Easy as the head that wears a crown just now.

Every trust in the United States is bitterly opposed to Bryan's election and to democratic control of the government.

If Bryan should be elected president it may be expected that Hanna will attribute it to Roosevelt's cowboy hat.

To Mr. Ledyard, of Detroit, war is hell because it has brought more grief than glory to him.

There is no other country in Europe so tax-ridden as Italy and there is no other country where the worker receives so little and the privileged rich so much.

The print cloth mills have all closed down and 35,000 hands are out of employment in consequence.

The effort to bring about the shipment of wheat to eastern markets will be fruitless.

Thomas B. Reed says he is "too busy" to make speeches for the republican ticket this year.

The McKinley administration has consented to give a strip of the Porcupine mining district in Alaska.

The report of the pension department shows 993,529 pensioners on the rolls on July 1, 1900.

internationalism and imperialism, until we are in the condition of Europe, with a soldier on the back of every worker.

INTERNATIONAL WHEAT CORNER.

In the current McClure's J. D. Whelpley publishes an article which, even though fortified by documentary evidence, lies within the domain of the sensational.

This letter Mr. Olney turned over to J. Sterling Morton, secretary of agriculture, requesting his views on the Russian proposition.

Mr. Morton's views, with his conclusion that "the price of wheat will continue to be regulated by the relation of the world's supply of wheat to the world's demand for wheat in all the markets of the globe."

In the first place the minister, after twenty-five years of studying the wheat market, wheat acreage, supply and population, had come to the conclusion that the price of this cereal was governed largely by speculation.

In a country where the people have little or nothing to say in the conduct of government, where farmer and serf are practically synonymous terms, it is not surprising that attempts to control price and production arbitrarily may succeed for a season.

such a wild, undemocratic and irrational scheme. The veriest tyro in economics knows that while such a course might temporarily increase the price of wheat it would end in so stimulating the efforts of the farmers that there would follow vast overproduction and consequent inability of the wheat-producing countries to control the product.

The United States, as Mr. Whelpley properly says, "does not interfere with the business of the individual, fights shy of paternalism and as a government of the people by all the people, denies that any one industry can have for such specialized effort on its behalf."
