

Ladies Welts

A new line just in, from $3.00 to $5.00 per pair.

Nothing better in the market.
Snappy up-to-date stylish goods.
Call and see them.

CLEAVER BROS.

The Boot and Shoe Men.

433 Main Street, Pendleton, Oregon

REVIEWS.

Bailev & Zehner, choice cigars.
Coyote scalps and warrants bought.
Peter West.

Best set teeth $3, at Dr. Whitaker's, warranted and guaranteed.
Ice cream, chocolates, Candy Dutton's own make. They are awfully nice.

Three nice dwelling houses for sale, on reasonable terms. Inquire of H. J.
Boan.

The Columbia, Main street, newly fitted. Fine wines, liquors and cigars.
F. X. Schenck, proprietor.

Sweet pickles, sour pickles, Dill pickles and olives in bulk at G. R.
Demott's. Very fancy goods.

Nice furnished rooms at reasonable rates, by the night or week, in the new Penn building over St. Joe store.

If you have a house to paint or a room to paper, a picture to frame, a little plumbing to be looked after go and see C. Sharp, opera house block, Court street.

The best method of cleansing the liver is the use of the famous Little Pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Easy to take. Never gripe.
Tallman & Co., leading druggists.

If you are thinking of having your house papered, you should "look out for wall paper," at E. J. Murphy's.
He has a large assortment of stock and is making lower prices than ever before offered in Pendleton.

After disposing of half my stock to Mr. A. M. Fletcher I will be found at my new shop at my residence, continuing to paint houses and hang paper.
Best of work guaranteed. Sign and carriage work a specialty. Chas. Lane.

It is well to know that DeWitt's Hazel Salve will heal a burn and stop the pain at once. It will cure eczema and skin diseases and ugly wounds and sores. It is a certain cure for piles.
Counterfeits may be offered, you see that you get the original DeWitt's Hazel Salve. Tallman & Co., leading druggists.

Tallman & Co.

Leading Druggists
and dealers in School Supplies

Extra fine line of Ladies' Fashionable Stationary
Latest in fold and tint.

Cor. Main and Alta St. Pendleton.

THE BEST

$2.50

SHOE

ON EARTH
For Man or Woman.

The Peoples Warehouse

SHOE STORE.

716 Main Street, Pendleton, Oregon.

Born, Wednesday, October 10, to Mr. and Mrs. Seth Richardson, a boy.

Ladies' or gents' purses, 3c to $1.45.
New line bound books 15c up. Noll's.

Why pay $12 to $20 for a set of teeth, when you can get the very best at Dr. Whitaker for $5.

Some member of the Owl Dinner Set Club will get an 100-piece dinner set Saturday night for $1.

The best teeth cost the dentist $1.75 per set, and plate costs 10c and Whitaker charges $5 for set and guaranteed.

The largest Key West cigars in town for 10 cents; Henry the Fourth and El Sidoio at Mark Patton's cigar store.

If you want nice bulk maple syrup, molasses and sorghum, you should go to Demott's. These are an extra fine quality of goods.

A pretty china or Queensware dinner set makes a nice Christmas present.
Join the Owl Dinner Set Club and get one for your wife.

An experienced dressmaker wishes to do sewing by the day. Inquire at the office of E. L. Smith's implement house, Court street.

Shooting tomorrow at the grounds at 1 o'clock with rifle and shotgun.
Handicap shooting at bluebirds for turkeys and jackrabbits.

Fresh Olympia oysters and clams received every Tuesday and Wednesday at the Empire Meat Market, Schwars & Greulich, proprietors.

County Treasurer Vares has issued a call for all warrants issued prior to May, 1898. They will be paid upon presentation to him at his office at the court house.

This is the season when mothers are alarmed on account of croup. It is quickly cured by One Minute Cough Cure, which children like to take.
Tallman & Co., leading druggists.

Charles Schuman was arrested at McKay creek near Meacham station Thursday and brought to this city yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Painter to answer to the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Heppner Times: The assets of B. F.
Miller, state contractor between Heppner and Canyon City, were sold at Heppner yesterday and brought $788. Miller's total indebtedness was $12,000. He is a son of G. W. Miller of this city.

