LIVESTOCK NOTES.

Harney Cattle to Winter on Butter Creek—Fat Beef Scarce.

Heppner correspondence Oregonian: John Blackwell is headed this way with 600 head of cattle, which he purchased in Harney county. Three hundred will be driven to Butter creek, northeast of Heppner, where they will be fattened for spring markets. The remainder of the band will be at once shipped to the Portland market.

James Johnson sold a big bunch of beef cattle here yesterday to the Union Meat company.

Large numbers of lambs have been lost from the bands being brought from the mountains this fall, and the coyotes have been feasting on the strays. The band belonging to Bartholomew Bros. and J. Q. Wilson lost 324 out of 6208. When the count was made at Heppner, Walter Bartholomew returned to hunt the strays, and after some little trouble located 200 of the number, and found the carcasses of the remainder of the band.

Henry Schirzinger, stock inspector for Morrow county, is starting out again to make a complete inspection of sheep in the county.

Wallowa News: Fat beef cattle are reported to be getting scarce in the southeastern counties. It does seem that they would also all be sold from this county at the rate at which they have been going out. Still we are informed there are a goodly number of them yet, and if such is the condition of things in Southeastern Oregon, prices may advance higher in this section.

Daughtry, the purchaser for the Tacoma Meat Co., and C. Ennis, the Walla Walla butcher, received a large number of beef cattle here from Chas. Holmes and Theo. Schleur who had purchased them of other cattlemen of the county. Some of those of whom purchases were made, were the Wornock Bros. of Innaha, Geo. Wolfe and John Woods.

PAYING OUT.

A Pendleton Man Whose Circumstances Have Changed.

Several years ago W. W. Roper, of this city, was somewhat discouraged and disgusted, knowing that he was deeply in debt, his real estate mortgaged, and chances slim for being able to pay out. Among the judgments against him were the following: J. H. Raley, $1917.60; American Freehold Mortgage Co., $1102.07; Jarvis-Conklin Mortgage Co., $2635.90; School land commissioners, $1482.86. Mr. Roper is at present in pretty good humor, for he has discovered that his mortgaged real estate has increased in value so as to be sufficient to pay off the debts. Some of the old personal debts of Mr. Roper have been outlawed, but he is paying them off together, nevertheless. Payments are being made monthly, and in the course of time Mr. Roper will be in good shape.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

Local Situation Offers Some Features—Little Encouragement in Wheat.

Pendleton, Nov. 1.—There is nothing to report in regard to the price of wheat. No. 1 club and red chaff are quoted at 42c, with bluestem a couple of cents higher. Eastern and foreign markets have advanced 2c per bushel during the past four days, owing to rumors of damage to the Argentine crop, which is at a critical period of its growth. Barley is quiet also, and still quoted nominally at 55 to 60c per hundred weight.

Apples of unusually good quality have been obtainable here this fall. They are quotable at 60 to 65c per box.

Other local retail prices are:

Lemons, 40c per doz.
Oranges, 50c per doz.
Eggs, 30c per doz.
Butter, dairy, 50 to 60c per roll; creamery, 50 to 60c per roll.
Flour, per sack, 80c.
Cheese, 20c per pound.
Potatoes, 65c per sack.
Sweet potatoes, 5c per pound.
Celery, 5c per doz.
Poultry, chickens, per doz., $3 to $3.50.
Turkeys, alive, 8c per pound; dressed, 10c per pound.
Geese, 10c per pound.
Ducks, $4 per dozen.

PORTLAND WHEAT REVIEW.

Promise of Small Betterment to the Holding Interest.

Portland, Nov. 1.—The Commercial Review says: The markets here and all over the world are extremely dull. Eastern and foreign markets especially have been decidedly weaker, resulting in lower values all around. Trading here is very inactive and sellers are slow to accept the situation, but exporters are very indifferent whether they buy or not, and will not pay above the ruling price unless for future business. It must be admitted that at present there is little encouragement in foreign or Eastern advances favorable to the holding interest. Stocks of wheat in all leading European ports continue heavy, while exporting countries are rushing supplies to market, and a free selling movement seems to be general. With perhaps the largest stocks "in sight" known in the history of the trade so early in the season, and a growing impression that this year's crop will amply meet the world's requirements, it is not surprising that buyers move cautiously and that whatever strength should develop as the season passes will be of slow growth. The difference between Valley and Walla Walla in this market is very wide this season, owing to the short crop of the former, and exporters are unable to buy, as millers pay fully 6 to 7c per bushel more than the value of Walla Walla. As to quotations on the market, we can only give figures representing the value of the article for export based on cost, freight and insurance, and selling price abroad, which would make club or Walla Walla wheat worth 52c and 53c per bushel, Bluestem 55 and 56c. Valley for shipment not quoted, but millers are paying 60c and 61c for the same per bushel. Some parties have been paying higher prices, but the firms that have done so must need wheat in the future, as all exporters are overstocked for all the present or nearby overdue ships.

George A. Hartman, jr., has purchased a half interest in the Hartman Abstract company, and will be active in the management of the affairs of that corporation, associated with his father, the county judge, and Lee Held. The senior Mr. Hartman will remain president of the company, while the junior will succeed J. H. Raley as vice-president. Mr. Raley has been only a nominal owner in the company, and his withdrawal will be practically only a withdrawal of name. Mr. Held will retain his position as secretary.

John T. Lambirth, for six years the efficient and energetic deputy county clerk under Ben S. Burrough, succeeds G. A. Hartman, jr., as exchange teller in the First National bank.

Both Mr. Hartman and Mr. Lambirth have excellent reputations as to their business qualifications, so that success is confidently predicted for them in their new positions.

SUCCESSFUL INSTITUTION.

Redmen Have a Fine Time on Trip to Athena.

Between 40 and 50 Redmen of the local tribe went to Athena on an excursion last evening, leaving here about 6:30. The object of their trip was to assist Grand Sachem Cherry in installing a tribe of Redmen there. Efforts were eminently successful. The tribe starts off with a membership of something like 45. They could have had more members than that if they had so desired, but didn't think they needed them.

Following is a partial list of officers installed: Sachem, James Brittan; prophet, Dave Love; senior sagamore, William Wells; chief of records, Mr. Collins; keeper of wampum, Joe Baddeley.

The Pendleton excursionists started home at 1:30 a. m. The greatest satisfaction is expressed on all sides at the manner in which the evening's exercises were carried out, and it was pleasant for all.
