FOR SENATOR, H. W. SCOTT.

What the Newspapers Say Concerning the East Oregonian's Proposal.

Walla Walla Union: The democratic Pendleton East Oregonian says it wants to see an Eastern Oregon man elected Oregon's senator. There are several others in Eastern Oregon who think differently from the way they are voting at Salem. But seeing it has no chance the East Oregonian suggests, "If an Eastern Oregon man is not possible, then let the democrats and populists join the republicans in electing Harvey W. Scott, editor of the Portland Oregonian, United States senator, without his consent or the consent of any other nation on earth." No doubt this would be a fitting compliment, but there are other things to be taken into consideration. Mr. Scott is one of the ablest editors in the United States. He has made the editorial page of his paper recognized from coast to coast. Does the East Oregonian desire to rob the people of Oregon of his daily writing and sound advice. Harvey Scott probably can do with his long experience do more good for Oregon in the sanctum of the Oregonian than he could in the United States senate. But there is another reason. Mr. Scott has no political ambition and is a staunch supporter of former Senator Corbett. His paper has supported Mr. Corbett's candidacy and the great editor has in every conceivable and honorable way sought to elect Mr. Corbett. Mr. Scott is not a man who would accept an honor which he seeks to secure for another. It is safe to assume he would refuse a nomination. As the East Oregonian wishes to compliment Mr. Scott it should suggest the election of Mr. Corbett. Mr. Scott's candidate for the United States senate.

Weston Leader: The East Oregonian advocates the election of Harvey W. Scott to the United States senate. Eastern Oregon's leading newspaper has often said things the reverse of complimentary about the views of Oregon's greatest editor, but now makes noteworthy and somewhat surprising atonement. It remarks, among other things: "No man is more an Oregonian than he is, or more fitted to speak for Oregon in the great halls of statecraft. He is not a lawyer, but he is as capable as any lawyer in Oregon. He is not a great orator, and none is needed in this connection. If he were chosen by the legislature the brains of the United States senate would receive a substantial addition and the fame of Oregon, for producing men of mark, of talent and gray matter, would go further towards the four corners of the earth. No one in the state would feel injured if Mr. Scott were sent to the United States senate." That Mr. Scott would be a capable, hardworking senator, as he is an editor, is undoubtedly true. That he has any ambition beyond editorial control of a great newspaper is, however, doubtful.

PIONEERS OF THE PACIFIC.

The Dance Thursday Evening in Armory Hall Was Enjoyable.

No fights or other boisterous conduct marred the festivities in Armory hall at the dance given Thursday evening by the officers of William Martin encampment, No. 1, Pioneers of the Pacific. The hall was well filled with merry dancers, who tramped on each other as they chased to and fro and had a rip-roaring good time. More than 100 were present. The music was furnished by Kirkman's orchestra. The Pioneers of the Pacific is an order that is growing rapidly and has always been popular in Pendleton, the headquarters of the supreme encampment being located here and many of the supreme officers residing here. Entertainments given by the order, of what-

THE WESTON NEIGHBORHOOD.

Young Matthew Mills Suffered the Amputation of a Leg.

The East Oregonian is indebted to the Weston Leader for the following item:
Mr. J. B. Kennedy and family, of Warren station are visiting with Mr. Kennedy's daughter, Mrs. Walter Payne.

Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Brown returned yesterday from a visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mumford, parents of the latter, at Pendleton.

Miss Carrie Epple came up Saturday from Pendleton on a business visit, and was a guest during the day at Boston Durr's residence.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carmichael, Wash., and Miss Rector, of Spokane, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Templeton at their home on Dry creek.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Hicks and Miss Effie McBroome have gone to Pendleton to attend the wedding of Mrs. Hicks' niece, Miss Carrie Epple.

Mrs. Thompson Warren sends the encouraging word home from Rosebud agency, South Dakota, that Mr. Warren, who was recently stricken with paralysis, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carmichael have received the welcome news from Heppner that their daughter, Miss Cora, is now out of danger. She has been sick with smallpox, but the disease will leave no marks or other ill effects.

Mrs. Lillian McMorris arrived yesterday from Pendleton, where she has been visiting relative, and is the guest of her sister, Mrs. L. S. Wood.

Mrs. McMorris is on her way to Spokane, where her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Purdy, now resides.

J. S. Stalter, for many years a member of Weston lodge No. 71, A. O. U. W., died January 28, 1901, at his home in San Jose, Calif. Mr. Stalter was formerly a resident of Pendleton but belonged to the Weston lodge of Workmen.

J. F. Nowlin, county superintendent, is interested in the Beligan hare industry at Pendleton with H. A. Faxton. The other day they lost one of the finest hares in the United States. Sold for $100, value at $500. The animal died with a disease much resembling grip.

Superintendent Lavender has been buying himself of late at the head of the waterworks, where considerable trouble is caused by decayed wooden piping. An engine is being used to force obstruction out of the pipe, and several joints have been burst in the process.

