A shipment of $10,000 in silver was made by the Yakima National bank Thursday. The money was consigned to banks in Seattle and Tacoma, where it is sent for safety. The money was originally shipped in for use in the hopyards. After hoppicking it was deposited by the business men and pickers, and had not been drawn out for use in the regular trade. One bank had over two tons of silver dollars on deposit before the hoppicking season opened, and much of it has been returned as deposits.

BILL OF THE PLAY.

Enthusiasm Over the Work of "A Young Wife" Company.

An audience taxing the capacity of Frazer opera house gathered on Wednesday night to witness the Frank Tannehill, jr., company's production of "A Young Wife." The play was highly endorsed by the large majority of those present, both as to the literary and dramatic merit of the piece and the excellence of the actors.

Miss Etheiyn Palmer, in the title role, easily won the honors of the evening, and should be starred in the company's announcements. One enthusiastic person said her work was an approximation of that of Blanche Walsh in intensity, and portrayed in correct pictures the thoughts and feelings and emotions of womanhood as a sex. Several curtain calls evinced the unusual degree of endorsement given by the audience.

Coming Attractions.

"Uncle Josh Spruceby," on October 29, Monday.

"A Wise Guy," on October 31, Wednesday.

"Uncle Josh Spruceby" is a New England comedy-drama and brings an excellent band and orchestra.

"A Wise Guy" is something novel in dramatic composition. It is a musical comedy, with some specialties which add to the strength of the production. Wm. Sellery as the "Spike Hennessey" and Anna Mortland in the leading role are strong with the balance of the company first-class vaudeville artists who will make a night pass pleasantly for all who are at the Frazer on Wednesday night.

Cove Fruit Dryer Burned.

The fruit dryer at Cove was totally destroyed by fire last night with 110 sacks of dried fruit and 40 tons in the dryer and being dryed, says the La Grande Chronicle. The dryer was commenced some two years ago but was not finished until this fall and was considered one of the best equipped and largest dryers in Eastern Oregon and its loss will be severely felt by the people throughout Grande Ronde, particularly to those of Cove who raise large quantities of prunes and other fruits. The loss is partially covered by an insurance of $4000.

CASE OF TOY TOY.

Trial of Indian Jointly Indicted With Columbia George.

The trial of Toy-Toy, jointly indicted with Columbia George for the murder of Annie Edna on August 24 last, by administering strychnine, occupied the attention of circuit court all day Wednesday and is making slow progress today. The entire time Wednesday was spent in securing jurors, and when it came time to adjourn after 6 o'clock in the evening the requisite dozen had not been secured. The last of the 12 was selected this morning, and the jury is composed of the following:

Max Morehead, Julius Hudemann, T. T. Nelson, Louis Hagen, R. H. Semple, Thomas Baker, J. S. Matthews, S. B. Neil, David Nelson, Frank Snyder, C. L. Hastings and Ed Morehead.

After opening statements by prosecution and defense, the testimony of witnesses was proceeded with. B. F. McElroy, A. P. Woodard, Jay McElroy and Chief of Indian Police Ed Brisbow were on the stand in the above order. The testimony of Mr. McElroy and his son Jay was practically the same as in the Columbia George case, with fewer details, perhaps.

A. P. Woodward's testimony was very exciting, when he related the story of the death of Annie Edna. He was present on that important occasion and heard her ejaculations regarding approaching death. Being an Indian, she of course used that language in expressing her horror of the swiftly approaching event. Mr. Woodward has spent the greater part of his life with Indians and understands and speaks the languages of different tribes, with the Chinook jargon. He repeated the exact words of the dying woman and then translated them for the benefit of court, counsel, jury and spectators. It injected considerable life into the proceedings which were becoming monotonous.

After Mr. Brisbow had completed his testimony, counsel for the prosecution proposed to call Ty-ko-ne, an Indian, as a witness. Counsel for defense did not wish to have only one interpreter who had been a witness in the preceding case, and who was liable to be called in this case also. They wanted two interpreters, so one could check the other, and insure the testimony getting to the court and jury as told by the witness. Mr. Hailey acquiesced and at 11:20 an adjournment was taken to 1 o'clock, to afford time to secure a suitable pair of interpreters.

Thursday Afternoon.

The first impediment to progress in the Toy-Toy case this afternoon was delay over arrival of a suitable interpreter. Fred E. Parr finally arrived and was sworn. Colonel Parsons then asked to have Paul Showaway also sworn as an interpreter to see that the answers and questions were correctly translated. District Attorney Hailey opposed the swearing of two interpreters, but said he had no objection to Showaway sitting alongside Mr. Parr as a witness and checking the conversation. It was decided to have the trial proceed that way, and Judge Ellis asked Mr. Showaway to step forward. The chief was standing in the back part of the courtroom, and didn't recognize himself by that name, but when Mr. Hailey yelled "Yellow Paw," he sauntered carelessly, yet gracefully, to the front, and took his seat by the side of Mr. Parr. In the meantime Ty-ko-ne had been sworn and had taken his seat next to Mr. Parr. The examination in chief of the witness was proceeded with. He answered the questions propounded, the result being practically a repetition of his story as related in the case of the state vs. Columbia George on Tuesday of this week.

Defense is objecting in every way to introduction of testimony tending to connect Toy-Toy with the crime.

The case will, from present outlook, be given to the jury, late this evening or not until Friday forenoon.