A game of football has been arranged for Sunday afternoon, October 28, between the Intermountain team and one composed of Indians from the Umatilla agency. An admission fee of 15 cents will be charged, spectators to pay expenses of the visitors.

The game of football at Heppner on Friday October 19, between the team of that place and the Walla Walla high school team, was hot and hard fought. It resulted in a tie score, 0 to 0. Many brilliant plays were made and at no time was either team in danger of being scored against.

Some of the witnesses in the case of the state versus Columbia George and Tos-Tov, charged with the murder of Annie Edna on August 24 last, have backslid. They are being rounded up by the officials today so they can be found in court Monday when the case is called.

Heppner Times: If there is a man who doubts that sheep-raising in Eastern Oregon is a paying business, let him ask Geo. Hufford about it.
George has a handsome profit to show for the few years' work he put in, and speaks in the highest terms of his late partner, Case Matlock.

Union Republican: We were aware that the Walla Walla News, that a great number of hogs were going out of this section but were somewhat surprised to learn that McDonald Bros. had shipped 1037 head and the Walla Walla Mercantile Co. 1075 already this season. Hogs at the present prevailing high price are worth raising. In fact, year in and year out there is a kind of stock that will pay the farmer better.

Do not get scared if your heart troubles you. Most likely you suffer from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and gives the worn out stomach perfect rest. It is the only preparation known that completely digests all classes of foods; that is why it cures the worst cases of indigestion and stomach trouble after everything else has failed. It may be taken in all conditions and cannot help but do you good. Tallman & Co.,
leading druggists.

Cattle thieves received a hard blow at the present terms of court in Union and Umatilla counties. Four arrested in a bunch were all landed in the penitentiary. William Gray for two years and Aaron Beck for four years were sentenced in Union, while Frank H.
Childers and James Cardwell received their six years' each from Judge Ellis.

They composed a gang that has been operating in these two counties for months, and one strange feature of the case is that Childers is the nephew of T. T. Glenn, of Summerville, who was prosecuting witness against the young men.

Heppner Times: Little eight-year-old Lawrence Shutt, who on account of his defective eyesight, has already experienced a great deal of the bitterness of life, was unfortunately caught last Saturday evening to fall off a ladder and break his left arm in two places at the elbow joint. The ladder was leaned against the fence, and the boy's gymnastic nature prompted him to walk up the same. He got too far over on the other side and the ladder tipped up, throwing the boy to the ground, a distance of five or six feet, with the above results. Dr. Kistner administered the proper treatment, and the little fellow is getting along as well as could be expected, enduring his suffering with considerable fortitude for one of his age.

Church Announcements.
Church of the Redeemer—Services will be held tomorrow at hours as follows: Sunday school at 10 a. m.
Liturgy, sermon and Holy Communion, at 11 a. m. Evening prayer at 7:30 followed by an address. There will be a meeting of the confirmation class at the church at 4 p. m.

M. E. church, south—Sunday school 10 a. m., preaching 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Midweek prayer meeting Wednesday, 7:30 p. m. Everybody invited to all services and especially the stranger in the city.

The special meetings which have been in progress for the past three weeks at the Baptist church, and which have resulted in a large number of additions to the church, will close tomorrow (Sunday) evening. Rev. Holman B.
Turner of Walla Walla, who has been doing the preaching, will preach at 11 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. "What Men Take With Them When They Leave this Life," will be the morning subject. The evening subject will be "God's Last Argument."

ALL THE NEWS! Take the East Oregonian. Daily $5.00 a year; by mail, Weekly $1.50, and Semi-Weekly $2.00 a year. Sample copy free.

VERDICT—MURDER SECOND DEGREE

MRS. MINNIE CROCKETT HAS BEEN CONVICTED.

Penalty is Life Imprisonment—Case to Be Appealed to Supreme Court.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, the jury in the Crockett case came into court.
The accused, Mrs. Minnie Crockett was brought in by Sheriff William Blakely. Judge W. R. Ellis was on the bench; Prosecuting Attorney T. G.
Hailey and John McCourt, for the state, and James H. Raley, for the defense were present; and a small number of spectators.

