HE WHO DEPARTS FROM PARTY LINES.

There is something in the assertion that the democrat who voted for John H. Mitchell in the legislature will probably suffer political persecution and perhaps never again see the inside of the Salem capitol, excepting as a spectator. The man who steps aside from the path of party alignment must needs bear words of censure for his act, however he may have performed an act of patriotism or that which makes for the people's good. He must hear political enemies denigrate him a party traitor, and those political enemies will not fall to dig up the past and publish it to the world as a damning record against him.

This is deplorable, for often a patriot must refuse to stand by his party's acts, and must administer a rebuke to those with whom he has kept political company. Frequently, too, as in the case of Mr. Mitchell's candidacy, the party man must realize that to hold to an empty party name and organ nation, would be to fail to do his duty as a representative of the people. Undoubtedly, it was right for the eleven democrats to vote for Mr. Mitchell, else no senator would have been elected. It was wise to choose him. It was best for Oregon. Furthermore, he was eminently fitted for the office.

In view of these facts, it is to be regretted that almost certain political damnation awaits the democrat who voted for a republican for senator. It were better if men held less tenaciously to the "yellow dog doctrine," which, being interpreted, means "I will vote for any candidate who has my party's endorsement." An increase of independent voters would make for better political conditions. The act of those eleven democrats tends to strengthen the independent movement.

SPIRIT OF THE MASTER.

Recurrence of the Easterlike occasions consideration of the Christian church, its status and its attitude towards the mission appointed by its founder. In the minds of many people, who, by the way, are strong in their loyalty to the church, there is not a satisfactory trend. The great masses in this country are not sympathetic with the church. Skepticism, open criticism, proneness to disregard the institution, these mark the current expressions of opinion. Apparently, the common people are not inclined to subscribe to the teachings of the church as they should be.

Coincident with this fact, another is to be cited. Today, the character of Jesus Christ is universally conceded to have been something apart from that of any other person who ever lived on earth. No intelligent man any longer questions the existence of Christ, or that he was a man such as has never been seen and that he lived a life perfect in its works, beautiful in its unselfishness, an example for every one who came after.

There is a discrepancy between the two conditions, the drift away from the church and the deep reverence for the man who founded it.

Adverse criticism of the modern church tendencies arises not from antagonism, but from a desire for the church to realize its great possibilities. But, one who observes events and conditions past and present and who is solicitous for the future is impelled to the conclusion that the church needs more of the spirit of its founder, who thought more of the common man than of the so-called higher classes. He went after the lowly, the poor, the sinful, the depraved, and even the vilest outcast found favor in his eyes when penitent of his sin.

century church cares more for the very rich member and the person of "high social standing" than for "the man of low degree." One can scarcely resist such a conclusion, when reasoning from premises which involve facts that are known to all.

The Roman church, obnoxious to Protestant, is the greatest organization on earth today, greater than billion-dollar steel trusts, gigantic railway combinations, more potent than would be a dozen Standard Oil companies. And the characteristics of the Church of Rome, its solicitude for the common man, its works of mercy in hospital and afflicted community, its never failing loyalty to the person of whatever station in life who has entered its communion. And this explains why the British church loses none of its power, but waxes great and constantly greater.

Christ never "patronized" the poor. He knew that sin was no worse when found among the masses than among those who composed the aristocracy of the golden times. And when this spirit pervades the modern church, when all men are absolutely equal before the altar, when the people of ordinary education, of meagre means, and who least not a lineage that runs back into the semi-savage ages of the past, are made to feel as much at home in the house of worship as the person who possesses all these fine things, then will the Easterlike mean more, and there will be no complaint that the masses are drifting away from the church.

GENERAL HARRISON AT HOME.

Among my library treasures are several personal letters and one characteristic telegram signed "Benjamin Harrison." Upon the Sunday following the assassination of Mayor Harrison of Chicago in 1891, I first met General Harrison at home in that tall brick house on Delaware street in Indianapolis. It was in October, and the autumn leaves and gray sky outside made the reception room seem dark and gloomy. On an easel between the folding doors was a picture of the first Mrs. Harrison, who had died during the year, and the portrait was draped with a tiny bit of an American flag. A peacock with gorgeous feathers stood on a pedestal nearby, as if a sentinel on duty.

A short, stout man entered, and when he took my hand there was a warmth and cordiality which, judging from newspaper reports, I had not expected. He was a handsome man, and his great, gray eyes seemed to hunger for sympathy. As he sat down his large head and whiskers made him seem taller than when standing. His peculiar voice, but well-phrased sentences were impressive. He appeared never to utter a word that was not enlivened with thought. As a thinker, his keen, analytical powers never failed him.

I had scarcely concluded stating my mission as briefly as possible, before he had grasped the entire situation, and gave me an affirmative answer with a deliberate nod of his head. The floor of the room was covered with fire, and arising he reflectively dug his heels in the rug, and tapped his toes against the corner, as conversationists usually do for a last talk on the street corner. Simple, direct and yet keen, the depth of General Harrison's real nature was little understood, but his memory as an example of clean-cut, upright manhood and rugged intellectuality, is an inspiration to American youth, and will have a high place in our nation's history.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in "The National Magazine" for April.

