PENDLETON WON THE CUP

ANNUAL FIELD CONTESTS HELD ON MONDAY.

Five Hundred People Witness Competition Between This Place, Union, Baker City and Weston.

Five hundred persons were present at the Simpson racetrack a mile east of Pendleton on Monday, May 27, to witness the field day sports incident to the second annual inter-high school meet. The title of inter-high school does not exactly apply, for the team of the Eastern Oregon state normal school competed, in addition to the high schools of Baker City, Union and Weston. The silver cup emblematic of the championship offered by the Tribune was won by Pendleton with 47 points; Weston was second with 43; Baker City third with 38; Union fourth with 7. In addition to the championship the winners of the different events were presented with individual medals, gold ones for first prizes, silver ones for second.

The Expected Delay.

People who attend field day sports have become so accustomed to delay in the commencement of the program that they expect it, and would have their nervous systems rudely shocked if things happened otherwise. There was no shock experienced, for the expected happened, the unavoidable delay occurred and the sports started at about 2:30 instead of 2 o'clock.

Once under way, the 15 events on the card were called up and disposed of without delay. The fact that the program was not finished until 7 o'clock in the evening instead of at 5 o'clock was because it was too long to be handled within the advertised time. Experience would seem to indicate that the races only should be held in the afternoon, and that the field events, such as running high jump, hammer throw, shot put, running broad jump and pole vault, should be held in the morning, for they are long-drawn-out and it becomes tiresome to witness them.

Comments for the Referee.

"Dorsey W. Hill, of Walla Walla, officiated as referee, and did much to make the meeting a success. He knows his business thoroughly. He rushed things whenever possible. The managers for the respective teams did their parts also, and the athletes came out quickly when called to the scratch. H. W. Monical, manager of the Eastern Oregon state normal school team, was unable to be present all the time, but looked on for a few minutes. Clark Nelson officiated in his place. Roy McDaniel, of Baker City; T. Odale, of Union, and Roy Conklin, of Pendleton, were the other three managers."

Pendleton Has Won Twice.

Pendleton has now won the championship cup two successive years. In order to retain the cup permanently, it is necessary for a team to win it three times in a row, consequently the meeting next year will be of added interest.

LOOKING FOR GOLD BRICKERS.

Walla Walla's Chief of Police Up Against the Real Thing—Sharp.

Good natured Jake Kauffman, chief of Walla Walla's police force, and generous to a fault, thinks he has found a "rare avie" in the line of ought-to-be jail birds. Almost any of the chief's many friends will back him in his position taken in the following story of a recent affair as told by the Union:

James Dabney, a former convict, is locked up in the city jail, the result of an alleged bunco game. Chief Kauffman declares he will not rest until he has landed Dabney upon "the hill" for another term.

The little slip of paper given out by a Chinese laundryman or one he was supposed to have given out is at the bottom of this last episode of Dabney. Whenever a man loses his ticket for his clothes in a Chinese laundry he calls upon the police to accompany him there and then after pointing out his goods they are turned over to him, but the police have to sign the book with the owner of the clothes. This is for the protection of the "Washerman."

About five weeks ago Dabney came to the chief and told him he had lost his laundry ticket and asked that the clothes be turned over to him. He said he had been to the laundry and picked out his bundle.

The chief fell into the trap. He went down, and sure enough there was the bundle, and following out the usual process Dabney got the clothes. Some of them were of finer material than he usually wears, but the chief concluded it would be all right.

Yesterday, George McBride, of Clyde, appeared at the laundry and presented a ticket which called for the bundle Dabney had secured. Explanations followed and last night Chief Kauffman arrested Dabney on the street. He lacked him up to answer the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. Dabney tries now to square himself by saying the clothes belonged to his brother. But he will remain in jail, and the chief will put up about $7.50 for his experience. "I am looking out for gold brick men now," he declared last night, "but I'll fix that fellow Dabney this time."

ALL MAIDS GIVE ATTENTION.

Walla Walla Man Desires to Raffle Off Himself and Get a Wife.

If the city editor of the Walla Walla Statesman be a truthful man, the maids of the Pacific Northwest have now an opportunity to get a husband and a small fortune. The Statesman man probably found the story in some Eastern paper, and applied it to Walla Walla, although there is only conjecture as a basis for the charge of the Statesman having stolen this thunder.