Mrs. Crockett was told to stand. She made an effort as though to get up, but failed. Sheriff Blakely and Mr.
Raley assisted her to arise, and supported her on either side. The jurors were polled and the verdict signed by E. T. Wade as foreman was read.

"Guilty of murder in the second degree."

A chill passed over the spectators, but still the woman convicted of the terrible charge gave no sign of interest more than she has shown during the progress of the trial and at all times since the killing early on the morning of October.

The jurors were asked by Judge Ellis if that was their verdict, and all answered affirmatively. They were discharged.

The prisoner was conducted from the court room by Sheriff Blakely, and the trial was over.

Mr. Raley Satisfied.
Prosecuting Attorney Hailey expressed perfect satisfaction with the verdict and believed that it would be similarly received by the public.

Will Fight to the End.
Colonel Raley for the defense said:
"I believe the woman innocent and will prosecute and defend her to the end and carry it on as long as there is a court to which to appeal. I cannot state positively when these proceedings will be had, but I will have to have a little time in which to prepare."

Time of Sentence.
Judge Ellis was asked when sentence would be passed. This was before Mr. Raley had expressed himself to reporter of the East Oregonian. The jury replied that he would be in no hurry to pass sentence; that he would give the defense all the time necessary to take what action they might deem proper in the matter.

ARGUMENT OF COUNSEL.
Addresses of Attorneys Were Masterly Presentations of the Case.

On Friday afternoon at 15 minutes to 3, prosecution and defense having rested, the opening argument of the prosecution was commenced by John Mccourt, who came into the case late to assist the district attorney. Mr.
Mccourt related to the jury the story of the crime as it had been brought out by the testimony and continued an hour of time in his effort.

Mr. McCourt was followed by Col.
James H. Raley for the defense. The colonel was at his best. His analysis of the evidence and the manner in which he presented the testimony to the jury were indubitable evidence of his ability and skill. He powerfully swayed the audience and jury, made prominent and clear the incomprehensibility of the theory of murder and the home life of defendant. He paid a glowing tribute to the prosecution for the able and conscientious manner in which the case had been handled, but in masterly manner picked out the weak places with that same consum-mate skill that has placed him in the front rank of the criminal lawyers of this section of the state. He held the attention of his hearers for one hour.

Closing Argument.
Prosecuting Attorney T. G. Hailey closed the argument, and he did it in such a brilliant way that even his most adversaries were surprised. If there was anything in the testimony that suggested murder, it was held up to the gaze of the jury so as to be most plainly seen; if anything contrary to the theory of suicide, it was brought out with great clearness. His scathing arraignment of the accused for her denial of having purchased the pistol with which the killing had been done was one of the most terrible to which those present had ever listened.

As an offset to Colonel Raley's fine word painting of the peace and contentment of the happy home presided over by a loving wife and mother, he etched a picture upon the brains of his hearers of a fiend incarnate ruthlessly and in-cold blood murdering the father of her children, the man whom she had sworn to love, honor and obey. It is not too much to say for Mr. Hailey that all the evidence possible was produced and that it was presented in its full force to the jury.

JUDGE'S CHARGES.
Usual Instructions for Such Cases Were Given.

Judge W. R. Ellis delivered his charge to the jury to which they paid the closest attention. It covered the points provided by the statutes and a few special points asked for by counsel. But a few of these can be here pointed out:

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory statements do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in evidence, such statements do not, as a matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the statements thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or
presumption to be drawn therefrom is
one of fact for the jury; therefore, if
you find from the evidence in this case
that the defendant has made false or
contradictory statements concerning her
knowledge of the pistol offered in
evidence, such statements do not, as a
matter of law, tend to show her
guilt, but any inference to be drawn
therefrom is one of fact, the weight of
which is to be determined by you; and
in determining such inference, you
may take into consideration the state-
ments thereof received in evidence in
this case."

"I instruct you, gentlemen of the
jury, that false or contradictory state-
ments do not, as a matter of law, tend
to show guilt, and the inference or presumption to be drawn therefrom