John C. Davis, who suffered an attack of paralysis three weeks ago that rendered him helpless for the time being, has so far recovered as to be able to appear on the streets—although yet a trifle "shaky." Mr. Davis feels very grateful for the assistance extended by friends during his sickness.

Weston city scrip, which is only a few months' holding, is selling at a premium. For the last batch issued by the recorder, 101 cents on the dollar was offered by one Weston buyer. Those who remember when city scrip was worth but little more than half its face, will rejoice at this evidence of municipal prosperity.

Last Friday evening the O'Hara school gave a very successful entertainment at its school house east of town, the second one of the kind at that place this winter. Each was in the form of a basket social, preceded by a well-prepared program of recitations, dialogues and songs. The baskets sold at a lively rate each time, netting about $30. The proceeds are to be used to procure a library for the school.

Matthew Mills and sister, Miss Beattie Mills, the children of an old soldier who died at Weston several years ago, recently returned to their home at Summerville after a visit to their aunt, Mrs. Charles Sams, on Dry creek, and to B. F. Walden. They had previously been at Walla Walla, where the young man's leg was amputated above the knee by Dr. Cropp as a result of an accident with a pitchfork. With sisterly devotion Miss Beattie, who although 20 years of age is scarcely larger than a child, remained with him, and by her work paid his expenses at the hospital. The cost of medical attention was well borne by the family. Mr. Matthew expects to return to Walla Walla next spring to have an artificial limb fitted by Dr. Cropp.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.
Frederick Mannell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide April 6, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. In 20 days, he says, he had hair all over his head, and on July 2 he writes, and today my hair is thick and curly. I had used every other hair restorer, but Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness. The hair that grows because the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once, and starts the new growth in a week.

"I WANT TO BE A GAMBLER."

The Gentle Request of a Young Man From Walla Walla.

A young man about 18 or 20 years of age living into Pendleton from Walla Walla on a sphyx which arrived in this city on time Wednesday. Although a man in years he was about as callow as a robin two days old. He possesses several good traits of character, including nerve and a willingness to work and learn. The apostrophe who wrote the sentence, "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread" must have had his glittering orb, both orbs, in fact, fixed on the hero of this sketch. He got what he was looking for, as all are accommodated in Pendleton. He wanted to be a gambler and applied at several of the saloons of the city, where games are conducted, for a job. The only game he could play real well was craps. The gamblers and men running the different games quickly saw that they were dealing with no uncommon personage. About the third saloon at which he went for a steady gambling job was the Mint. One of the men staked him to play poker while he himself went around to the other games and set up a job. The youth from Walla Walla finished his poker game and went to the "21 game." The proprietor of this game was liberal to rocklessness. He had a bank roll of $100, which he entrusted to the amateur, while he stepped out of the saloon. In the meantime a deal of cards had been "fixed" and at the proper time the cool deck was introduced. Before the youth made one deal the bank roll had vanished and the cold sweat was standing on the dealer's forehead in globules about the size of a walnut. The proprietor saw the man back and talked as though he hadn't known anything about the throwoff. The young man pleaded for his life and said he would work all spring and summer and even into the misty mellow

FOOTBALL NEXT FRIDAY.

A Special Rate Has Been Granted by the O. R. & N.

The football game to take place on the Alta street grounds on Friday, February 22, between the High school team of Walla Walla, assisted by a few outsiders, and the mixed team from Pendleton, bids fair to bring the season to a close with a pyrotechnic blaze of glory. A special rate of $1.85 for the round trip, Walla Walla to Pendleton and return, has been granted by the O. R. & N. company, which assures a large delegation of visitors from Pendleton's twin sister city. The boys here are practicing and will be ready for the shock when it comes. Following is the personnel of the local team: Shick, Lewis, Penland, Dale Slusher, Hill, Anderson, Sullivan, Gard, Cronin, Shull, Turner; substitutes, Cargill, Baker and Ruppe. The lineup will not be announced until a day or so before the game, in order to prevent the Walla Walla team from obtaining an undue advantage.

Never Shaved in His Life.

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, who is the proud possessor of the most luxuriant growth of whiskers in the senate, has never been shaved in his life. His beard began to sprout when he was about sixteen, and he is now seventy-five. "Oh, yes," said he, "I have often thought of shaving. Kind-hearted friends have given me razors and advised me to go to work on my beard, but I never took their advice. You see, when I was a young man I never owned a razor, and I had to let my whiskers grow wild. Now it is too late. My constituents would ruin me, and my political career would be wrecked."

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me must call and settle their accounts to January 1, 1901, either by cash or bankable note.

Saturday Evening's Play.

Interest is awakened again in the story. The Prisoner of Zenda since the announcement that the play will be presented here Saturday evening by the Frohman company. In the coming production of the Prisoner of Zenda the wealth of scenic adornment and magnificence in costume in conjunction with the masterly dramatization of the story makes the event one of exceptional merit. The cast, headed by Vaughan Glaser and Ruth Albridge, is promised to be of unusual excellence and the ensemble complete.
