WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1900.

The complete returns of the late election shows that by a change of 75,000 votes from McKinley to Bryan in eleven states would have elected the latter. President McKinley receives a popular plurality of 750,000, an increase of about 150,000 over that of 1896.

The success of Quay in Pennsylvania, Clark in Montana and Adkins in Delaware, from which they are to draw seats in the United States senate, should increase the popular demand for election of senators by direct vote of the people. The more indirect methods are, the more rascality flourishes in politics as well as in all the other walks of life. Indirectness gives the rascal a chance to operate without being plainly seen and in the event that he is caught in the act to lay the blame on some other fellow, to his unknown.

The American people are now informed in all seriousness that the British government has concluded to allow Lord Kitchener to adopt his policy of depopulating the Boer towns which continue to manifest indifference to the blessings of British rule. In other words the reconcentration policy of the Spanish brute Weyler in Cuba is to be put in force in South Africa and probably it will not be long before the same policy will be announced for the Philippines, and this in the face of the fact that we drove Weyler and his gang of outcasts out of Cuba and promised her people freedom and independence which have not as yet been given them, and there is some reason now for believing that this promise is never to be fulfilled.

The brutal exhibition of six or more women riding in a six-days' bicycle race in New York has been fully reported by the press associations. It is stated that crowds of people have witnessed the painful exertions of the misguided beings in female form and applauded the haggard and exhausted wretches who have remained upon their bicycles. Talk about the brutalities of a Spanish bull fight or the prize ring, they are not in it with this bicycle exhibition with its six or more female victims whose lives are being ridden out of them before assembled multitudes that they may win a so-called championship and gain a few dirty dollars. If bull fights and prize contests shall be prohibited by law why not these six day matches also?

The Portland Oregonian has probably by this time discovered that the mob which burned the negro wretch Porter at the stake in Colorado was not populists, but for the most part was composed of republicans; that the county in which the horrible affair happened is not a populist county, but a republican county; and that even the sheriff, whom the Oregonian arraigned, is not a populist, but a republican. With this information before it the Portland paper should be able to rearrange its editorial mind so as to perceive clearly hereafter that the burning of negroes at the stake is not a practice indulged in only by those who supported Bryan at the polls. If this reform cannot be effected with the editorial mind in question it should be taken before the proper authorities and adjudged insane and committed to some asylum where it belongs.

The McKinley administration is becoming alarmed at the prospect of being forced by "destiny" to participate in the division of China. In connection with the settlement of the Chinese problem a very skillful game of politics and diplomacy is being played. There is reason to believe that the administration is carrying water on both shoulders in connection with its "colonial policies," under which head the Chinese problem is listed. The plan now is to keep the people in the dark as to the real intentions of the government and silently and deftly participate in the distribution of any of the favors of imperialism in China, the Philippines or elsewhere. The colonial system is to be put in operation gradually. There is no intention of ever allowing the Philippines to be a state or even a territory. They are to be governed by this country and if the Porto Rico test case holds they are to have the benefit of a tariff similar to that in force in that island. The administration is reported to be confident of winning the Porto Rico contention, and, if it does, the Philippines and China—when China or so much of it as is ours—will have tariffs also. In short, the governments of these various possessions will be included after the British colonial government of Canada. "Improved experiences may suggest and conditions demand." When the time comes to take "a slice of China," as President McKinley believes it will come, it will be taken, probably, with a very face outwardly that the American people may be led to believe that nothing else could be done, but with great gloe inwardly, that those within the favored circle may participate in the good things of the new possessions. A great game is being played right under the eyes of the people, and with the aid of their great resources, but the benefits are not to be shared by them, only to the extent of seeing old glory fly from a new flag pole or two.

GLIMPSES AT A GOOD READING.
Intellectual substitutes for the saloon is the question foremost in the minds of rational temperance workers. A partial report of the ethical subcommittee of the committee of fifty, that has been investigating the problem, appears in the American Journal of Sociology for November. The locality about the Chicago common was the field of research. It is in the heart of the industrial district of the Seventeenth ward, and has been adjudged one of the very best laboratories for the study of social problems in America.

