THE CABINET THREATENS THE CUBANS

United States Will Maintain an Armed Force IN THE ISLAND UNLESS CONDITIONS Are Accepted Unconditionally and the Platt Amendment is Adopted by Them Without a Murmur.

Washington, May 31.—At the cabinet meeting today it was decided to convey to the Cuban constitutional convention the decision of the administration that acceptance of the Platt amendment by the convention is unsatisfactory. Secretary of War Root, who will send this decision to Cuba, will advise the convention in diplomatic language to try again, and, until the convention complies with provisions of amendment without conditions attached thereto, the president will maintain an armed force of the United States on the island.

A conference with Senators Platt, Connecticut, Fairbanks and Lodge called at the White House to discuss the situation. The president received from the secretary of war during the morning an authentic copy of the text of the constitutional convention's action. They all agreed that the convention, in passing upon questions in relation to intervention and treaties had not lived up to either the spirit or the letter of the Platt amendment.

The cabinet held the same opinions as the senators, and advised the president to convey to the Cubans the information that it is the resolve of the administration to hold the reins over the island until the representatives had complied with the wishes of congress.

Instead of agreeing fully and freely with the provisions in the resolutions of congress, the Cuban delegates went into a long list of explanations and conditions, that obscured the real points at issue, and ended by making out a really different proposition. The Cubans say: "Intervention shall last only long enough to restore normal conditions."

The president and the cabinet believe that if this country ever intervenes, the administration shall be the sole judge of its duration.

The cabinet also devoted considerable time to the discussion of the supreme court decision relating to the Philippines. Later one of the members said: "The Philippines question is still a matter for deepest study and guarded action."

JORDAN'S POSITION GIVEN

He Defines the Policy of the Stanford University.

Stanford University, Calif., May 31.—At the tenth annual commencement of the university the notable feature was the address of President David Starr Jordan. It had an added significance owing to the controversy over the question of "academic freedom" which has raged in the university for the past school year. The subject of President Jordan's address was Leland Stanford's views on "Higher Education." President Jordan said: "Mr. Stanford would leave the university free to grow with the coming ages. He would extend no dead hand from the grave to limit its activities or to control its movements.

"Mr. Stanford, instead, as a vital principle, that the university exists for the benefit of its students, past, present and future. The greatest need of the students is the teacher, Mr. Stanford said.

"Compared with the character of the faculty, every other element in the university is of relatively little importance. The great teachers make a university great. The founders believe that freedom of thought and action would promote morality and religion."

THE STRIKE IN CHICAGO

Machinists Went Out This Morning and More Are Going.

Chicago, May 31.—The Chicago machinists' strike began this morning. Up to noon, only a few shops were affected, but in sixty other shops the strike is inevitable before the day ends. About two thousand machinists will be out and as many molders may quit in sympathy.

THE WEAK SPOT.

If you are sitting in a restaurant where waitresses are in attendance, you will note now and again some young woman put her hand to her back, and straighten herself up, while her lips are tightened as if by pain. It's backache. Yet all day long she must be cheerful, feet lifting, carrying, hurrying.

That weak spot, the back, can be made strong by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the womanly diseases which cause headache, backache, side-ache, nervousness and sleeplessness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Favorite Prescription contains no alcohol, and is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Write for copy to Dr. J. C. Pierce, Littlefield, N.Y. I was racking with pain from the back of my head down to my heels. Had no sleep for weeks at a time, and was unable to sit up for ten minutes at a time. You answered my letter, advised me to use your valuable medicine, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, "Golden Medical Discovery," and Pleasant Pellets, also gave advice about injections, baths and diet. To my surprise, in four months I was a well woman, and have not had the backache since, and now I put in sixteen hours a day of hard work.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE M'LAURIN AND TILLMAN IMBROGLIO

Governor McSweeney Will Not Accept Resignations.

SAYS STATE IS SICK OF POLITICS

Columbia, S. C., May 31.—Gov. McSweeney this afternoon announced that it is his intention to refuse to accept the resignations of Senators Tillman and McLaurin, on the ground that the state is sick of politics.

