ATHENA ODD FELLOWS.

Public Installation of Officers on Friday Evening, January 18

Wild Horse lodge, No. 73, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of Athens, Oregon, held a public installation of officers in their hall on Friday evening, January 18, which was a marked success. District Deputy Thompson, of Weston, was installed officer, and the following were installed to serve for the ensuing term: James Stinson, public officer; C. McClure, vice grand; V. Shick, secretary; William McFadden, treasurer. Then came a musical and literary program, including an address by J. T. Hinkle, of Pendleton. After an elegant banquet was spread at the B. Miller's Athens hotel. After the banquet there was dancing. It is estimated that there were 200 Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and friends of the order present, and it was the greatest kind of success.

The following named were installed Tuesday evening, January 8, as members of the Odd Fellows lodge, No. 73, of Athens, Mrs. Mary Swartz acting as installing officer: Mrs. James, noble grand; Mrs. Lora, vice grand; Mrs. Minnie DeWalt, secretary; Mrs. Minnie Gross, musical secretary; Mrs. Mary Sharp, treasurer. This installation was also followed by a banquet and good social times.

SENATORIAL VOTE AT SALEM.

NO RESULTS TO THREE CAUCUSES HELD BY REPUBLICANS.

The Vote in the Senate and House Today For United States Senator.

Salem, Or., Jan. 22.—There were three caucuses held by republicans last night, but without important result to any of them. The present outlook is that the principal senatorial aspirants at this time are without any ground for hope. Some new man has a much better chance of election.

The Vote in the Senate and House.

The vote in the senate and house today at noon for United States senator resulted as follows: Senate—McBride, 10; Corbett, 8; Smith, 5; Hermann, 2; Taylor, 1; Williams, 1; Fulton, 1; absent, 1; blank, 1, total, 33.

House—Curtis, 20; Smith, 20; Hermann, 6; McBride, 9; Fulton, 10; Moore, 1; Williams, 1; George, 1; absent, 1, total, 60.

William Smith, of Baker City, received the democratic and populist vote in the legislature for United States senator. Mr. Smith is a well known lawyer and was a candidate at the last June election on the democratic ticket for congress.

The Busy State Printer.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 21.—The state printer is the busiest man in Oregon, just now. He is up to the standard of his calling, and is always equal to the emergency. The legislation brought forth in three days, in the Oregon legislature, is wisely classified and distributed over a variety of subjects, would be sufficient laws for the state for a thousand years. The man whose occupation was to furnish the business of those three days, don't belong on earth. In his generosity, elasticity, widespread, open handed, open hearted spirit of Oregonism, it didn't forget a soul in the state. With the possible exception of a law governing the manner of catching the coyote, before scalping him, it covered the ground to a nicety.

In its effort to be on friendly terms with everybody, (pending the election of senator) it searched the state for some new town or sign board, upon which to bestow the honor of the future consideration, its forethought was miraculous. Its gallantry worthy of Beau Brummel. And its generosity about four times as large as its purse.

One Ungallant Thing.

The only ungallant thing which has come to light, is the Fulton selfishness manifested on the part of the committee appointments. While this is not very serious, it is significant. It is the index to a ring rule, a one-man supremacy, which is intended to keep states out of the doubtful list, and to make them solid one way or the other.

The cloud of the senatorial storm is over all, the dominant, central object of the session. While there is not much noise, as yet, there is an undercurrent at work, fretfully, anxiously, feverishly drawing to its embrace every shadow which is not anchored to the opposition. Every vote is guarded as if it were a "golden fleece." Every whispered conversation is carefully noted, and its import entered in the inside records of the clashing factions.

The people of Oregon are not reckoned in this affair. The taxpayer is lost sight of, and the result is one between two old men whose usefulness is past and whose private ambitions are the only active faculties remaining. Never in the history of the state was a more disastrous war waged of public office, at the expense of public welfare.

An Eastern Oregon Man.

From among the energetic, brainy, progressive young men, of Eastern Oregon, it seems there should be one, on whom the dominant party could agree. Is it not time that this auction sale of the seats in the United States senate be stopped? Do the people of the state wish this disgraceful circus to be repeated, at their expense, time and time again?

It is unjust to the public, that its choice is not regarded. It is unfair to able men whose merits are recognized by the voters, but who are barred from participating in the government of their country, by a consideration of dollars and cents.

The Governor's Message.

The governor's message is the talk of the day. It is so thorough in detail, so scrutinizing and vigilant in its arrangement of facts and figures, that it ranks among the best state papers of Oregon. While the people may not agree with its recommendations, they cannot deny its breadth of investigation and its hearty, western treatment of the subjects in hand. The legislature will look twice before passing by its advice and counsel.

The people of Oregon may sit down in peace, and while the "state wagon" is rolling by, listen to the harmonious chuckle of its "running gear."

Eastern Oregon has a representative delegation in both branches of the legislature. They are true to the rugged, gray surroundings which entrusted them with their power and their sentiment is an echo of the sentiment of their fellows.

NEW YORK MARKET.

Reported by I. L. Ray & Co., Chicago Board of Trade and New York Stock Exchange Brokers.

January 22.—The wheat market was easier today and the advance of yesterday was nearly all lost. Liverpool closed 1/4 lower, 67 3/4. New York opened 1/4 lower, 79 7/8, and after holding around this point nearly all day declined to 79 3/8. There was very heavy foreign buying yesterday of spot wheat. New York working a million bushels and St. Louis and Chicago half as much more. Stocks higher. Money, 3/4.

Close yesterday, 80 1/8. Open today, 79 1/8. Range today, 79 3/8 to 79 7/8. Close today, 79 3/8.

BOOK DONATION SOCIAL.

An Event For School District No. 83, West of Milton.

On Friday evening, January 25, there will be a book donation social in school district No. 83, seven miles west of Milton, where Prof. W. S. Mayberry and Mrs. K. E. Peck will be the hosts. These two teachers by hard work have raised $95 by socials and subscriptions or the purpose of establishing a library in the school room. On the above mentioned date a musical and literary program will be rendered and an effort made for all to have a good time. A invitation has been sent to all patrons of the school to be present to inspect the books purchased of which there are about 100, and to make sure that the donations of books. This library is an evidence of the progressive spirit of the teachers and shows that their untiring efforts have met with success. This is the first school library established in this county in 1901, and it is believed to be the first in the state in the rural districts. In

CHANGE IN MANAGEMENT.

E. Y. and F. E. Judd Buy the Wade and Fell Interests in the Scouring Mills.

E. Y. Judd and F. E. Judd have purchased the stockholdings of C. B. Wade and T. E. Fell in the Pendleton Wool Scouring & Packing company, and E. Y. Judd has succeeded Mr. Wade as president, and F. E. Judd, Mr. Fell as manager of the company. T. E. Fell retains his interests in the Pendleton Woolen mill and will probably become even more closely identified with that institution than heretofore.

The Judd brothers now hold all of the stock of the scouring mill, with the exception of about $3000 of the preferred stock, which is held by fifty or more individuals, who subscribed to it to aid in the establishment of the mills some six or seven years ago. This stock has a guarantee of ten per cent dividends and many are adverse to parting with it in consequence.

At the meeting of the directors of the scouring mill last evening, held at the company's offices, the changes in the officers of the company were made.
