THE SECOND ANNUAL EVENT OF THE KIND FOR PENDLETON.

Show That Will Surprise the Visitors and Interest the Home

The second annual horse show and parade for the Inland Empire will be held at Pendleton on Saturday, May 4. The horse parade in Pendleton in the spring of 1900 was an even which attracted more attention to the thoroughbred and standard bred ani-mals and to the natural conditions of this region for raising blood stock than could have been obtained by hundreds of dollars' worth of advertise-

It was more than an advertisement It left a sense of satisfaction with the horse-raisers that they could have gained in no other way. It is only by concerted effort of the owners and breeders of horses that a horse show can be made a success. If the animals are not put in shape and entered for competition, it would not be a representative fair.

It gives satisfaction to note that horsemen generally are joining and giving Frank Frazier assurance that hey will assist him in making the Pendleton horse show the event of the season. Mr. Frazier has taken the initiative and desires the co-operation of every horseman in this entire coun-

Other Counties to Be Represented. Walla Walla and other counties of Washington will be represented, as well as several counties in this state, for it is not strictly an Oregon proposi-tion. No one is barred and all are cordially invited to have their animals on exhibition and make it a big suc In order to accomplish this it will be necessary to have all entries made by the evening of Thursday, April 25. The object of having the entries close that length of time before the parade is that all animals may be classified and programs published so that those witnessing the parade will be able to tell at a glance what animal or team is passing before them. Each animal will be tagged, and the num-ber in large figures will correspond with the number of the entry on the program card.

Send all entries to Frank Frazier, Pendleton, Oregon, by Thursday, April 25, and use a form something like the following, which gives the desired information
