MATTERS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Mayor Vincent has appointed a commission of five citizens to take charge of the water system. In making the selection, which received the unanimous endorsement of the councilmen, he has also acted so as to deserve the unqualified support of the people of the town. All of the men chosen are representative, are interested in the wise management of the department of the city government that is to be under their charge, and they will serve from a mere desire to secure efficiency and economy of operation.

It is the belief of conservative men that the new regime will prove to be a wise departure from former methods. The commission will be removed so far as possible from the effects of the municipal elections, so that the management of the system will be conducted purely as a business enterprise, for the interests of all of the people.

It is right that they should have the earnest support of the citizens, who should help rather than hinder in the work of managing the system. Already, criticisms are heard of the plan for the existence of a water commission, in place of a transient committee of the council. Many appear to delight in hampering rather than assisting in the development of plans for the improvement of city business methods. In this respect, perhaps, Pendleton is no different from other towns. But it is the opinion of the East Oregonian that considerable progress has been made in the right direction, and that the recent enactments in connection with the water system are elements in that progress.

There is a question that could properly be taken up now, to settle which correctly would enhance the desirability of Pendleton as a place of residence. It is the matter of sprinkling the streets, under the supervision of the city government. This has been agitated for several years, and sentiment is probably far enough advanced to warrant decisive action in the premises. The idea is to have streets sprinkled in the residence portions of the city. At the present time only the business streets are sprinkled, and the expense is borne by the owners or tenants of the business places. This is a country of dust. The summer brings dry weather such as compels the people to live for several months virtually in a cloud of dust that permeates houses and stores, and renders living here just that much the more unpleasant. Of course, the dust cannot be entirely prevented. But, it can be reduced to a minimum, and housewives can be saved the necessity of fairly shovelling out each day quantities of pulverized earth that flies in the air for so long a time during the warmer months.

Let a district be selected in which to inaugurate the plan, and it is safe to predict that it would be demanded over the entire city. People do not object to the spending of public money, when the results make for cleanliness and greater comfort of living. And this street sprinkling plan could be made the most popular feature of the management of the city.

Civic pride would be engendered, and this question of civic pride is one that is just as important as are considerations of lessening the expenditures of the people's money. Money spent in the betterment of the streets, in the beautifying of the town, in providing for parks and walks and driveways is willingly provided in most cities. As systems of city improvement develop, the citizens realize the benefits accruing therefrom, and endorse plans looking for further progress along the same line. Pendleton people are like people of other towns. They possess the same possibilities for advancement, the same latent pride in the appearance of the place in which they make their homes, and they will gladly welcome any plan that promises to make this a pleasant town in which to reside.

With the city government leading in the beautifying of the town, the people will be induced to do the same at their homes, and along the streets. Pendleton has many pleasant homes. It has many comfortable residences. It is as fully as good a town in which to live as any in the Inland Empire. But it can be made pleasanter, more comfortable, a better place in which to live. The mayor and the council will receive enthusiastic support from the majority in all plans for accomplishing the ends suggested herein.

Knox is attorney for the Morgan steel trust. He is ahead in the race for the attorney-generalship of the United States. Surely Mr. McKinley cannot realize what it would mean to appoint him to the office. It would certainly be interpreted as prima facie evidence that he is acting too much at the dictation of the big combinations of which so much was said in the late campaign.

Mark Hanna telegraphed to the Nebraska republican legislators that the administration desired them to act in accordance with the national committee in electing a senator. But some of the republicans refused to be whipped into line, and so answered Mr. Hanna's message. This is rank treason to the emperor of the country, the gentleman from Ohio (who is in the senate).

President Hadley, of Yale, university, said recently in the Old South Church in Boston, "We shall have an emperor in Washington within 25 years unless we can create a public sentiment which, regardless of legislation, will regulate the trusts."

HECKELS FAVORS THE WEST.

James Eckels, in the speech he made at the banquet in Portland given to the Chicago Commercial club, said in part:

"I joined with the advocates who have our riverways, the best in the country, but let me not let my eyes to the fact that river and harbor bills have often broken down from over-weight and good things lost by the burden of the bad. Let the legislators know the appropriations for the best highways will meet with the enmity of the people, but let me rid of all that snags of log-rolling.

"I would like to see the Columbia have not only $2,000,000, but $4,000,000 or $10,000,000, that this state might have the benefit of this great highway. That will come when the river and harbor bill carries appropriations for such rivers as the Columbia, and not for crooks."

"Your state must become great if you forever eliminated the demagogue—for all the states that need thoughtful legislation it is the state that needs development. That is the lesson the Western states must learn. Why should a new state, least of all, be a state where a demagogue finds his followers? I agree with all the former speakers here said," declared Mr. Eckels, "as to the resources, past accomplishments and future of this state. It is a great state by nature and by past accomplishments—a state into whose history is woven the romances of field and battle of venturesome people. And it must continue to contribute to the welfare of its sister states. But let us remember that it must become great first by the people of Oregon, above all others, having faith in its resources."

and greatness. You, who know it best, if you are to have co-operation, must show your faith by standing in the foreground of all that will make the state powerful.

