The crime was committed at Ukiah, and it is claimed Ames stole a pair of shoes and a revolver from a house. The constable and his prisoner came in on the stage from Ukiah. PIONEERS OF THE PACIFIC Twenty-Two New Members Initiated Wednesday Evening. The increase to the membership of William Martin encampment, No. 1, Pioneers of the Pacific, continues in a phenomenal degree. At the regular meeting on Wednesday evening of this week 25 new members were initiated. As 64 were initiated on Wednesday evening, April 10, and 44 on Wednesday evening, April 17, it makes an increase of 135 in three weeks. If there is an encampment, lodge or secret society of any kind in the world that can beat the record of William Martin encampment, No. 1, now is the time to produce the record. The contest between the sides chosen by Captains B. E. Kennedy and M. Monahan continues with good-natured rivalry. The contest will close with the initiations at the meeting on Wednesday evening, May 1, after which the losing side will give a banquet to the winners and to all the new members. That will occur about May 8, and will probably include a dance in LaJolla hall, adjoining the lodge room. DEATH OF JAMES ASH. Died on Sunday, April 21, of Paralysis, at Albany. Recorder John E. Beam returned this morning from Albany, whither he had gone on account of the death of James Ash, which occurred on Sunday evening, April 22, of paralysis. The deceased came from Ireland to the Willamette valley a quarter of a century ago, and after residing at Brownsville, where he was an operative in the woolen mills, removed to Albany 19 years ago. The funeral was held from the Catholic church on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock, when requiem mass was celebrated. Mr. Ash leaves a wife and two daughters. One of the daughters is unmarried and lives at Albany, the other being the wife of Recorder Beam. James Ash of this city is a son of the deceased. He and Mrs. Beam remained in Albany and will be in Pendleton for a week or so. Is This Plain Enough. Melvin, of the Bureau of Animal Industry, a branch of the department of agriculture most important to this section, has come to Pendleton, been taken to the reservation, made careful examination of the many herds and has taken specimens of the parasites that constitute the disease. Dr. Melvin, having driven to the reserve and returned to Pendleton, was asked what was his opinion of the disease. He said: "It is mange in a bad form. I have specimens that I shall take to Washington and submit with my report to the bureau. I have seen enough to convince me that there is need for action." Hope for Action. Pendleton people hope that now action will be taken. Dr. Melvin came here at the solicitation of Col. R. C. Judson, industrial agent of the O. R. & N. Co., who informed him of the state of things on the reservation. Dr. E. N. Hutchinson, also of the bureau, Dr. Lantz, stationed in Pendleton by the bureau, Thomas Thompson, deputy state veterinarian, Col. Judson and Lee Moorhouse constituted the party. They visited several localities and had various animals under examination. Glasses were used and care was exercised to make complete diagnosis. Mr. Moorhouse took a number of photographs of the many herds and will send them to Washington to accompany Dr. Melvin's report to the bureau. Dr. Melvin learned of the presence of mange on the reserve here only when told by Col. Judson and is anxious that the disease be eradicated. Dr. Melvin went east to Salt Lake this morning. Met Business Men. In the evening Dr. Melvin, Dr. Hutchinson, Col. Judson and the others were entertained at the club by the Commercial association, meeting a number of business men. While here, he made inquiry as to the resources of the county with special reference to the horse industry, and was surprised when learning the facts. It is believed that his visit here will result in great good, and the progress of the disease and country highly appreciate his coming. CAREER OF AN ALASKAN How Dr. Pelton Came to His Death—An Alaskan Man. Seattle, April 25.—The circumstances surrounding the death of Dr. Pelton in the Nome country, who was frozen in the trail near Solomon on January 21, are pathetic. "The Nome Digger" says: "He came to Alaska in 1898, with a party bound for Kotzebue sound. Pelton prospected in that bleak and barren country, but found nothing to reward him for his pains. Later he came to Nome and located claims in different parts of the country, always without striking anything that proved to be rich. A year ago he struck a claim near Solomon, and recently he went to do some prospecting there and hold his property against New Year jumper. "The results of his work were so encouraging that Dr. Pelton felt justified in believing that at last he had found a fortune. He spoke enthusiastically to several acquaintances of his claim, and rejoiced in the fact that after many disappointments he had succeeded in striking it rich. Full of bright hopes for the future, he was on his way from the claim when the blizzard of the 21st overtook him. In this terrible wind and swirling, blinding snow, the young doctor, wandering