YOUTSEY IS CONVICTED

His Sentence Will Be Imprisonment for Life.

RELATIVES SHOW EXPECTED GRIEF

Second Conviction in Connection With the Geibel Murder Tragedy in Kentucky.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 20.—Henry E. Youtsey has been found guilty of the crime of having conspired against the life of the late Governor Geibel, of Kentucky. The court room was crowded, but some of Youtsey's attorneys were present. The prisoner's aged father and a number of his relatives were in the sickroom just off the court room. The announcement of the verdict produced a tearful scene, as they had hoped for an acquittal.

Youtsey was somewhat better this morning, but still unable to make himself understood. He had one paroxysm last night, but rested well after emerging from it. Youtsey will be sentenced, at the next term court, to life imprisonment. A new trial will be asked for, and that failing, an appeal will be taken to the supreme court.

HANNA'S HUMOROUS PROFANITY.

Says Bryan Hasn't Done a Thing for the Workingman.

Pawnee, Neb., Oct. 20.—Senator Hanna continued his anti-Bryan speeches today, beginning with a number of expletives from Kansas which he said he had never heard done for the workingman and received "nothing" as a reply from somebody in the audience. "Confidentially, now," Senator Hanna said, leaning over the railing, "not a thing." Whereat the Kansans yelled.

Hanna Saved a Dakota.

Falls City, Neb., Oct. 20.—Amid tremendous cheers for Bryan, Hanna spoke to four thousand people here. After his speech, the Bryanites and McKinleyites vied in shouting. At Pawnee City, Hanna's carriage flew through town at a gallop, surrounded by rough riders who forced the driver to whip the horses into full speed. At the meeting place a number of shots were fired and the senator appeared nervous over the reception. Hanna says he has taken South Dakota from the doubtful column. He hopes to do the same with Nebraska before many days are over.

Hanna Talks Down.

Auburn, Neb., Oct. 20.—The stand from which Hanna addressed five thousand people this afternoon broke down while the senator was in the middle of his speech. Many on the stand fell on him, but he emerged from the wreck with nothing worse than a shaking up, and called it the democratic platform. Excitement was intense, but Hanna finished his speech.

Bryan in York State.

ITALIANS ARRESTED.

General Mix-up in New Orleans Over King Killing.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 20.—Josephine Guilliano, a secret agent of the Italian government, has arrested two respectable Italians here, charging them with being king-killers. The men came here from Baltimore a month ago.

The police began an investigation of Guilliano and arrested him also. After establishing his identity, the agent said that he came here to await the arrival of the ship Semiphere with eleven hundred immigrants from Genoa. He expects to find three notorious anarchists. He says also that fifty special agents of the Italian government were sent to this country to trace the "reds."

Home From Havana.

New York, Oct. 20.—General Wood arrived from Havana this morning. He said he was here at the request of the war department and would go immediately to Washington. He said that the death rate from yellow fever in Cuba is smaller than for many years. The recent increase he attributed to the large immigration of Spaniards who are not immune.

SPOKANE TO PORTLAND.

O. R. & N. Improving Roadbed to Permit Fast Running.

"It has been my dream," said President A. J. Mohler, a short time ago, "to put the O. R. & N. in such physical condition as to reduce the passenger running time between Spokane and Portland to 12 hours."

Mr. Mohler's dream, says the Spokane-Review, is about to be realized. A gentleman who has just come over the road from Portland says that the new construction work done by the O. R. & N. this season has simply been short of marvelous, and that new contracts, aggregating $500,000 worth of work, are being pushed as rapidly as men and money can do it.

"I saw on the line between Portland and The Dalles that the track has been thrown over on to the new grade between Viento and Bonnevillie, and that 1900 Japs are surfacing the road bed with white gravel, taken out of the bed of the Columbia river near The Dalles. The bed is smoothed off on a half curve and lined up 18 inches from the rail in a straight line, making a symmetrical and beautiful perspective and also insuring perfect drainage.

Looks Like Eastern Roads.

