage civilization."

Beaten by a Brakeman.

Tom Grider was found crippled and helpless in a refrigerator car on the O. & N. at Walla Walla. He was treated at St. Mary's hospital.
