THE WESTON NEIGHBORHOOD.

Local and Personal Mention: Irving McQuary's Condition Due to Lead Poisoning.

The East Oregonian is indebted to the Weston Leader for the following items:

R. H. McKee, of Athena, and Melvin Sutherland, of Pendleton, were in town today.

Born, January 3, 1901, to Mr. and Mrs. William Graham, at their home in Weston, a son.

Miss Della DeGraw has returned from Pendleton, where she assisted in the Golden Rule store during the holidays.

Rev. R. Hargreaves will begin a series of meetings, next Monday evening, at the old Baptist church on Weston mountain.

The condition of Mrs. J. W. Young, who has been undergoing treatment at the hospital in Walla Walla, is reported to be very serious.

Frank Saling, after attending the K. of P. convention at Pendleton, visited Echo, where he is feeding a band of sheep. He found them in fine condition.

Bertha M. Willaby, teacher in the Weston public schools, was compelled to go home Saturday on account of sickness. She has been relieved by her sister, Miss Stella Willaby.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parley will move from Portland to Weston, Mr. Parley having accepted a position in the latter city. Mrs. Parley is at present visiting relatives in Pendleton while on her way to Spokane.

Harry Grasty is entitled to the belt, when it comes to killing crows. The day he brought into Justice Wood's office the scalp of 33 crows that he had poisoned and otherwise killed during the past few months.

Morover, Harry has a promising locality picked out where he expects to bag a few dozen more by way of winter recreation and profit.

The fall term of school held in district No. 96, at the Fairview school house on Wild Horse mountain, closed last Friday, January 4, after four months' school. A splendid entertainment was rendered by the pupils, the program consisting of a number of excellent recitations and appropriate songs. The large school house was crowded with visitors, comprising parents and friends.

The wedding of Miss Bessie N. Patton of Weston and Henry A. Black, man of Walla Walla, was solemnized at the home of the bride's uncle, G. A. R. McCreary, on Water street, Wednesday afternoon, Rev. W. E. Putvine, rector of the Church of the Redeemer of Pendleton, officiated. Miss Florence Taylor and Mr. James Brown of Walla Walla were the attending couple. Miss Bessie played the wedding march.

Dr. Best is hopeful that Weston will soon take rank with New York city in population, if the present rate of increase is maintained. He reports the following recent additions: Friday, January 4, 1901, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. King, a son; Saturday, to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Towery, a son; Monday, January 7, 1901, to Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Moulton, a daughter.

His friends in newspaper offices and elsewhere throughout this county will greatly regret to learn of the unfortunate condition of Irving McQuary, formerly editor of the Athena Press, and afterward connected with the newspaper business in Montana. Mr. McQuary returned with his wife a few weeks ago to the home of his parents at Milton. Of late he developed symptoms of falling mentality, and a few days ago became violently insane.

An examination disclosed the fact that his health and mind became shattered by lead poisoning, resulting from his work as a compositor. Skin disease in the hands admitted the poison to the blood. He was taken to the asylum at Salem last Tuesday, and it is hoped that treatment there will restore his reason.

NEW SCIENTIFIC PROCESS.
A Process Discovered That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ.

For some time it has been known that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp into little white flakes, and by sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causes falling hair, and, of course, finally baldness.

For years there have been all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Newbro's Herpicide, which destroys the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause the effect will cease to exist. Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp, no falling hair.

WESTON'S FINANCIAL CONDITION.
It is Excellent, the Town's Floating Debt Being About Wiped Out.

The financial condition of Weston at the close of the year 1900, compiled from the reports of Recorder L. S. Wood and Treasurer L. C. Wood, shows that Weston, says the Leader, begins the new century under very auspicious circumstances. The prospects are that when the new year is half over the entire floating indebtedness will have been wiped out on the market, and there will be a cash basis.

Another liquor license, $800, falls due in a few days, and will enable the treasurer to call in about $1100 worth of scrip, or only about $250 less than the total amount outstanding.

When it is reflected that not so very many years ago Weston scrip went begging at a big discount, the present showing should be quite gratifying to the mayor and council, and to citizens generally. Liquor licenses are a large source of revenue, and the waterworks are also an important factor. Superintendant L. C. Wood credits for the careful attention he gives his duties in this particular. During his incumbency in 1899 and 1900 the receipts were about doubled over former years. The item of fines also shows a large increase.