The track now looks like the Pennsylvania Central with its three feet of crushed rock road bed and has, by the elimination of curves and bridges, shortened the distance between The Dalles and Portland two miles and at a saving of one hour in time, as soon as the surfacing work is done and the new construction work is completed between Hood River and The Dalles. Here there are about 2000 men at work and in one place, in order to get rid of a double curve, they are making a 600-foot tunnel through a corner of the Cascade mountains.

HURRYING TRANS-ATLANTIC MAILS.

A Railroad of 100 Miles that Will Save Two Day's Time.

To have the fastest ocean ships on the shortest ocean passage, the ambition of Sir Sanford Fleming, and the hope of the commercial world, is much nearer realization today than ever before.

Concessions have just been granted to the Cape Breton Railway Extension company, limited, to aid in the completion of a railway line between Port Hawkesbury and Louisburg, a distance of about 100 miles. This railroad promises to be a small link, but an integral one, in a vast scheme of fast European mail delivery.

The railroad company has made a contract with the Manhattan Contracting company, of this city, to construct the road at a cost of about $30,000 a mile. The Boston Globe is responsible for the statement that it takes the Kaiser Wilhelm or any similar present mail steamer seven days, including the detention at New York, to deliver the English mails in Boston, and it shows how the same vessels could deliver their mails in five days by the Cape Breton route. Speed being the prime consideration in business circles, anything that lessens the gap between the continent is of moment. The faster the travel the more popular the route. With the completion of the new road, quicker connection than now exists will be formed between the United States and Europe, as it is proposed to establish a service of fast steamers between Louisburg and the principal European ports, which will act in conjunction with the railroad.

The distance from Louisburg to England is less than 3000 miles, while from New York it is more than 3000 miles. The ordinary time consumed in the voyage from Louisburg to England will be three to three and one-half days. It now takes the fast steamers from New York to cover the distance to England from 6 1/2 to 7 1/2 days.

By taking a train at New York for Louisburg the passenger will reach that city in from 2 to 2 1/2 days by making connections with the New York Central, Boston & Maine, Canadian Pacific and Intercolonial railways, thus saving in time from 1 1/2 to 2 full days. The result will be that Europe will be reached nearer by that length of time, and that fast traveling mail trains, which will meet every incoming steamer, will carry the mails to their distant destinations along the route, and they will be distributed from 39 to 48 hours in advance of the system at present.—New York Herald.

HOSTILE TO THE RUSSIANS

England and Germany Form an Alliance Aient China.

ASK OTHER POWERS TO SIGN, TOO

World Awaits Slavonic Interpretation at St. Petersburg—Suggested to Preclude England's Monopoly on Yangtze.

London, Oct. 20. A note has been issued by the British foreign office as follows: "As a matter of joint and permanent international interest, the rivers of (Inner) China should remain open to trade and every other legitimate form of economic activity for the nations of all countries. The two governments (England and Germany) agree to uphold the same for all Chinese territory, in so far as they have the influence so to do. The governments of Great Britain and Germany, will not advantage themselves by striving to take territory on account of the present complications. In case another power is using the complications to obtain territorial advantages under any form whatsoever, England and Germany will come to a preliminary understanding as to the eventual step to be taken to protect their own interests in China. England and Germany will invite the powers, especially Austria, France, Italy, Japan, Russia and the United States, to accept the principles of this agreement."

German-English Understanding.

London, Oct. 20.—It is reported that Germany and England have formed an alliance to maintain the territorial integrity of China and to keep the ports open.

It is Hostile to Russia.

London, Oct. 20.—The alliance is undoubtedly directed against the power of Russia, and the reception of the news at St. Petersburg will now hold the world's interest.

Significance—No English Monopoly.

Berlin, Oct. 20.—The importance of the Anglo-German agreement regarding the Chinese "open door" and the non-acquisition of territory, made public today, is the fact that it guarantees that there will be no English monopoly established in the Yangtze valley. The other powers are to be asked to sign the agreement. Germany and England reserve the right to protect their own interests in China in case the other powers seek to gain territory.
