THE BOXING CONTEST. Jack McMahon Knocked Kid Walton Out in the Seventh Round.

In the Seventh Round. The boxing confest in Frazer opera-nouse Wednesday evening drew a fair house. The contestants were Jack Me Mabon, of San Francisco, and Kid Walton, of Portland. It was to have been 20 rounds, but was ended in the seventh. There were several prelim-inaries to "jolly" the crowd and keep them in a good humor. It was nearly 11 o'clock when Kid Walton made his appearance in the ring, and quite a while after that Jack McMabon came to the front. There was more than the usual wrangling over timekeepers, referee, etc., but everything was finally usual wrangling over timekcepers, referce, etc., but everything was finally arranged and time was called. McMahon weighed 138 and Walton less than 130. The disparity in thier weight and strength was apparent from the first and fears were entertained that the former would eat the latter without sail or pepper. But it was a fight from start to finish, although Walton was outclassed and beaten, in the opinion of the sneetators, from the opinion of the spectators, from the second round.

There were numerous knockdowns and pretty work ducking, so that it was quite an exhibition of the manly art. The finish was seen in the seventh I. Walton was knocked down the referee counted seven. He ound. and. got up and was knocked down and lay there until the referee told off nine: there A third time he went down and eight was counted. There were cries from was counted. There were cries from the andience to count him ont, but he again arose, and for the fourth time was knocked down. The referee had counted three, and Walton was plucki-ly trying to regain his feet, when filly Bogart, his second; tossed up the sponge from his corner, and the fight was over in McMahon's favor. McMahon then stepped to the front of the ring and said: "I have taken part in 107 fights and

"I have taken part in 107 tights and I say that I have never met a gamer man than Walton. I saw by the East Oregonian that Tom Scott, the local colored lightweight was going to chal-lenge the winner of this fight. I will fight Scott for money, and agrees to knock him out in 10 rounds. If he wants to make a match here is a chance for him." That brought the matter to a finish and the audience dispersed. Mr.

Concerning Him. Dr. J. W. Alkire, who, it was re-ported, left Pendleton in company with a married woman about two weeks ago, writes the following letter, withint place or date, which he requests the East Oregonian to print. To the Editor.-As you published the article against me without investiating both sides of the story of my alleged elopement, I wish you to pub-lish my side of it, and I wish to use your columns to repudiate the blackest lie that ever was placed before the public, as presented by the "Trib-ue".

You stated, as per dictation, that Mrs. Feeliter was under a sypnotic in-fluence. She, if asked, (which she was fluence. She, if asked, (which she was not.) would very quickly tell you that such was not the case. I would to God I could use this power. I would em-ploy it on a few persons in your city to force them to tell the absolute truth, which they are not able to do by themselves. There are a few of the biggest, blackest liars, with the smallest principle, residing in Pendle-ton, that God ever permitted to exist in one place at one time. "Meeting clandestinely." There is just one man, more properly a thing, who ever uttered such a statement, and that parfy spoke of the same thing while I was there and, if he don't lie out of it, he will say he was called down over that dirty falsehood.