It goes on to say that a certain modest young man of Walla Walla, experienced in love-making, anxious to have a sweet, lovely, charming, beautiful, cultured, accomplished wife, and a bank account, too, is willing to subordinate the aforementioned style of wife to the bank account, and therefore offers himself as an object to be raffled off, in this manner:

"I propose to have a contest, if I can call it that, open for a certain period—say three months. The tickets are to be numbered and to cost $5 each. There are to be a few necessary restrictions. The women must be between 20 and 30 years of age, they must not be crippled or afflicted with any incurable disease. The contest is only open to white people, but there are no restrictions as to religious belief or nationality. I'm willing to take my chance on looks."

"I have placed the contest in the hands of friends of mine and it is being advertised. If it is properly placed before the public, I believe that from 2000 to 3000 tickets can be sold. There is so little love in marriages that are contracted now that I feel confident at least 2000 young ladies will take chances, for they will not only get a husband but if this contest pans out as it should do, $10,000 also. At the same time, they must sign a contract that, should the union not prove congenial and a suit for divorce follow, she is to waive all claim to alimony."

There hasn't, so far, been any rush by healthy women under 30 years old to take the young man with the string on him attached by this last condition.

R. Martin Leads.

R. Martin is entitled to be called the leader in the grocery trade on account of his long experience in the business. Then as he buys in car lots for cash he gets a trade and cash discounts which give him his goods a little cheaper than other stores. Martin gives this saving in his buying price to his customers. If you want a big bill of groceries get prices at other stores and then Martin can beat their prices.

Baker City woolgrowers complain that the market is dull and that the result is tight money at that place.

RED RIDING HOOD'S RESCUE

JUVENILE OPERETTA BY THE PUBLIC SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The Frazer Opera House Was Filled With an Audience on Monday Evening.

Little Red Riding Hood, remembered by every civilized person as one of the juvenile heroines who adorned the page of story, was duly rescued from the savage wolf who would lure her to her death as she passed through the forest to her grandmother's home, from her own house, with a basket of goodies. Iva Kimbrell was the Little Red Riding Hood, Nellie Kimbrell the mama, Byron Hawks the woodman, Fred Vincent the wolf, Blanche Shull the rose, Della Priest the buttercup, and the remainder of the cast was:

Robins, Archie McFarland, Claud O'Harris, Willard Bond, Clarence Bollerman.

Bluebells, Margaret Lowell, Mary Means, Edna Slater, Bessie Marsh, Phyllis Paks, Pauline Jones, Della Danner, Irene La Dow.

Pianist, Miss Starkweather.

A full chorus of 50 forest children, sang the choruses with volume and spirit.

It was a very charming entertainment, well prepared and finely rendered.

Everyone will remember the tale and how he sat with wonder, listening from his eyes as he heard the experiences of Red Riding Hood related in the days when such things were real and true as gospel truth.

There is the pretty home scene, when the robins call the children to the grove, and mama sends her daughter of the pretty red riding hood to her grandmother's home, bearing a basket of dainties for the grandame.

As she goes, she is greeted by the flowers, the buttercups, bluebells and rose singing to her in loving tones, and she sings to them. Then comes the wolf, and she with him races to the grandame's home, the wolf going by one pathway, Riding Hood by another. The wolf arrives first, and then tries to kill her, but the woodman rescues her and foils the subtle wolf in his murderous designs.

Then the report comes to the children on the home lawn that Riding Hood is lost. The rose gives them hope, and this hope proves to be well founded for Riding Hood and the others return in safety.

During the progress of the opera, Ahlma Hallock, the Boylen sisters, Vesta Dennis and Carrie Shuerman sang the songs that were explanatory of the story.

Still More Counterfeiting.

The secret service has unearthed another band of counterfeiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected by counterfeiters for imitation, notably the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. The Bitters set things right in the stomach, and when the stomach is in good order it makes good blood and plenty of it. In this manner the Bitters get at the seat of strength and vitality, and restore vigor to the weak and debilitated. Beware of counterfeiters when buying.