All preconceived ideas of the saloon were cast aside. Only actual facts on the basis of precise observation were taken. Pictures drawn by lecturers of places "where the settled boozers gather nightly at the bar," and other trivial regular connections intended to arouse public sentiment, were criticized as not being true to real conditions. "The saloon is an institution grown up among the people, not only in answer to their demand for its wares, but to their demand for certain necessities and conveniences which it supplies either alone or better than any other agency. It is a part of the neighborhood which must change with the neighborhood; it fulfills in it the social functions which unfortunately have been left to it to exercise. With keen insight into human nature and a judicious use of every law yet it sells liquor to minors, keeps open door all night and Sundays. Certain downtown saloons close at midnight, not in obedience to city law, but in response to the law of demand. Their daytime patrons have gone home and joined the patrons of the neighborhood saloon.

At the close of the day's work the poor, underpaid and unskilled laborer goes into the room or rooms he calls "home." A scanty, poorly cooked meal is served, by an unkempt wife, to the sound of crying children. He feels the same demand of mental stimulus and social relaxation that lead richer men to form the great clubs. Is there no place for him to go? Yes, in the seventeenth ward brewing companies have seen and met these needs. Among 100 saloons, 111 offer free lunches, 147 are supplied with tables where he may sit and discuss politics and play penicue with his friends. 139 supply newspapers to customers, while six of them are dance halls and three permit gambling.

Each saloon is in reality a club. Its character is determined by the kind of men who frequent it, and about the same men having something in common make a certain saloon their rendezvous night after night. The sign above the door may hint of its character, as "Italian Headquarters," "Milkman's Exchange," "Mechanics' Exchange," etc. A stranger stepping into one of these places finds a few men at the bar, a few drinking, others reading or playing cards at the tables or talking politics or neighborhood gossip. Without rules, it surpasses in spirit the organized club when it comes to discussion. In fact, the saloon is the social center of the neighborhood.

Boys are provided for. A nickel is charged for a game of pool, and a check entitles the holder to a glass of beer, a 5-cent cigar, cigarettes or a soft drink. About 27 per cent of saloons are thus equipped. Many have free shower baths, handball courts, bowling alleys and shuffle boards. An abundance of free lunch is served and no questions asked, while in some instances the saloon passes as a labor bureau, assisting men to find employment.

The data given was gathered by Mr. Melendy in the saloons, on street corners, in the homes at all hours of the day and night and in various disguises. He was aided by sporting men, police and professors, ministers and business men. His observations on saloons, beer gardens and suburban homes are interesting. In conclusion he says:

"The adaptability of the saloon to the needs of a particular locality is a source of constant surprise and admiration as it is also a cause of genuine consternation among Christian people who object at all upon the existence of institutionalism of the churches."

If the proper study of mankind is man science come in a fair way to establish a basis from which to reason. Laboratory work in physiology and anatomy has made great advances and the investigating microscope is now turned on the human mind. The hour for purely theoretical reasoning is past. Hard facts are gained by tracing out relations, causes, effects, laws and tendencies. The department of child study is acknowledged, children are studied at home in school and at play.

Physicians measure their intelligence by the laws of development, and for hygienic reasons the teeth, eyes, ears and skin are examined. Teachers and psychologists watch, day by day and take note of mental peculiarities for pedagogic purposes. The intellect and frequently unimpaired senses are not lost from any will of its own. He is the victim of circumstances, heredity, physical deformity and environment.

It is proved beyond a doubt that the criminal is not like other men. Students of criminal anthropology and criminal sociology have studied many thousands of convicts and have obtained positive information. Investigations have been carried on in different parts of the world among unlike nationalities.