THE DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITY.

The elections are democratic. Ingeniously as the republicans try to minimize the force of the exhibit and talk about offshoots in isolated cases, the fact stands out that the country is a good deal more democratic and less republican than it was five months ago. The testimony is unmistakable and the causes are not far to seek.

A NEWSPAPERMAN TELLS THE TRUTH

"This week we begin publishing the advertising of the new coffee substitute called Figurine Cereal." "We are using this article in our own home and find it the finest substitute for coffee we have ever tried. Just invest 25 cents in a package and try it. It makes a rich beautiful drink."

Editor Mountain Echo, Boulder Creek, Calif.

The above appeared as a news item in the Mountain Echo and was unobscured. The editor was so well pleased with Figurine that he wanted all his fellow townpeople to try it.

As Figurine is the most nutritious and nourishing of any of the cereal coffees it is but natural that the general public should welcome the new breakfast beverage.

All grocers sell it.

Chicago and St. Louis were achieved in face of the opposition of Bryan and his leading lieutenants. The Comptroller was elected in its opposition to the regular democratic candidate for mayor of St. Louis, and Altgeld even left Chicago to go to St. Louis and take the stump for the same purpose. Yet in spite of this opposition, and that in Harrison in Chicago, democratic mayors are elected in each city.

In Ohio, Cleveland, Columbus and Toledo not only elected democratic mayors, but showed democratic gains. Michigan goes republican by 40,000, whereas in 1900 it went republican by 104,000. Democratic mayors are elected also in East St. Louis, Kansas City, Kan., Topeka, Racine and La Crosse, in Wisconsin.

What is the meaning of this reaction? Well, it simply means that the motives that have held men to the republican party are failing. One by one they have served their time and go on the shelf. Bloody shirt, high tariff, gold standard, expansion—are all in this recession to the political garbage can in advance of others, but all on the march.

There has never been a day since 1872 when the republican party could carry the country on its war record. There has never been a day since 1888 when it could carry the country on the issue of so-called protection to American industry. The money question was decisively settled in 1896, partially repudiated in 1900, but all the efforts of the democrats to fan its embers with shrieks for silver, and all the plans of the republicans to heap on fuel by postponing real currency reform so as to keep the issue open for service are failing. Buses can't make more issues, and they can't keep the old ones from going. Events make issues, and events are bringing on new questions every time a trust is formed and every time a band of wealthy corporation printers bear down on the treasury with demands for subsidies.—Oregonian.

EGZEMA'S ITOCH IS TORTURE.

Eczema is caused by an acid humor in the blood coming in contact with the skin and producing great redness and inflammation; little pustular eruptions form and discharge a thin, sticky fluid, which dries and scales off; sometimes the skin is hard, dry and fissured. Eczema in any form is a tormenting, stubborn disease, and the itching and burning at times are almost unbearable; the acid burning humor seems to ooze out and set the skin on fire. Salves, washes nor other external applications do any real good, for as long as the poison remains in the blood it will keep the skin irritated.

BAD FORM OF TETTER.

"For three years I had a terrible itching and burning on my hands which caused them to swell to twice their natural size. Part of the time the disease was in the form of running sores very painful and causing me much discomfort. Your doctors said the Tetter had progressed too far to be cured and they told me to resign myself to a life of suffering. I took only three boxes of S. S. S. and was completely cured. This was fifteen years ago and I have never since seen any sign of my old trouble."—Mrs. L. B. JACKSON, 1414 McGee St., Kansas City, Mo.

S. S. S. neutralizes this acid poison, cools the blood and restores it to a healthy, natural state, and the rough, unhealthy skin becomes soft, smooth and clear.

Seek Relief!

The great proportion of women who suffer never make a serious effort to benefit themselves. The most of them go on paying no attention to their little menstrual disorders, believing they will eventually wear off. They grow worse and worse every day. At the period of menstruation a woman is peculiarly susceptible to cold and other external influences and it is also the most favorable time for the development of hidden disease germs which may be lurking in the system. Any physician knows that disordered menstruation, failing of the womb and leucorrhoea are blighting lives in almost every home. No woman should neglect herself a moment after she sees indications of female disease. Almost instant relief can be secured by the use of

WINE OF CARDUI

It will relieve you right in your own home. Will you accept the testimony of Mrs. Beigler and thousands of other women and really seek relief today? All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

106 Chicago Street, Fort Wayne, Ind., March 27, 1900.

Your Wine of Cardui has done a world of good for me. I have used five bottles of the Wine and one package of Thelford's Black-Drawn. And since I have started to use it I will not be without it in the house. It helped my sister in Toledo, who did not menstruate as she ought. She was sixteen years of age and nothing else helped her. I was in a very bad state myself before I used your medicine, but I found relief in three days. And now I feel like a new woman and do all my housework and washing, which I could not do before. I took Wine of Cardui. I would be very glad to write any poor woman and tell her how I suffered before I used Wine of Cardui.