At about 3 o'clock this afternoon, the proceedings were enlivened by the calling of Columbia George as a witness for defense, and the entrance of perhaps 150 school children from the seventh to the eleventh grades, inclusive. The latter took away the gloomy appearance of the court room, as the children were apparently more curious than sympathetic, and gave evidence of exuberant spirits. Colonel Parsons objected to allowing Columbia George, co-defendant, who had been convicted the day before of murder in the first degree, to testify, and the question was being debated at 3:20.

Georgia Showers.

The Georgia shower is a peculiar one, and sometimes a single day has a score of them. It is on you before you know it. For a few moments the lightning flashes, the thunder rolls and the rain falls, and it is apt to cease as suddenly. Out comes the sun again as smiling and serene as though no great damage had been done to the crops. There is something else that comes on one unawares, and that is dyspepsia. Many people have suffered years from this complaint, because they have allowed indigestion, constipation and biliousness to become chronic. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be taken at the first sign of indigestion. It will strengthen your stomach and produce sound sleep, and good health must naturally follow.

PEOPLE HERE FOR A DAY.

Rev. John Warren, of Athena, was in Pendleton Wednesday, having come over from Walla Walla, where his son Bert has recently undergone an operation for appendicitis. The young man is recovering nicely. Rev. Warren has returned to Walla Walla and will hold services there Sunday for Rev. Andreas Bard, at St. Paul's church. Rev. Mr. Bard will come to Pendleton and hold services at the Church of the Redeemer on Sunday, while Rev. W. E. Potwine will leave Saturday morning for Heppner to remain over Sunday and conduct services.

Dan Kirk, who is here today from the East End, believes that the copious rains now falling are by no means beneficial to the farmers. Usually, rain is desired in Umatilla county, but now, with the weeds getting a firm hold and the farmer unable to dislodge them because the ground is so muddy, the rains do not appeal to people as a good thing. The seeding, too, is stopped by the rainy weather, says Mr. Kirk, and it is feared that a large area of land intended for summer fallowing will be carried through the winter and be seeded in the spring.

James William Welch, grand master for Oregon of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was in Pendleton yesterday and officially visited Eureka and Integrity lodges in joint session last night. After that a dozen or so of the leading Odd Fellows enjoyed a nice spread at the St. George restaurant. Mr. Welch will leave on the train at 5:20 and meet this evening with Weston Odd Fellows; Athena Friday night; Helix Saturday night; and will take the early morning train Sunday for La Grande.

Personal Mention.

James Washington came home this morning from Kansas City.

Chas. Proebstel has returned home to Lostine, after a visit here and in Weston.

Mrs. A. E. Cherry, of Portland, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Slater.

Tassey Stewart, the well known farmer of Helix, has gone to McMinnville for an extended visit.

Miss Frances Todd, who has been threatened with an attack of typhoid fever, has averted the danger and is recovering.

John L. Cox is here from Dixie ranch in Camas Prairie, en route to Portland where he will be a guest of L. B. Cox, his brother.

Kim Morton, of Echo, is in Pendleton today. He says the happenings there recently have been of the commonplace kind. He is a prosperous farmer and stockman.

S. A. Lowell is absent on a trip making speeches for the republican party. He will close the campaign with an addresss at Astoria on Saturday evening, November 3.

J. H. Robbins arrived this morning from Sumpter, and is a guest in the home of W. D. Hansford. Mrs. Robbins has been here for several days, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hansford.

Al Despain arrived home this morning and will remain during the winter. He has been at his mining claims near Lawton and Granite for the most of the time during the past summer and will go back next spring. He spent part of his time last summer in the Stein mountains, prospecting, hunting and fishing.

Mrs. W. H. Street, Miss Constance Street and the three younger children have arrived from Portland, and will remain here permanently. Mr. Street accompanied them from Portland. Mr. Street has been appointed Eastern Oregon representative of the Union Mutual Aid Society, making Pendleton his headquarters. He has sent 125 names to Portland of members secured in Pendleton, and is enrolling new names every day.

THE JUDGE DIED.

And a Condemned Negro Therefore Goes Free From the Gallows.

A special to the Chicago Record from Wheeling, W. Va., says:

Just a year ago the circuit court of Fayette county, Judge Montgomery presiding, sentenced Lud Madison, colored, to be hanged January 14 in the state penitentiary at Moundsville, for the murder of another negro. Two days before the date of the execution Governor Atkinson issued a respite for nine days. The judge who sentenced him died before the reprieve expired.

Two weeks ago Madison's case was forced upon the authorities by a report of it to Governor Atkinson. The governor decided that the judge being dead and the time for resentence having passed, no one can now resentence Madison. Further, the date of legal death having passed, Madison cannot be hanged on the original sentence. As he was never sentenced to imprisonment, he cannot be kept in the penitentiary, so Madison will probably be released in a few days.

In the Portland Museum.

Recently the museum in Portland, Oregon, received an interesting addition. It is a slab taken from a petrified stump on the Columbia river near Bonneville, Oregon. Professor Joseph LeConte, the celebrated geologist of the University of California, and other experts who have investigated the slab, claim that it came from an old forest level that had been covered up by lava. The Columbia cut through and exposed this level. In some places are found great petrified trees and ancient vegetation. This particular locality is to have a sign, so that passersby will have their attention called to it.