Senator McLaurin's Address. Charleston, S. C., May 31.—Senator John L. McLaurin issued an address to the people of the state on Thursday. He opened by saying that the recent address to the people by Senator Tillman makes it necessary that he should say something in explanation of his motives and actions, and that, had it not been for Senator Tillman's intrusion on the Gaffney meeting, there would have been no necessity for it. The joint debate was precipitated by him contrary to McLaurin's wishes and of the gentleman who invited him.

DR. W. C. LADOW IS DEAD

PASSED AWAY AT 8:30 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING.

He Was a Pioneer—Once a Literature-Practice Medicine—Was a County Judge.

Dr. W. C. Ladow, more familiarly known as Judge Ladow, died at his home in Pendleton this morning at 8:30 o'clock. The funeral, arrangements for which are not yet complete, will occur on Sunday.

Dr. Ladow had been rapidly failing for the past week or ten days. He had been in very poor health for two years, and at one time, several months ago, was regarded as a very dangerously sick man.

Lived in Pioneer Settlements. Dr. Ladow was 75 years old on February 1, 1901.

Dr. W. C. Ladow was one of the well known citizens of the county. He was born early in the present century, and spent the greater portion of his life among pioneer settlements. As a journalist and physician his name has in times past been a most familiar one in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Washington and Oregon, the natural bent of his mind being to follow up the birth of civilization in savage wilds in its westward progression toward the Pacific. He could tell many an interesting tale of hardships, toils and dangers suffered by the pioneers, as he was one of them, and had the best possible reason for remembering these stories of fact, for he lived through them.

A Magazine Publisher. Dr. Ladow was born in Cayuga county, N. Y., February 6, 1826. He lived in Cayuga and Onondaga counties until 1857, when he went with his parents to Chicago. At the age of 13 he entered a printing office in the West. While yet a boy, being but 17 years old, he engaged with Wm. R. Rommler in the publication of the Western magazine at Chicago, which was the first monthly magazine ever started in the West. It was of a literary nature, and Dr. Ladow was its editor. Afterward he disposed of his interest in the magazine and entered the newspaper field, publishing the Illinois Republican, of McHenry county, which was likewise the first newspaper of that county.

A Volunteer and Physician. Dr. Ladow was publisher and Josiah Dwight editor. During its publication the Mexican war broke out, and the judge volunteered as a recruit in a company organized by Captain White, but did not happen to be ordered into service. Soon afterward he began the study of medicine in the office of Ladow & Campbell, Hudson county, Ohio, in 1849-50 attending the medical lectures at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Davenport, Iowa. He began the practice of medicine in 1857, in Washington county, Wisconsin, practicing in Washington and Winnebago counties until 1859, in which year he crossed the plains. He was but four months coming from St. Joseph to Fort Walla Walla. In the fall of that year he built the first hotel, a frame building, ever erected in Walla Walla, a part of which remained standing until but a few years ago. In the fall of 1860 he returned to Wisconsin, shortly afterward going to Dayton, where he spent two years, and then to Waseca county, Minnesota, where he spent two years in the practice of medicine and general merchandising.

His Family. Here Dr. Ladow was married to Mrs. Hannah M. Isaac, with whom he has happily lived since 1864. He continued in Waseca county until 1868 and crossed the plains again, and came to Umatilla county, Oregon. From that time until 1880 he practiced medicine, between three and four years of which time he was government physician on the Umatilla reservation. In 1880 he was elected county judge, serving acceptably for four years, and from that time on continued his residence in Pendleton. Judge Ladow has two sons, Walter E. Ladow, now railroading in Mexico, and Geo. Irving Ladow, a resident of Pendleton. Politically the judge was a whig in the early days. From the date of that party's disintegration until 1880 he was a democrat, and was elected on that ticket to county judge in the campaign of that year. In 1882 he voted for Harrison on account of his tariff convictions, and voted the republican ticket since that time.
