It is becoming quite apparent that it is about as difficult for the powers to get out of China as it was for them to get in.

It was only two years ago that the dogs of war of Uncle Sam were busy chasing Spain out of Cuba.

Let it be said to the credit of Pendleton that there are only a very few business men and property owners here who show a disposition to throw obstacles in the way of the street fair and harvest carnival enterprise.

After this country, under the direction of the Hannas and the McKinleys and the trusts, had wasted millions of dollars and sacrificed gallons and gallons of the blood of brave American soldiers in those oppression-ridden islands, on the pretense of national expansion and defending the flag, this same gang, under the cloak of religion got this country involved in the Chinese troubles.

This is the season of the year when typhoid fever is most likely to develop. The months of July, August and September are dreaded by physicians because of the number of cases of this most treacherous of diseases.

Over in the Philippines the rotten climate is either killing our soldiers or driving them crazy. The other day I had my private secretary go to the marine hospital in Washington to inquire about a Detroit sailor who had been sent there crazy from the Philippines.

guard it was proposed to inoculate the men before the outbreak of the fever with the serum in question, but of the 12,234 men in the force only 1705 would allow themselves to be treated. During the siege there were 1524 cases in Ladysmith, and of these 1489 cases were of those who had refused to submit to the treatment. Only thirty-five men of the 1705 who permitted themselves to be inoculated were stricken with the disease. That is, there was one case of fever to every 7.07 noninoculated soldiers and one case to every 48.7 inoculated men.

PINGREE OF MICHIGAN. Governor Pingree has refused to support, by going on the stump, the republican national ticket.

While alternately sitting in a luxuriously upholstered easy chair and pacing up and down the floor of the library room in his handsome home in Detroit, Governor Hiram S. Pingree, who four years ago ran for governor of Michigan ahead of the national republican ticket, with McKinley at its head, talked freely with a representative of the Chicago American on the present political situation, particularly in his own, the republican party.

"I see by the papers that the Hanna-McKinley government is going to withdraw the American army from China, just as the other powers are getting ready to partition the Chinese empire among themselves," he said.

"You see, it wouldn't do for the Hanna-McKinley administration to have a big war on in the east just before a national election in this country. A few years ago they were bragging that no nation would dare go to war with this, the greatest fighting and most powerful nation on earth. Then came the war with Spain—one of the weakest nations in the world—ostensibly undertaken by this country in the name of humanity. Soon afterward that inexcusable and indefensible war with the Filipinos was begun, so as to spread Hannanism over the Philippine islands, where the climate is miserable and social, industrial and commercial conditions are correspondingly poor.

"They pretended to be trying to rescue and protect American missionaries and American legal rights over there. But with several weeks at their disposal they finally showed up in China with only two or three thousand soldiers to contend against millions of Chinese!

"What a magnificent showing for Hanna and McKinley's great fighting nation on earth! Any one would have supposed after reading the censored reports from Manila as to the success of the war with the Filipinos, that a few regiments could have been sent to China from the Philippines.

"Over in the Philippines the rotten climate is either killing our soldiers or driving them crazy. The other day I had my private secretary go to the marine hospital in Washington to inquire about a Detroit sailor who had been sent there crazy from the Philippines. The great medical man in charge complained that there was no ground for the criticism that our soldiers and sailors in the Philippines are becoming crazy in large numbers, and as proof of his assertion said that 'only seventy-five crazy men' had been brought back on the ship with the Detroit unfortunate. Only seventy-five crazy American patriots in one ship!

tolerate a state of affairs like that in the Philippines and China, and how long will they continue in power a political party that is controlled by such enemies of the republic as Hanna and the rest of those Ohio dictators? I wouldn't be surprised if the decent, liberty-loving American citizens would assert their rights at the ballot box next November."

The governor then began talking about local matters. Asked to continue his talk on the national situation for the benefit of the readers of the Chicago American, Mr. Pingree said he did not wish to be continually finding fault with the republican party, even as at present controlled. However, the governor a few minutes afterward launched out against the national administration.

is a great game of mine.

"The Michigan republican candidates and campaign managers who seem to be so anxious that I should take the stump this fall do not seem to realize that I couldn't talk to the people without showing up this Hanna-McKinley gang, who are trying to wreck the republican party and swing the United States, the home of the free and land of the brave, into the list of empires and oppressor nations."

"If the Hanna-McKinley so-called republican administration won't knock the trusts in the head by cutting out watered stock in corporations, forcing into 'judicious combinations' to control trade and crush out honest competition, and try and enforce the laws as well as have new anti-trust laws made, then it's time for the better element in the republican party to vote for some other party."

"Look at the damnable way in which the Hanna-McKinley-United States government (republican party)—protected trusts have borne down on the Page Fence company, employing hundreds of people until a few weeks ago, and forced it out of business."

"I am a republican, but I honestly believe that with that Ohio crew in control, dictating the policy of this government, the best thing that could happen to the republican party this fall would be the success of the democratic party at the polls."

"If such a result doesn't come now I am convinced that four years from now no Ohio man will be elected president of the United States or be in control of the national republican party organization."

"I notice that 'Mark' Hanna is trying to have Philadelphia republicans raise a pot of $600,000 to help out his tool, McKinley, and that he says the republican national committee was never poorer than it is today. Now, I believe 'Mark' is telling the truth. But he must be pretty hard pressed to go to Matthew Stanley Quay's state, after depriving the republicans there of one of their representatives in the United States senate—mean Quay—for funds to continue his reign through 'Teddy' Roosevelt a year or so ago characterized McKinley as a chocolate man, presumably meaning that the president was a sort of a tool or plaything for others. I have always contended that McKinley's backbone didn't reach far enough toward his neck to support his brains or his will power. In 1896, shortly after the election, I called on McKinley at his home in Ohio. I did so on the advice of the late Colonel John Atkinson, who accompanied me."

"The president treated us very handsomely. During a long talk he asked me how it was I managed to run so far ahead of him in my campaign for governor."

"At first told him I didn't know. Then he wanted to know what I said to the people that caused them to support me. 'Oh,' said I, 'I remember that I used to tell them how you—meaning McKinley—prepared a platform for either Harrison or some other republican presidential candidate pro-

Food does not feed when the stomach is 'out of order.' The result is, weak muscles and flabby flesh. 'Golden Medical Discovery' heals diseases of the stomach and digestive tract and restores the system. It works with Nature to make manly muscle and form firm flesh. In a letter received from A. D. viding for the demonization of silver. 'McKinley opened his mouth wide and said in a hoarse whisper, 'Ah!' Colonel Atkinson looked frightened, while I was as innocent appearing as though I had paid McKinley a compliment. You know playing the innocent McKinley."

A SONG OF COURAGE. The world is tired of the mourners— It is weary of eyes that weep; It is tired of the ironies who round old thrones Their meaningless vigils keep; It is tired of the plain and pleading Of those who have no wrong; Of those who are given the gifts of Heaven To gilden life's way with song!

With grief for the wretched years! The upward stride of statesmen; Is better than well of years; The road of the world on summer autumns; In action, not in complaint!