The receipts to the city from a proposed tax in 1900 were $380.23, from two liquor licenses $1600; from all other sources $241.04; from sale of city water $1254.16. To maintain the water works during the year required $1602.02. The city has bonds outstanding, with which the water system was supplied, in the sum of $10,000.

WARDE PLAYS "RICHELIEU".

GREAT PRESENTATION OF BULWER LYTTON'S MASTERPIECE.

Popular Actor and Company Greeted With an Audience That Filled the Theater.

The play of "Richelieu," Bulwer Lytton's masterpiece, was presented at the Fraser last evening to one of the largest and best sustained audiences that ever gathered in that playhouse.

The great Frederick Warde and company composed the cast. This is the first time that Warde has produced "Richelieu" in this city and to say that those in attendance were only satisfied would not fairly express the truth. They were delighted and expressed it in many ways sometimes by loud applause at others by an approval of silence—that silence which delights the heart and makes the actor realize that he has the hearty and sympathetic approval of his hearers.

Mr. Warde himself but to his support, particularly to Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Spencer, the latter being known to many by reputation at least, as Isabel Pengra.

A Beautiful Love Story.
The play itself is of great literary merit. Woven into the life and acts of Richelieu is the beautiful love story of Adriane de Mauprat and Julie de Mortemar. The audience has for Mr. Warde a high regard as to his action and a warm feeling of friendship. It was in the air. The consequence was that he interpreted the part of the aged minister beset by plotting enemies to himself, his friends and his audience with a dramatic fire that held the audience spellbound by their intensity, with sympathy as the outbursts died away and he became a pathetic picture of old age. He fits and acts the part to equal that of any actor on the American stage.

Mr. R. Spencer assumed the role of Adrian de Mauprat and Mrs. Spencer of Julie, the young bride. Their troubles were shared by the audience and satisfaction was expressed at the final complete discomfiture of those who had been plotting against them.

Mr. Spencer is very earnest and energetic. Mrs. Spencer gave many evidences of strength in a number of climaxes as well as looking and dressing the part effectively.

F. Forrester, as Count de Baradas, was a tactical villain, and it gave him no opportunity to gain the sympathy of the audience. He was just about as mean as he could be and didn't get a bit of sympathy.

Douglas Fairbanks, as Francois, lost caste with the audience when he allowed some person to steal the casket containing the papers, but they were charitable, as was Richelieu, and "granted him further time."

Walter Bentley was acceptable as Joseph, the shrewd and warm-hearted monk. Mr. McKenzie gracefully performed the part of XIII.

Miss May Warde, daughter of Frederick Warde, had little to do or say as Marion de Lorme, but that little was well done. The part is not one requiring an exhibition of a blaze or even a spark of genius but was capably attended to by the young actress, in that her friends predict for her more than a place of mediocrity.

Ballot's excellent orchestra filled the interludes between acts with delightful music adding to an evening full to the brim of pleasure.

Mr. Warde's Opinion.
When asked last evening if he was surprised at receiving the request from Pendleton theater-goers to present "Richelieu," instead of "The Duke's Jester," which had been extensively billed, Mr. Warde replied pleasantly, yet decidedly, that he was not. In fact, he seemed to expect that the request would be made. As regards his personal preference he said: "I would infinitely rather present 'Richelieu' than 'The Duke's Jester.'"

Played Out.
Dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores on all possible evidences of impure blood. No matter how it became so, it must be purified in order to obtain good health. Acker's Blood Elixir has never failed to cure scrofulous or syphilitic poisons or any other blood diseases. It is certainly a wonderful remedy, and we sell every bottle on a positive guarantee. For sale by Brock & McComas.

FREE READING MATTER.
Books and Magazines to be Had at the East Oregonian Office Saturdays.

At the last meeting of the Parliamentary Club the committee on "magazine room" reported very few callers.

This work was begun by the club last year, and many hundreds of books and magazines were contributed and given out free to all comers. Many people experienced an interest in the residence of the town and the surrounding country as well.

It is believed that it is not well understood that the club has taken up the work again this winter, and has on hand at the East Oregonian office a large amount of good books, and ladies are in attendance every Saturday afternoon from 1 to 4 o'clock, and they will be glad to have any one having books or magazines to give or exchange, and all wishing for reading matter, to call.

A BURNING CHIMNEY.
Salt and Water Put a Quietus to Threatening Flames.

