PEOPLE WHO ARE HERE FOR A DAY.

George L. Hutelin, of Portland, registered at the Hotel Pendleton Monday evening, and remained in town today. Mr. Hutelin came on a double mission. He is largely interested in the Portland Street Fair and Carnival, and came to secure co-operation of Pendleton Elks in making the affair a success. Mr. Hutelin met with hearty response, finding that although Pendleton people are going to have a street fair and Harvest Carnival just after the Portland fair closes, there is a disposition to render all the aid possible to Portland in their enterprise. There will be no conflict between the two fairs, but rather a spirit of mutual sympathy and encouragement that will make each one all the better for it. Recently, when two Pendleton business men visited Portland to look up the matter for the fair association here, they were given every encouragement, and in recognition, Mr. Hutelin receives the same encouragement. He thinks that the Pendleton fair will be a success. And while here, he will give from his store of experience to assist the local committee in preparing for the event. He will meet this evening with the association at the council rooms, and confer with the other members on the speaking of Pendleton. Mr. Hutelin remarks that it impresses one as possessing a solid prosperity, and calculated to attract permanently anyone who is looking for a location. Pendleton's name is now high on the roll of good towns, and everywhere one hears it spoken of as carrying on extensive commerce with the large country which is tributary. "The solid appearance of the place proves that your reputation has been honestly earned," said he, in a conversation with the East Oregonian, at the Hotel Pendleton.

Donnelly-White. Frank J. Donnelly and Miss Margaret White were married on Sunday at noon, in the parlors of the St. George hotel. Justice Thomas Fitzgerald officiated in the marriage ceremony. Present were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Curington and George Duvon. Mr. Donnelly is clerk of the St. George, and Miss White was from Minneapolis, recently. They are now occupying apartments at the St. George, but will soon go to homekeeping elsewhere in Pendleton, being now on the search for a suitable home.

No front door, back door or side door is open, and any one wanting a drink must get it from the town pump.

Miss H. Salting and Miss Inez Estes went to Pendleton Saturday and returned as husband and wife. The marriage ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock at the residence of the mother of the bride, Mrs. Kate James, on Lewis street, Rev. John Uren, of the M. E. church, officiating. The congratulatory parties are very popular in Athena, and are being heartily congratulated.

Notes From Adams. Adams, Or., Aug. 6.—The population of Adams has been increased by three births, as reported by Dr. J. C. Smith, as follows: July 29, a girl, Mrs. William Caldwell, a girl; July 31, to Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Llewallen, a boy; July 31, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holdman, a boy.

J. T. Llewallen harvested 30 bushels to the acre from 125 acres. He said that he would have estimated it at 40 bushels to the acre, if it had not been for the fact that his neighbors were harvesting about 10 bushels to the acre less than they thought they would get prior to the commencement of harvest. He said it just "scratched out 30 bushels to the acre."

C. W. Taylor, agent of the O. R. & N. Co., harvested about 32 bushels to the acre, from land that in former years has yielded from 40 to 45.

COUGER CLOSE TO PENDLETON.

Hunters Who Want Some Fun Should Get Their Guns and Dogs.

A cougar has been seen by several persons on the McKay place, just beyond the Simpson & Puringer race-track, east from town no more than a mile or a mile and a half. The "varmint" was seen in the thickets on the McKay farm, and scared three women who were at a camp close by. Also, others have seen him. That he is there is beyond doubt.

It is suggested that some of the famous hunters of Pendleton get out their rifles and collect their dogs and go after that cougar. They would thus have some exciting sport, and incidentally remove a source of danger to people who may be moving about in that part of the country.

Some who saw the animal, thought it was a mountain lion, and it is rather in doubt just what sort of a critter he is. But that he is there and that he belongs to some bloodthirsty family of felines is now well known.

STREET FAIR MEETING TONIGHT.

President Smith Calls the Association to Meet at 8 o'Clock.

At 8 o'clock this evening, at the council rooms, the Pendleton Street Fair and Harvest Carnival Association will meet, for, perhaps, the most important session of any yet held.

George L. Hutelin, manager of the Portland fair and carnival, is here, and will meet with the association. He is to give some valuable pointers on the management of such affairs, and some important decisions are to be made with reference to the preparations.

All members of the fair association are urged to attend.

EMMA KIDWELL MAY LIVE.

Victim of Walla Walla Monster in Improved Conation-Simmons Coroner's Jury Verdict Peculiar.

Walla Walla, Aug. 7.—Miss Emma Kidwell, the 15-year-old girl who was stabbed Saturday afternoon by Ed Sutherland, is somewhat improved in condition today, and may recover from her wounds. The coroner today stated that they could not yet say whether the prospects were good or bad for her final recovery, and that several days more must elapse before it could be known with any certainty.

The verdict of the coroner's jury, in the case of James Simmons, who killed the seducer of his wife Friday night, justifiable homicide, occasioned surprise here, it being unexpected. Public feeling is probably with Simmons, although no one expected a legally constituted jury to render a verdict that is not according to the criminal code of the state. Apparently, however, the authorities are of the same opinion, and seem to be making no effort to capture Simmons.

Sutherland is behind the bars of the penitentiary, where he was placed for safety from any possible attempt to injure him.

He is alone in a cell on the upper tier and is never out of sight of one of the employees of the institution. He apparently wastes no time brooding over the awful consequences which stare him in the face, but sits about quietly, eats and sleeps as would any ordinary prisoner.

It is not known just when his preliminary hearing will occur. The officers say it will be delayed until the extent of the injuries sustained by Emma Kidwell, his first victim, are ascertained.

Coroner's Jury Acquitted Simmons.

Dr. Lance C. Blalock, coroner, concluded the inquest on the body of Will Buchanan, killed by James M. Simmons Friday night. The jury came in in five minutes with a verdict of justifiable homicide.

The inquest brought out the facts that Mrs. Simmons and Buchanan had been together many times previous to the tragedy; that he had roomed and boarded at the Simmons home for some time previous to his engagement as guard at the penitentiary six weeks ago. Mrs. Simmons testified that she had sent for him, informing him that her husband was to be away that night. She said that Buchanan appeared at the house, corner of Second and Oak streets, about 8 o'clock, and after the children had been put to bed "we went in the room and were in bed quite awhile when my husband came in the back way and came to the door of the bedroom. He said he had caught us. Mr. Buchanan started for the door and told my husband not to shoot. He then fired the shot, and said: 'I ought to kill you both.' After the shooting all that he said to me was that he was going away, and then disappeared."

Mrs. Simmons further testified that she and her husband had never had any trouble, and that he always had provided for her. She gave her testimony in a calm and clear way, and had told the same story to Chief Kaufman after the tragedy.

Constructing Cement Sidewalks.

Workmen are building cement pavements in front of the rooms of the people's Warehouse, Charles Dutton, Louis Hunsicker, and I. L. Ray & Company's brokerage office. This gives continuous cement walks from the City Hall on Alta street to corner of Main, down Main to Court, up Court to Cottonwood, and around on Cottonwood to the rear of the new Renn building. It is also understood that cement pavements will be put in on the west side of Main street from the corner of Court to the south side of T. C. Taylor's hardware store.
