HATCHERY TALKED OF

It is possible that a fish hatchery for propagation of salmon will be established near Pendleton in the near future. E. U. Greenman and J. C. Bradley of the Clackamas fishery near Pendleton, for the purpose of making a careful inspection of the hatchery, accompanied by the state game warden, Mr. D. B. Watson, deputy game warden, will act as escort to the above mentioned gentlemen for several days. On Thursday, May 10, they will start for the spring near the mouth of the McKay creek, three miles from Pendleton. It is there that the hatchery will be established, where pure running water is the thing absolutely required. The water is familiar with the subject of the hatchery and is just what is needed. The hatchery will be stocked with fish from the Clackamas river above and to the mouth of the McKay creek. If the hatchery should be established, all the fish raised there in the hatchery will be stocked with fish from those points where danger is to be feared. Young fish are taken from drainage, below the hatchery, for instance. Young fish are taken from drainage, below the hatchery, for instance. WOOL SELLS IN PENDLERON

KEYS DISPOSE OF 300,000 POUNDS TO JUDD.

Price Ranges From 7 to 10 1-2. Wheat is OK a Cent From Last Week.

Wool is coming more rapidly as the shearing season advances. Several large lots have been brought to Pendleton during the present week, some of which has been bought by the woolen mills company, some through W. J. Farish and others, and much stored in local warehouses awaiting customers. More than 300,000 pounds of wool from the flocks of Antone and Joe Vey were secured by H. C. Judd & Root, the former having about 100,000 pounds, the latter 200,000 pounds. The wool filed 300 sacks. The price paid was about 9 cents per pound. The Pendleton wool scouring mill is now running day and night. There is a wide difference in price between the best and poorest wool offered in the Pendleton market. The lowest is not worth quite seven cents and the best will only bring 10 1/2, and it must be away above the average.

Pendleton Wheat.
 Pendleton, May 16.—Wheat is off a cent as compared with a week ago. No. 1 redhead and club delivered at the mill brings 49c. It is worth 48c at outside warehouses. Exporters are offering the latter figure, but neither they nor the millers are buying much, as it don't seem to be here to buy.

Local Produce Market.
 Pendleton dealers are paying the following prices for ranch and farm produce:
 Butter, 25 to 40c per roll.
 Eggs—15c per doz.
 Potatoes—90c per sack.
 Turkeys—Alive, 12 1/2c per pound.
 Geese—12c per dozen.
 Ducks—45c per dozen.
 Chickens—$3.50 to $4.50 per dozen.
 New cabbage, shipped in from Portland, sells at 4 cents per pound.
 New potatoes are selling at 5 cents per pound.
 Strawberries—Walla Walla, 25c per box; California, 15c per box.

London Wool Auctions.
 London, May 16.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today numbered 13,487 bales. A quiet tone prevailed, but prices were firm. Good securities and merinos were in active demand. Coarse breeds were irregular and were taken mostly by the home trade.

Boston Wool Market.
 Boston, May 16.—There is practically no change in the condition of the wool market here and there is nothing in the wool outlook to encourage speculation. The prices at which wools are being bought in the West are about the same as the class of wools is selling for in this market. For territory fine, and fine medium scoured and staple, 40 to 42c is quoted, while the strictly staple article sells for 44 to 45c.

Walla Walla, May 16.—On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock occurred at College Place the regular annual commencement exercises of Walla Walla college, there being 14 graduated from the institution. At 5 o'clock p. m. the College Place band gave an open air concert on the college campus. Following this the guests and students were invited to the college chapel where the members of the graduating class were tendered a reception at which a short program of addresses and music was rendered. The regular exercises will follow:

Scriptural reading; prayer; chorus, "Union Anthem"; address by Elder G. W. Reaser; quartet, "Come Where the Lilies Bloom"; presentation of diplomas by the principal of the school; triple quartet, "The Heavens Are Telling"; benediction. The graduating class is composed of the following:

Normal course—Myra E. Camp, Maggie E. Geisler, Cora Annette Lick, Commercial course—Sophie J. Materand, Everett Sauter, Guy F. Wolfkill, Arty F. Haines, Nurses—Kate Leonora Hopkins, Eleanor Klennerson, Martha E. Carleton, Charles Gilbert, Carman, Henry W. Larsen, Ministerial course—William Steele. Sacred musical course—Ethel A. Fapp.

McKay Creek Sheep.
 David Horne, of Upper McKay creek, was in town on Wednesday. He says the Perard place in that locality has been bought by Dan Bowman for a stock ranch. Mr. Bowman formerly conducted a blacksmith shop in Pendleton.

He speaks also of one band of yearling ewes owned by James R. McDonald, 650 in number, shearing 5650 pounds, or a fraction over eight pounds each.

Mr. Horne reports the range feed to be excellent and the livestock to be in the best condition.

Nat Goodwin's Successor.
 Harry Corson Clarke, the comedian who is declared by many to be the natural successor of Nat Goodwin, and whose popularity is increasing year by year as he is seen in new creations, has a new face this season which he declares gives him the best opportunity he has ever had. It is called "What Did Tommie Do?" and it concerns the doings of a frisky old boy with a stouthearted son, whom the gallantries of the father leads into all sorts of conditions and embarrassments and complications. It is full of action, clean and wholesome and is a shout from the start to the finish. He comes to Pendleton May 21.

LA GRANDE'S LECTURE PLAN.

The Association Was Formed for Active Work.

Referring again to the plan for a lecture series, the La Grande Chronicle says:

"A meeting of those interested in forming an association which would be able to provide a series of lectures in the La Grande opera house at a nominal cost during the coming fall and winter, met last night in the reading room of the Commercial club. Mr. Turner Oliver was made chairman of the meeting and an informal discussion was entered upon as to ways and means, etc. Mr. A. C. Miller, who has had extended experience in this line and who is taking an active interest in the organization, was able to give the meeting very valuable points as to the conduct of such an association. He pointed out that cooperation with other towns was a matter of considerable importance, though not absolutely essential. If the association were to secure a sufficient number of tickets were sold in each it would be an easy matter to get five of the greatest lecturers now on the American platform at a cost of $2.50 per season ticket.

"Plans of presenting the advantages of the association to the people of the county and of securing subscribers to insure its success were also discussed. It was decided by motion that the best way of attaining a definite end was to elect a set of directors who would constitute the association until memberships are sold. The committee will be organizing the coming season, consist of those who purchase season tickets, a certificate of membership being issued with each ticket. Those members will, at the end of the season, if the association is to be perpetuated, elect a new set of directors for the ensuing season. In view of the large amount of work to be done it was thought best to have nine directors, who could elect their committees and officers for special phases of the work. The directors elected are: A. C. Miller, Turner Oliver, H. G. Starkweather, Dr. N. Mollitor, Henry Hanson, Rev. W. L. VanNoy, Wm. Grant, Geo. H. Carrey and W. D. Dadd."
