THE HACK ROLLED OVER.

Mrs. Jessie S. Vort Nicely Alighted Prior to Accident.

Mrs. Jessie S. Vort had an experience recently while traveling from Prairie City to Sumpter, which would have undoubtedly resulted in disaster had it not been for her calm and clear judgment and wisdom. She is worthy grand matron of the state of Oregon of the Order of Eastern Star. Having finished her fraternity business at Prairie City she started in a hack for Sumpter and was the only passenger. When near the summit of the mountain on the way toward Sumpter a number of freight trains were met, which necessitated the driving of the hack team up an almost perpendicular embankment while the freight teams passed. The driver told Mrs. Vort to remain seated in the hack, that there was no danger. Mrs. Vort did not trust to the judgment of the driver, however, so leaped to be excused, stating that she would prefer to stand in the snow for a few minutes, rather than take chances. The hack and team went up the embankment and the freight teams passed without incident. In turning the team to get back into the trail the hack was upset and rolled over, while all the baggage, boxes and valises were thrown out. The teamsters turned in and assisted the hack-driver to right the vehicle.

Mrs. Vort went on to Sumpter, where she made a pleasant visit, being the guest of Mrs. Thomas McKee. There are a number of ladies in Sumpter who are members of the Order of Eastern Star, and who discussed with the grand worthy matron the feasibility of organizing a chapter there.

There is a prospect also of establishing a chapter of the order at Oostburg, Malheur county, about the middle of December.

At Sumpter Mrs. Vort was the guest of honor at a reception given in the club rooms on Thursday evening, November 22, which was largely attended by Master Masons and their wives, daughters, mothers and sisters.

Mrs. Vort arrived at Baker City on Friday of this week and is a guest of Mrs. James P. Faull, sister of Mrs. J. P. Rushee, of this city.

The German Soldier.

Small as is the wage received by the German soldier, yet the army regulations guard it jealously, for frugality is part of the training. Each soldier places his money in a little bag suspended from a string around his neck.

At any time during inspection the officer may demand to have the bag opened, and it is found that any soldier spends his 6 cents a day wages too rapidly, the link of the discipline which might be had for 6 cents a day—he is reprimanded and punished.

He must make his wages, small as they are, cover his expenses; he must not spend them instantly for beer.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

WHEREAS, the American people are too much engrossed by pecuniary affairs to remember their numerous reasons for being thankful once a year; and Whereas, custom requires that some one should annually remind them of their obligations; now WE, the appointed regulator of national affairs, to-wit: THE OWL, being fully apprised of the uncertainty of human calculations, prosperity, and the collection of debts; and being of sound mind and wind; by virtue of the powers vested in us do appoint Thursday, the 23rd day of November, to be observed by all citizens of Pendleton, Porto Rico, the Sandwich Islands and the Philippines, without distinction of race, temper, color of hair or politics, as a day of Thanksgiving and Humiliating stuffing.

Let us be thankful for the humid summer, that it has passed; for the privilege of buying coal instead of locs for the report that the Chinese are tired of Gunpowder tea; for liberty to breathe the air of freedom without charge, and for THE OWL.
