A desperate fight between highwaymen and passengers on a freight train is reported to have taken place at Marion, a little station 21 miles east of North Yakima. The men fought for their lives and money on a loaded coal car, using coal as weapons.

The first copies of the general session laws of 1901 were received by officials in Pendleton today from State Printer W. H. Leeds. Two changes of interest are noted in regard to county court affairs. The county court under the new law will convene on the first Wednesday of January and each alternate month thereafter. Under the old law, the county court convened on the first Wednesday after the first Monday of January and each alternate month thereafter. The county judge will hold a session of probate court on the first Monday of January and each month thereafter. The county commissioners were also members of the probate court under the old law.

PROBLEMS HERE FOR A DAY.

J. M. Church of La Grande, has been in Pendleton for the past few days on business, making his headquarters at the Hotel Pendleton, and will leave on this evening's train for home. He says that times are prosperous at La Grande and throughout Union county. Many emigrants are coming in buying land. The owners of large tracts of farming lands are cutting their farms into smaller tracts, selling some of their lands and farming the rest of it more thoroughly. Stock interests are looking well, the winter having been all that could have been wished, as far as weather was concerned. Increased interest is being taken in the cultivation of sugar beets for use at the La Grande beet sugar factory. Last season about 2000 acres in the vicinity of La Grande was devoted to raising sugar beets, this year the acreage will be increased to nearly 3000 acres. The farmers are learning rapidly. They are not planting such large tracts. They are cultivating the smaller tracts more thoroughly. More farmers are engaging in the business, many of those coming from the outside are familiar with the raising of sugar beets, and will not bite off more than they can chew—in other words will not plant more than they can attend to and cultivate properly. The factory consumed about 11,000 tons of sugar beets last year, an average of five and one-half tons to the acre at a rough estimate. The beets were worth from $4 to $5 per ton at the factory. Mr. Church has added something that will certainly interest the farmers of Umatilla county. Pointing toward the foothills southeast of Pendleton he said: "Right over there is good land for raising sugar beets as there is anywhere. That land is on the reservation, and Mr. Church said is true. Experiments made last year and other seasons by farmers south of Athens cultivating a few acres were highly satisfactory."

R. B. Wilson, representing the Grande Ronde Lumber Co., was in town today and went home to Perry on the 9:15 train this evening. He has just returned from Tacoma where on Friday he attended the meeting of the Pacific Coast Lumberman's Association. The lumbermen met to come to a better understanding as to grades of lumber, and also advanced the wholesale price of lumber $1 per thousand. The association is strong and represents very heavy lumber interests.

Sam J. Cameron, the North Yakima sheepherder and breeder, has been in town looking out for some sheep to buy this spring. Mr. Cameron says many Yakima sheepmen nowadays handle their bands to lamb in February, keeping the ewes in protected sheds and feeding alfalfa, grain and carrots. By this method, the lambs, coming early, mature earlier. The keeping of the sheep in the pens protects them from the coyotes and from exposure to severe weather. One Yakima sheepman, Dan Goodman, brother of W. S. Goodman who live in the East End of this county, this spring had 2250 lambs from one band of 1800 ewes. He kept the ewes in sheds according to Mr. Cameron's statement. In a few years, said he, 50 per cent of the lambing will be done in this manner. Alfalfa hay costs $1.50 a ton, carrots $1 a ton and chopped barley from $10 to $12 a ton.

THE WATER COMMISSION

The First Meeting of the Full Board Will Be Held Tonight.

Chairman W. H. Jones has issued a call for a meeting of the water commission to be held at the council rooms at 7 o'clock this evening. This will be the first meeting at which all the members will be present. A few details will be arranged, such as deciding the time, place and frequency of the meetings of the commission. The meeting that will be of the greatest importance will be that of Wednesday evening, when the council and commission will meet together, and when the waterworks plant and levee, and every thing connected therewith will be turned over by the representatives of the city to the commission. It is presumed that this meeting will be of such importance as to call forth a great attendance of spectators, those interested in municipal affairs.