from the trail, lost his way and after traveling till his strength was exhausted lay down and died alone, without a friendly hand to succor him. "Dr. Pelton's people reside in Oakland, Calif., from which place he came to Alaska. He was 32 years old. His brother, Freeman Pelton, is C. D. Lane's foreman at White Mountain. Both "Doc" Pelton and "Free" Pelton are well known names to all last winter's residents of Nome, and the young doctor's untimely end has aroused a feeling of deep regret. "The first news of the catastrophe was conveyed in the following letter, received on Saturday, by S. A. Pepper: "Spruce Creek, January 23, 1901. "E. A. Pepper, Sir: Dr. Pelton was killed in the storm night before last. Will you please send word to his brother at White Mountain. A party just came in reported as finding body on the trail about two miles from here, between here and Solomon. I will try and bring the body to Nome. Will you try and notify Rockwell that Crow and I are all right. Respectfully, "C. E. PATCH." O. E. S. RECEPTION TONIGHT Mrs. Emma C. Ennis is Guest of Honor at the Vert. Home. Mrs. Emma C. Ennis, of Snohomish, Wash., grand worthy matron of the Order of Eastern Star of the state of Washington, will arrive in Pendleton at 5 o'clock this evening on the train from Spokane, and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Vert this evening from 8 to 10 o'clock. This reception will be an order of the Eastern Star affair, and members of that society are cordially invited to attend. Mrs. Ennis will leave on the train 10:40 tonight for Portland. Mrs. Jessie S. Vert, being grand worthy matron of the Order of the Eastern Star of the state of Oregon, will endeavor to make Mrs. Ennis' visit to Pendleton as pleasant as possible. PENDLETON VERSUS ATHENA An Exhibition Game Will Be Played Sunday at Athens. Manager M. A. Eater announced this morning that he will take his team to Athens next Sunday and play a practice game with the club there. Doc Osborn, manager of the Athens team, sent down the invitation by telephone. It will be strictly a practice or exhibition game and will not be considered in the averages of the individual players or counted in the records of either club for the season. Manager Eater expressly stated that his team was not yet ready to commence the season, and the game will be only preliminary. The Pendleton team has not been selected and the new suite have not arrived, so too much must not be expected. Batter Hit by Pitched Ball. Section 2 of rule 48, in 1900, provided that "the base-runner shall be entitled, without being put out, to take the base if the umpire awards a succeeding batsman a base on four balls or for being hit with a pitched ball," etc. At the meeting of the directors of the National League directors held in New York city last February, that portion of the rule referring to being hit with a pitched ball was rescinded. That left it in such shape that the only penalty imposed upon a pitcher for hitting a batter with a pitched ball was to call it an unfair ball. It comes upon good authority that the directors of the National League took a vote upon the matter by telegraph on Tuesday, with the result that they put the rule as it was in 1900, and that therefore a batsman struck with a pitched ball will be entitled to take first base. This last action will be received with favor by all except pitchers. A Professional in Town. Charley Hendrix, who played a couple of games with the Multnomahs last season, and then with the Kansas City team of the Western League, is in Pendleton. He was in Portland until a short time ago, when he received a telegram and advance ticket money to come to Denver. He did so, but upon arrival there could not find a contract as they did not offer him enough. He may play with the Portland league team this season. AN ATHENA PIONEER DEAD Samuel Doble Passes Away at a Camp Above Weston. Athena, April 25.—Word was received in this city today that Samuel Doble had passed away at the wood camp of H. Hesse above Weston, where he was employed. He is an old pioneer of this section, having resided from his home in England in Weston some 25 years ago. Mr. Doble engaged in the furniture business in Weston 20 years ago, but soon tired of it, and has since then been engaged in many saw-mill enterprises. He was at the time of his death the owner of a sawmill on Pine creek. He was well and favorably known in this city, where he was in business ten years ago. It cannot be learned if he has any relatives living, as Mr. Doble was of a taciturn disposition and made confidants of but few. His most intimate friends placed his age at 60 years. The arrangements for his interment have not yet been completed, but it will probably be at the Weston cemetery tomorrow morning. W. J. Wilkinson, on Tuesday purchased 17,000 bushels of wheat from Weston parties for the Pacific Coast Elevator company. The price paid was 45 cents. As K. E. Stewart was driving into town yesterday, his team became frightened and ran away. The wagon was loaded with full cases of eggs, which were badly damaged, being scattered along the roadside. No other damage was done. PERSONAL MENTION. George Buzan, county assessor, returned Wednesday night from a trip to La Grande. Sam P. Purdy, of Athena, came down to Pendleton on Wednesday and returned home today. Miss Edna Carlson, of Sumpter, formerly of Pendleton, is a guest of Miss Bertha Alexander. Judge W. R. Ellis left this morning for his home at Heupner. He expects to return to Pendleton next week. Sylvester White, captain of Marcus Whitman encampment, No. 21, Pioneers of the Pacific, came down from Milton Wednesday afternoon and returned this morning. He visited with William Martin encampment last night. Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford and daughter, Miss Maude Crawford, left on the Chicago-Portland special Wednesday evening for the east. They will visit at Swicksburg, Pa., attend the general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Philadelphia for ten days commencing June 16 and afterwards go to the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo. They will return in about three months. SOME WALLA WALLA SALES. Wheat Changes Hands at Prevailing Good Prices. The magnitude of sales of wheat in Walla Walla during the past four weeks has not been equalled, at this time of the season for a number of years, says the Statesman. "During the month 750,000 or more bushels of wheat, dealers estimate, has changed hands, and the price that amount will have been greatly increased. One dealer alone has purchased 450,000 bushels of wheat tributary to Walla Walla. Of the entire amount that has been purchased much remains to be shipped to tide-water, the delay of transportation being caused by the scarcity of cars at this time. Many of the available cars have been pressed into service in the East by reason of the increased amount of traffic on transcontinental roads. Not in many years have the warehouses of the country been so thoroughly relieved of wheat as they are now. It is conservatively estimated that after all the wheat that has already been purchased is shipped to tide-water, the holdover of last year's crop and the '99 crop will not exceed 15 per cent. Much of the wheat sold the past month was of the '99 crop. Quotations today were 50 cents for bluestem and 46 for club. Reception to New Pastor. A reception will be tendered to Rev. Robert J. Diven and family in the parlors of the Presbyterian church on Friday evening, April 26. All the friends of the congregation are invited. Rev. Diven has recently arrived in Pendleton from New-Hamburg-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., and has accepted the pastorate of the Presbyterian church, and the reception is held for the personal greeting of him and family a cordial reception to his new home and position. An Ordinance to Be Prepared With Conditions Demanded by the Government. An informal meeting of the city council was held Wednesday evening, Mayor Vincent and all the councilmen except C. E. Roosevelt and T. B. Wells being present. A. F. Smithers, representing the postoffice department, who has been in Pendleton for several days, met with the council and gave his views as to what would be necessary for the council to do in order to have the free postal delivery system for Pendleton. H. F. Johnson was instructed to prepare an ordinance in accordance with the views expressed by Mr. Smithers, and the ordinance will be passed and become the law of the city as soon as practicable. It will embody two features as heretofore referred to in the East Oregonian. First, the business houses and residences will have to be properly numbered; second, the names of the streets will have to be plainly and distinctly marked at the intersections. Two or Three Months. It is presumed that the free postal delivery system will be in operation in about two or three months. Probably two carriers will be put on at first, but as the city is entitled to three, the third one may be added shortly thereafter. The selection of carriers, the placing of the mail boxes, and many other details, will necessarily consume time, but Pendleton will soon be able to swell up a little over adding one more metropolitan feature to its town life. "Nerve Waste." One of the most helpful books on nerve weakness ever issued is that entitled "Nerve Waste," by Dr. Sawyer of San Francisco, now in its fifth thousand. This work of an experienced and reputable physician is in agreeable contrast to the vast sum of false teaching which prevails on this interesting subject. It abounds in carefully considered and practical advice, and has the two great merits of wisdom and sincerity. It is endorsed by both the religious and secular press. The Chicago Advance says: "A perusal of the book and the application of its principles will put health, hope and heart into thousands of lives that are now suffering through nervous impairment." The book is $1, by mail, postpaid. One of the most interesting chapters—chapter xx, on nerves and nerve tonics—has been printed separately as a sample chapter, and will be sent to any address for stamp by the publishers, the Pacific Pub. Co., Box 2658, San Francisco. Worse Than War. Hundreds are killed in war, but hundreds of thousands are killed by consumption.