ADVICE TO CHIEF JOSEPH.

Chief Joseph, the Nez Perce, wants to be elected chief of the Cayuse Indians on the Umatilla reservation because in descent he is last in Cayuse, says J. W. Redington in the Heppner Gazette.

Joseph can well afford to keep quiet and hide his light under a bushel. He has had a pretty fine time for several years while living the fable of being held as a hostage on Moses' reservation.

The Nez Perce war was caused by the dominant white race crowding their stock onto ranges claimed by the Indians, and many innocent lives were sacrificed, among them Mrs. Mannel and her little babe at their home in White Bird canyon.

A man who has lived for years among the Nez Perces, before and after their war, who now lives in Portland, and understands their language, says that he knows positively that Joseph killed his murderers, the knife into Mrs. Mannel's breast, when, in repelling his advances she had slapped him in the face, and one of Joseph's close kinsmen, the Cayuse, dashed out on the stove the brains of Mrs. Mannel's baby. Then the fiends burned the house and consumed the bodies of mother and child.

Jack Mannel, the husband and father, had been left for dead near by, and his little girl who escaped, was told of the horrors at the house as well as she could with the part of the tongue the fiends had not cut off, and her story was afterwards confirmed by Indians who had been present.

It is reasonable to suppose, as these butchers claim, that they were full of the white man's firewater when these horrors happened.

The Nez Perce went to war on account of the taking from them their rights in the Wallowa valley. Those rights were imaginary, for Joseph's father had signed them away to the government years before.

The Nez Perce left a bloody trail along their 1900-mile retreat, and conducted an able campaign, out-traveling the soldiers because they had a dozen in fact most of the soldiers had one, and the Nez Perce were able to walk the 1900 miles, while the Indians had fresh mounts every day.

The Indians say that much of the credit of the campaign which was due to White Bird and Looking-Glass went to Joseph, and that he was very much over-rated.

Men who have had every facility to test the truth of the matter say that there is an innocent white woman's blood on Joseph's hands, and therefore he has good reason to be content with his easy life of retirement instead of aspiring to become chief of the great Cayuse nation, of which Cash-Cash is an upright representative, and one who has rendered the government good soldier service under Lieut. Farrow and Gen. Howard.

CANCER

Suffers from this horrible, maddeningly always inherit it—not necessarily from the parents, but may be from some remote ancestor, or Cancer often runs through several generations. This deadly poison may lay dormant in the blood for years, or until you reach middle life, then the first little sore or ulcer makes its appearance—or a swelling gland in the breast, or some other part of the body, gives the first warning.

To cure Cancer thoroughly and permanently all the poisonous virus must be eliminated from the blood—every vestige of it driven out. The S. S. S. does, and is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated, obstinate blood troubles like this. When all the poison has been forced out of the system the Cancer heals, and the disease never returns.

Cancer begins often in a small way, as the following letter from Mrs. Shirer shows:

"A small pimple appeared on my face below the ear on the left side of my face. It gave me pain or itchy, and I should have forgotten about it had it not begun to enlarge and itch; it would bleed a little, then scab over, but would not heal. This continued for some time, when my jaw began to swell, and I should have gone to a doctor, but I did not. The Cancer began to eat and spread, until it was a large, hard, and painful mass. I had heard of S. S. S., and decided to give it a fair trial, and it was remarkable what a wonderful cure it had from the very beginning; it soon began to heal and after taking a few bottles disappeared entirely. This was two years ago, there are no signs of the Cancer, and my general health continues good.—Mrs. R. Shirer, La. Platte, Mo. Contains a picture of the patient."

Baby's Coming

Mt. Pleasant, Ga., July 18, 1900.
I advise every suffering woman to take Wine of Cardui. While I was going with my other children I was compelled to stay in bed for days at a time, but this time I have taken Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught and have been able to do all my house-work without any trouble. I am expecting every day to be completely cured. My husband thinks Wine of Cardui is the best medicine in the world. He takes a bottle of Theodor's Black-Draught every night and gives some to the children. He tells his last day from work this year. He has not told my lady friends to use your Wine of Cardui.

WINE OF CARDUI

There are thousands of women who shrink in terror at the thought of the baby's coming. But childbirth is one of the workings of Nature and it was not intended to imply torture and agony to the heroic mothers of the race. The woman who suffers torture during pregnancy and at childbirth has usually, by some indiscretion, injured the organs which make her a woman. Irregularities leads to ovarian pains, falling of the womb and leucorrhoea, and the period of pregnancy is necessarily distressing under these conditions. Wine of Cardui will regulate the menstrual function perfectly and eventually make the generative organs strong and healthy. Pregnancy and childbirth have no terrors for the woman who takes this pure Wine. A strong healthy womb will bring its precious burden to maturity with little or no pain. A healthy woman need not fear childbirth. Wine of Cardui completely cures all these troubles familiarly known as "female diseases" and equips the sensitive generative organs for pregnancy and childbirth. It will save any mother much pain and suffering. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles.