A fire alarm from Nob Hill house shortly before 7 o'clock last evening attracted a number of firemen and interested spectators to the vicinity of the residence of J. F. Nowlin, superintendent of schools, a short distance northwest of the Main street bridge. The flames were coming out of the chimney of the house threateningly. Will Cooper and Ray Robbins, of Nob Hill country, No. 3, and Dean Shull, of Alert company, climbed to the roof, poured a couple of buckets of water and some salt down the chimney and that settled the trouble. It all happened so quickly that people who rushed over a few minutes after the alarm found darkness and disappointment, and many of them couldn't even find where the fire had been.

DEATH OF OAKLEY JOHNSON.
A Dentist of Milton the Victim of Fever and Blood Poisoning.

Dr. Oakley Johnson, a dentist of Milton, died at 8 o'clock Thursday morning at La Grande, whither he had gone three weeks ago on account of an accident to Adam Crossman, his father-in-law, who had his hand blown off in a fall from a cyclone and explosion. Shortly after his arrival at La Grande he was taken ill and it finally developed into a condition of blood poisoning. He was married about a year ago to the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

ADAM CROSSMAN.

He was a Knight of Pythias and aged about 30 years.

The body was brought to Pendleton this morning and transferred to the train for Walla Walla, where the funeral will be held today under the auspices of the Knights. The remains were accompanied by the widow, Mr. and Mrs. Crossman and Mrs. Kalendyke.

Deceased was a son of Oakley Johnson, Sr., well known as a former engineer on the W. & C. R., now a farmer near Walla Walla.

REFORM SCHOOL LIBRARY.
It Owes Its Beginning to the Parliamentary Club of Pendleton.

Pendleton, Ore., Jan. 10.—To the Editor.—The matron of the reform school, at Salem, writes that the library there, started as some will doubtless remember, by the Parliamentary Club, of Pendleton, several years ago, is proving very satisfactory and has now over three hundred books.

The light of our local clubs has been somewhat dimmed this season, owing to the fact that they have availed themselves of the opportunities always so courteously afforded them by the press, to tell of their work. It has been intimated that Pendleton's clubs are not the wide awake organizations that they have proved themselves to be in the past.

Micro notoriety certainly is not to be desired, either by individuals or the club, but the more the club shows itself interested in all that the club everywhere stands for, the more it shows the community that it is not a small, narrow "mutual admiration society" made up of a few "fadists," but a living power to be counted on for furthering all sorts of good works, the better for the club and the better for the place where that club exists.

REFUSES TO RECONSIDER.

Judge Lowell Will Not Be a Member of the Text Book Commission.

Since the announcement a week ago of the membership of the state text book commission, and the prompt declaration of a position thereon by Judge Stephen A. Lowell of this city, whose reasons for his action were given to the public through these columns, there has been a general effort to induce Mr. Lowell to reconsider his refusal to serve, the governor having thus far declined to make another appointment in his place.

The effort, however, has proven unavailing, the judge believing that educators are entitled to a larger representation upon the commission than has been accorded them, and that if the governor will fill his place with a practical teacher, his state will have been better served by his declining than accepting; and so believing the following letter was last evening mailed to the executive:

Pendleton, Jan. 10.—Hon. T. T. Gear, Governor of Oregon, Dear Sir:—I have given deliberate consideration to your telegram asking me to reconsider my declination to serve on the state text book commission, and beg to assure you of my deep appreciation of the confidence such request implies, but I am still of the firm opinion that the views publicly stated when I declined the honor are sound and correct, and I cannot agree with you that the duty lay either in terms, by implication or by the circumstances of its enactment, precludes the appointment of educators.

I accord to you, however, entire good faith, and recognize the high character and pre-eminent talents of Messrs. Scott, Ladd, Colvig and Campbell, but am convinced that the commission will be strengthened by the addition of another practical teacher, and therefore must insist upon declining.

In doing so, I venture again to respectfully express the hope that the Eastern Oregon representative upon the board may be one of the many able, fearless men here engaged in educational work. Very truly,
STEPHEN A. LOWELL.

It has been fully demonstrated that Ely's Cream Balm is a specific for nasal catarrh and cold in the head. This distinction has been achieved only as the result of continued successful use. A morbid condition of the membrane in the nasal passages can be cured by this purifying and healing treatment. Sold by druggists or it will be mailed for 50 cents by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York. It spreads over the membrane, is absorbed and relief is immediate.
