Lowell will deliver an address in the opera house, after which will occur the demonstration in the lodge room. Milton has an enthusiastic escampment, and it is not at all unlikely that a number will go up from Pendleton to be present on this occasion.

John Lyons died at his home in Pendleton on Tuesday evening, November 6, of paralysis, aged about 44 years. He had worked at farming for years with John Duncan, Bill Turner and others, and was well known to many farmers north and west of Pendleton. His relatives reside in Illinois. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon from M. A. Baker's undertaking establishment, corner of Main and Webb streets. T. E. James has entered into correspondence with eastern relatives regarding the sad event.

C. E. Hastings and David Hartless got into trouble Wednesday on account of a revolver which they were carrying. Marshal Heathman put William Hickey on their trail. As Mr. Hickey came up with them Hartless passed the revolver to Hastings. Both men were taken before Justice Fitzgerald, and after the matter had been thoroughly ventilated Mr. Hastings was fined $25.

Attorneys, justices of the peace and many other citizens of Pendleton declare the habit of carrying concealed weapons to be a pernicious one. The attorney called to defend these two young men told the court that in his opinion any person who would carry a revolver in a civilized community like this, should be fined.

BRUCE BLOCK TRANSFER.

Purchased by Jack F. Robinson, of the Domestic Laundry.

The Bruce block, northeast corner of Court and Thompson streets, has been purchased by Jack F. Robinson, of the Domestic Laundry, the deal being closed Wednesday. The property purchased comprises 50 feet front on Court street, and 100 feet back on Thompson street, to the alley. The parties who sold are Frank Lord and the heirs of Daniel Lord, all of Greater New York. They obtained possession of the property by foreclosure of a mortgage given by Robert Bruce. The purchase price was $5000, while the building itself is said to have cost $8000, less than 10 years ago.

Notes From Ukiah.

Ukiah, Nov. 8.—Cassas Prairie may justly be said to be booming. Cattle are brought here from the John Day country, weighed and sold. In fact, Ukiah is a point where many sales of stock are consummated. Cattle interests never looked better than at present. William Casey recently brought 30 head of 3-year-olds here and sold them by live weight. The highest price annual in the bunch brought $42; calves were sold for $15 apiece.

J. H. Deepath has welcomed his father and brother to Ukiah from the state of Washington, near Spokane. It is thought they will make this section of the country their home.

Dr. M. Y. Talley has decided to leave this city and will go to Walla Walla in January and practice his profession. Dr. W. E. Perry, of Pendleton, is expected here to succeed Dr. Talley.

QUEEN SAVES A LIFE.

Marie Amelle of Portland Rescues a Drowning Man.

Liebert, Nov. 8.—On Tuesday last Queen Marie Amelle saved a life from the jaws of death. She was on the beach at Clatskanie, where the royal family are staying.

The fisherman had just landed the queen from a rowboat and was turning around when the boat capsized and he was thrown into the water.

Her majesty, who is a good swimmer, plunged into the water and rescued the Catalan who was sinking. With the assistance of two other fishermen she brought him ashore.

READY FOR BUSINESS.