A movement is on foot to establish prison laboratories in the United States and among some observers the work. The scope of the plan is outlined in the current American Journal of Sociology by Professor C. R. Henderson of the university of Chicago. From the result of the investigations are promised better methods of prevention and reform and the enlightenment of authorities in criminal law and procedure.

Siberian convicts will soon be a legendary band of sufferers. Early last summer an imperial edict from St. Petersburg announced that thereafter no more convicts would be sent to Siberia. Instead of that terrible journey with its infernal horrors at the end, civil and political prisoners will hereafter serve out their sentences in prisons in Russia. Save a writer in a current number of Leslie's Weekly:

"The reason for this new state of affairs is not hard to seek. Siberia is crying in anguish for political prisoners. It is now necessary to people that vast tract commonly understood to be a cold desolate wilderness with the respectable and responsible classes of commercial and mechanical workers. To have Siberia continue as a land of felons and political fugitives would be to prevent the better class of Russians from migrating there and investing."

In August the last trainload of exiles crossed the Russian border over the trans-siberian railway. With but one exception a refined-looking woman practical prisoner, the entire party consisted of beings, belonging to the peasant class. Of these sent to Siberia common criminals were allowed to have families with them and to work out their sentences. But political suspects had a hard time of it. They generally died of hardship and abuse. Few had any hope of pardon or had the frightful horrors of penal servitude lessened by any alleviating conditions.

Jolly Jack Tar.

"Jolly" is the word generally associated with the jack tar. He is the picture of health, and the health bubbles over in mirth and merriment. When people are sick, especially when sickness attacks the lungs the doctor often advises a sea voyage. But in the large majority of cases the sea voyage is impossible.

It is to the men and women of the workaday world to whom sea voyages or change of climate are impossible, that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes as the greatest earthly boon. The effect of this medicine upon those whose lungs are "weak" is remarkable. Even where there is bronchitis, spitting of blood, emaciation, weakness, conditions which if uncorrected or unskillfully treated lead to consumption, "Golden Medical Discovery" in ninety-eight cases out of a hundred cures a perfect and permanent cure. It strengthens the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, so that the body in all its parts is not merely fed but nourished. And it is by nourishment that Nature builds up the body to resist or throw off disease.

"I had a terrible cough something over a year ago and could find nothing to stop it, or even to do me a particle of good," writes J. M. Farr, Esq., Concord, New Hampshire. "I was induced to see an advertisement of yours, and forthwith bought a bottle of your invaluable Golden Medical Discovery. Before I had taken half a bottle I was entirely well."

Nervous Prostration.

A Noted Boston Woman Describes its Symptoms and Terrors.—Two Severe Cases Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I am so nervous! no one ever suffered as I do! There isn't a well inch in my body. I honestly believe my lungs are diseased, my chest pains me so, but I have no cough. I am so weak at my stomach, and have indigestion terribly, and palpitation of the heart; am losing flesh; and this headache and backache nearly kills me, and yesterday I had hysterics.

"There is a weight in the lower part of my bowels, bearing down all the time, with pains in my groins and thighs—I can't sleep, walk, or sit, and blue—oh goodness! I am simply the most miserable of women."

This is a most vivid description of a woman suffering with nervous prostration, caused by inflammation or some other diseased condition of the womb.

No woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is no need of it. Read about Miss Williamson's case and how she was cured.

Two Bad Cases of Nervous Prostration Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM;—I was suffering such tortures from nervous prostration that life was a burden. I could not sleep at all, and was too weak to walk across the floor. My heart was affected so that often I could not lie down at all without almost suffocating. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like magic. I feel that your medicine has been of inestimable benefit to me."

MISS ADELE WILLIAMSON, 196 N. Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga.

"I had nervous prostration terribly, caused by female weakness. I suffered everything; was unable to eat, sleep, or work. After a while I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I really began to improve on taking the first bottle. I continued to take the medicine, and am now better in every way, and feel like a different person. I am simply a well woman."
