Malcolm S. Jameson, who was deputy United States marshal at The Dalles about ten years ago, and who went to Manila with the Oregon volunteers and was promoted while there from sergeant to second licutenant, is lying ill at St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, and at last accounts his case was considered almost hopeless. Harry Simpson and Walter Finley, Harry Simpson and Walter Finley, who started out last Saturday to see the world, without forewarning their parents, are in Portland. When they left Pendleton they had something like $20 between them. When they reached Portland they were broke, but fell in with a good uncle of one of them, who took them home with him and gave them $2.50 each for spending money. They write that they are having a pretty good time, but between the lines can plainly be read the news that they are anxious to be back home. Pearl Bowman purchased a shotgun Pearl Bowman purchased a shotgun at Hansford's hardware store a year ago, and brought it back one day recently with the breech blown out of one of the barrels. One of Mr. Bowas black powder, and its extra strength did the damage. It is thought that a new barrel can be substituted, at slight expense, for the one which burst.

THE INDIAN PARADE

THE WRONG INDIAN.

I-Ya-Yesh Was Not the Person Who Stole the Saddle.

I-Ya-Yesh had his preliminary hearing Wednesday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Fitz Gerald, charged with stealing a saddle Saturday evening from Roy Harrington's horse, and was discharged. A deaf and dumb Indian offered the saddle for sale at Rowe's livery stable on Sunday, William Casey was around with the Indian, William Rowe refused to buy the saddle, suspecting it had been stolen. beer is fresh and good, and these go very well together. to the mountains and his eract whereabouts is not known. Mr. Brown started for southern Umatilia county, expecting to be back in 10 days.

There are only two deaf and dumb Indians on the reservation, I-Ya-Yesh and Parson Catons. Mr. Rowe says I-Ya-Yesh is not the Indian who offered to self him the saddle Sunday, but that Parson Catons is the man. Mr. Catons is the Indian who was consolidated. Catons is the Indian who was conspi-cuous in the parade at the fair last Saturday on account of the scantiness of his wearing apparel.

Just as soon as Mr. Brown and Mr. Casey can be induced to come to Pen-dicton the mystery of the stolen saddle will be solved. NEW YORK MARKET.

Reported by I. L. Ray & Co., Chicago Board of Trade and New York Stock

Sept. 27.—The wheat market was dull today and the closing prices were the same as yesterday after fluctuating 5-8c. Liverpool closed 1-8d lower, 6—41-8. New York opened 34 lower, 8334, sold at 83 5-8 to 8414, and closed, 84.
